

TWO FAIRS IN CROOK CO.

September and October the Dates.

EVERYBODY PUSH. Local Mention

They Will Prove of Great Value in Making Known Our Resources.

Crook county will enjoy the distinction of having two fairs held within its borders this fall—the Redmond fair to be held in September and the Crook county fair to be held in the second week of October. These fairs will furnish just the opportunity needed for exploiting our resources and educating our farmers, and more than this, they will prove a splendid advertisement of our matchless soil and climate. It gives our people a chance to come together and compare methods and note results. Our fairs will prove to be of immense value in the development of Crook county from an educational point of view. The products from our farms will be brought together in competition for prizes and the best we have in livestock will be out after the blue ribbon. The successful exhibitor will be called upon to explain his processes to those less fortunate and hence the work of education will go forward. The net result will be better crops and better stock which spells increased acreage, more people and a rapidly developed country. Thus will be engendered a spirit of emulation and friendly rivalry that will push Crook county to the forefront of Oregon counties. Now let everybody get together and make both fairs a grand success.

Crook County Fair.

The Crook county fair association has decided to hold the county fair on October 10, 11, 12 and 13. The contract has been let for a pavilion 30x60 feet, the mile track is to be put into first-class condition and the grounds generally overhauled and fixed up for the accommodation of campers and exhibitors. A good crop of hay has been taken off the grounds this season and it will be sold cheap to exhibitors and campers. It was the intention of the association to hold the county fair earlier this year but the Redmond dates interfered with their plans and so the second week in October was selected.

A RAILROAD TO PRINEVILLE

May Not Be Such a Far-away Cry as You Think—Officials Here.

Mr. Nelson, president of the Trunk Line railroad that is building up the Deschutes valley, and Mr. Cole, an experienced railroad engineer who is acting in the interest of outside parties, arrived in Prineville Tuesday on business connected with the Trunk Line. Mr. Cole is looking over the ground with a view to ascertain the actual and possible amount of tonnage that could be secured by building a railroad into Prineville. The Journal furnished Mr. Cole with data collected over two years ago and published at the time. While it was not as recent as he would like to have it, nevertheless it was just what was wanted. For the year 1903 over 10,000,000 pounds of freight found its way into Prineville. To be exact 10,640,500 pounds. Ninety per cent of this was merchandise received by 23 business firms which was freighted or received by express from Shaniko, and 10 or 12 per cent was outgoing wool. These figures did not include freight hauled to Burns or other outside points. In other words Prineville alone handled 6000 tons or 500 carloads of freight during the year 1903. The figures for 1906 will show a big increase and the increase will keep on growing as our country becomes settled. The gentlemen were surprised at the activity and energy displayed at Prineville. Usually at this time of the year there is not much doing but a look at our stores and streets convinced these gentlemen that our town enjoyed a pretty steady volume of trade the year around. Mr. Cole will be here a week or more hunting up data and our business men will extend to him every courtesy in carrying out his work.

Some of our campers had a pretty hard time of it in the mountains during the hot spell. The forest fires were raging so fiercely in the Canyon Creek neighborhood that campers were pressed into service by the forest rangers to fight it. Rev. Jinnett, Mr. Wann, Warren Smith and others had a three-days' tussle with the fiery elements. It's a case of "go" when you are called upon unless you are physically disqualified.

A booklet issued by the alumni and students of Pacific University, Forest Grove, has reached our table. It is a very neat little publication dedicated "To Seekers of Higher Education." Half-tone illustrations enliven its arguments for a larger student body, and if we are not mistaken a greatly enlarged enrollment this fall will be directly traceable to its influence.

Mrs. Sarah C. Miller, wife of S. W. Miller of Burns, died at the home of Ike Blevins on the Upper Ochoco, Thursday, August 9, after a lingering illness. The immediate cause of death was heart failure brought on by paralysis. Mrs. Miller was the daughter of J. M. and Nancy Coon, and was born March 14, 1849, near Peoria, Linn county, Oregon. She was married to S. W. Miller November 29, 1868. She was buried Saturday, August 11, at the Mill Creek cemetery.

W. Clarence Black, a former Ashland boy and son of Rev. G. W. Black, for many years pastor of the Baptist church of this city, spent a few days here this week renewing old acquaintances, accompanied by his wife and child. Mr. Black has been engaged in the newspaper business for a number of years past, first at Prineville, Oregon, and now at Fallon, Nevada, where he enjoys a good business and is prospering. Like all old Ashlanders he has warm feelings for this place and still thinks of it as home.—Ashland (Ore.) Tidings.

Crook County Examinations.

The County Board of examiners have completed the grading of the papers of twenty-three applicants for teachers' certificates. This is a larger class than Crook county has had in August for many a year. Of those who attended the Normal Institute not one failed to obtain a certificate. This together with the fact that all financial obligations have been met without drawing on this year's institute fund proves conclusively that Crook county needs the advantages of a Summer Normal for the benefit of the teachers and that the teachers have appreciated the efforts made to assist them. A hearty co-operation has resulted in much good work. This is shown from the number of failures. Last February there were nine failures in a less number of applicants while this year there were only two, and one of these came from outside of the county.

The successful applicants are: First Grade—P. C. Fulton, Lucy Omeg, Ida Omeg, Effie Taylor, Mrs. Della Foster, Ethel Morris, Edna L. Morse.

Second Grade—Andrew Larsen, Frances Harader, Nora Kizer, Marion L. Wiest, Ethel Smith, Floy McGhee, Myrtle Scoggin, Mrs. Nancy R. Noble, John Tuck, Aulta Snyder.

Third Grade—Z. T. Gideon, Irene Barnes, Rose Gibson, Lena Jones. Several of the above made grades sufficient for the next higher certificate, but owing to lack of experience or having had the benefit of that certificate it could not be issued them.
