No Grounds for Rumor.

Editor Journal:—If I mistake not it is pretty generally known throughout Crook County that my father, Jacob Stroud is seeking the nomination for sheriff, on the democratic ticket, at the coming primaries, to be held April 29th of this year.

The rumor is afloat, and being circulated by some of my friends that should he receive the nomination and be elected at the coming election, I, and not he, would be the acting sheriff. In other words that I am very anxious to fill this office myself, but am afraid that I could not be elected, so use his name in order to gain the office.

For the benefit of those who I can not see personally and explain the matter to I wish to say that I consider him qualified, with out my help to fill this office, and should he be fortunate enough to be elected, I shall have absolutely nothing whatever to do with the conducting of the office or its duties, and furthermore that when I do desire to fill any office in this or any other county, within the gift of the people, I shall have the nerve I trust, to ask for it in my own name, and not in the name of my father or of that of any one else.

Respectfully yours,
J. FRANK STROUD.

Patents Will Soon Issue.

Crook county residents, who located a couple of years ago on timber lands in Lake and Klamath counties, are likely soon to receive their patents, 250 of the latter having been received at the Lakeview land office last week. These will be mailed to the various applicants as soon as certain routine work in connection with their distribution has been completed.

These are the patents which were recalled from the Lakeview office by the Washington authorities January 31, 1904, presumably for the purpose of withholding title until the investigation into fraudulent entries had been finished. The interior department has completed its investigation and the result is the return of patents to the Lakeview office. Crook County timber land owners will probably receive their final papers in the course of a few weeks at the outside.

Startling But True.

Crook county has nothing if not a diversity of climatic conditions. A flurry of snow fell in the city Tuesday night and failed in a miserable effort to keep the ground white during Wednesday. Tuesday night at Forest, 14 miles down Crooked river, the weather was too warm for even a frost to put in an appearance, D. S.

Timber Land, Act June 3, 1878.
NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.
United States Land Office,
The Dalles, Oregon, November 23, 1906.
Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1892, Peter N. Vibbert, of Madras, county of Crook, state of Oregon, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. 2796 for the purchase of the SW 1/4 Sec. 30, & SW 1/4 NE 1/4 Section No. 31, in Township No. 12 S., Range No. 16 E., W. M., and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before Don P. Rea, U. S. Commr. at his office in Madras, Oregon on the 27th day of March, 1907.
He names as witnesses: Louis T. Larsen, and Jacob H. Peterson, of Madras, Oregon, Sam Compton and William McMeekin, of Grizzly, Oregon.
Any and all persons claiming adversely the above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 27th day of March, 1907.
