

Whoop'er up for the Fourth. Be patriotic. Come to Prineville and celebrate.

The newly-elect county officials will be sworn into office next Monday.

Prineville is ready to take care of the population of Crook county on the Fourth. Everybody come.

Clean up your premises. Nothing adds so much to the appearance of a place as clean yards and well-kept lawns.

Do not depend entirely upon the efforts of the executive committee to take care of the crowds. Constitute yourself a committee of one to see that everybody has a good time.

One hundred thousand sheep have been shipped from Shaniko since March 1st, and still there are more to follow. Many growers received $2 per fleece and from $2.50 to $3 for surplus yearlings. Who wouldn't like to be a sheepman.

The Madras Pioneer of June 21, comes out with startling headlines and announces "the latest and most startling development in the new court house matter is a report now going the rounds to the effect that a contract for a new court house building was agreed upon by Judge Bell with a Salem builder in January, 1905, and that the recent call for bids was merely a blind for the purpose of awarding the contract according to the agreement made by County Judge Bell at that time." Well, well. What next.

Redmond Pushers.

H. F. Jones and L. L. Welch of Bend, were in Prineville Saturday. These gentlemen expressed a very high appreciation of the good results to follow the visit of the Governor and party to Crook county. The officials would get acquainted with conditions here at first hand and settlers could arrive at a better understanding of just what was expected of them by meeting personally the members of the official board.

Messrs. Jones and Welch are pushers for Redmond. They are working for an experiment station over there and they think with good prospects of success. Correspondence has been carried on for some time with the department at Washington for the conduct of a large experimental farm near Redmond with the result that engineers from the reclamation service are now making a general inspection of the country contiguous to that place. In speaking of the matter Mr. Jones referred to the good work done there last year by Mr. Nelson, who conducted the experiment farm for the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Co. This gentleman is now stationed at Twin Falls, Idaho, and is engaged in the same line of work. In a recent letter to Mr. Jones Mr. Nelson said that land which originally sold at Twin Falls for $25 per acre was now changing hands at $50 an acre, making the value of raw land $75. Mr. Nelson says that conditions in the Deschutes valley are far better than at Idaho Falls, with the additional advantage of cheaper land. Prices here being from one-third to one-fifth lower.

Berry Crop Fairly Good.

Amity, Or., June 19, 1906. To the Editor of the Journal—Dear Sir: I expect you think I have forgotten to write, but have waited only until I got dried out. We got well soaked while crossing the mountains. Camped the first night at the Deschutes river and had a good time fishing. Next night camped at Cash Creek and it rained from there until we reached Amity. The prospect for berries in the mountains is fairly good, especially for blackcap raspberries. We stopped over Sunday at Upper Soda and drank soda water. Much rain has fallen here and fruit is plentiful. The spring crops look good but some of the fall wheat is very poor, due mostly to insects and poor farming. A good many people out this way are raising Loganberries. Vetch and oats are the main hay crop. Horses, we find, are about the same price here as in the Prineville country. Respectfully, ELMER N. GILLAM.

Cloudburst Near Mitchell

United States Mail, Horses and Wagon Lost—Driver Escapes.

A telephone message from Mitchell states that the United States mail, horses and wagon of the Mitchell-Prineville stage line were destroyed by a cloudburst last Monday in the canyon this side of that place. The driver escaped. As the telephone line is down no further particulars are obtainable.

GASOLINE POWER IN CROOK COUNTY

Power by gasoline engines for electric lights and pumping purposes is rapidly becoming a prominent feature in the mechanical life of Crook county. A few years ago the first gasoline engine was put in the county for power purposes by the Fairbanks-Morse company. This was only a two horse power engine, but during the three years since its advent, numerous engines, whose power ranges from two to 15 horse-power, have been installed and are performing the work for which they were planned. A number of other power plants are under contemplation by residents throughout the county at the present time both for irrigation purposes and for furnishing a private lighting system.

Leach & Son of Paulina have completed the installation of their eight horse-power Fairbanks-Morse irrigating plant and are now using it to irrigate about 100 acres of desert land on their ranches. The engine is equipped with a No. 5 centrifugal pump which has a capacity of 700 gallons per minute, sufficient to irrigate 15 acres in 10 hours. The water supply is derived from Beaver creek.

Gilchrist Bros., who own ranches east of the Leach place, have arranged to install a 20 horse-power Fairbanks-Morse pump. The machinery will be put on the ground as soon as government approval is given to certain tracts of land upon which proof has been made. They expect to irrigate about 200 acres, and their pumping plant will have a capacity of 3000 gallons per minute.

N. L. Tooker, representative of the Fairbanks Co., who was in this city recently, has just completed the sale of a 100 light plant to J. W. and M. A. Robinson, of Madras, which will be run by a 6 horse-power engine. The firm will use the engine and equipment to furnish lights for their new store building at Madras, and will probably sell to others.

The cheapness and success with which gasoline engines now in use in the county are being operated is proving a stimulus to the purchase of this form of power. It is stated by the local agents that there will be many plants sold this season, the uses of which will be as diversified as the county's industries.
