"Trade at Home" is a good motto to put over the door of every house in Prineville. This is the only way you can ever hope to build up a town. Too many of our people are prone to pour over the catalogs of mail order houses and pick out stuff that they would refuse to take from the home merchant. They buy "unsight and unseen" as the saying goes and in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred are disgusted with their purchase when it arrives. Why people do this is one of the mysteries of human nature. They get bit so often that in time you would suppose they would learn better. There should be more of the spirit of reciprocity between our merchants and their patrons. If you want credit you expect to get it at home but when you have cash you send it out of town to help build up institutions that have no direct interests in your own community.

Labor Day.

Governor Chamberlain has issued a proclamation setting aside Monday, September 3, as Labor Day. The text of the proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the first Monday in September of each year has been set apart and declared to be a public holiday under the designation of Labor Day;

"Now, therefore, I, George E. Chamberlain, as governor of the state of Oregon, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, do hereby declare Monday, the 3d day of September, A. D., 1906, a legal holiday, to be known as Labor Day.

"The people of the state are to be congratulated upon the friendly relations which have always existed between the employer and the employed within its jurisdiction. To this condition is largely due the prosperity that surrounds us on every side.

"It is to be hoped that the day hereby set apart for observance as a public holiday will be generally observed by all classes of our citizens, and that the workshops and the store and all places of business will be closed, so that the employer as well as the employed may completely rest from all labor."

Maury Mountain Observatory.

Editor Journal: As it has been some time since I noticed any items from Maury I thought I would try to write some.

Aleck Cummins is becoming an expert with the shotgun. He has clipped the heads off about a hundred sagehens this season.

Tullie Hobwood of the sawmill is just recovering from an attack of sickness which he contracted some ten days ago while at Paulina.

James Gilchrist and Jack Morris came up from the river Sunday. They informed us that notwithstanding the great shortage of hired help the harvest season would be brought to a close some time in 1906. These happy results are being brought about through the scientific management of the co-operative system practiced by the farmers in this vicinity.

Elmer Clark of Paulina, paid a visit to the sawmill Friday. Mr. Clark informs us that Paulina is getting to be a lively place on Sunday. You can see anything from a fight to a horse race.

Harry Hinton and Frank Smead, a couple of youthful hunters, hearing of a large black bear that was making its headquarters on the top of Mule Deer mountain, a knob on the north side of Maury mountain, started out the other morning to bring bruin back with them. The boys had scarcely surmounted the summit of Mule Deer when they located the bear lying in the shade of a clump of small trees about a hundred yards distant. "This is luck," said Harry. "We have him just where we want him. There is nothing between us so lets give him the best we have." Conveying the idea that the bear was just the same as their meat. They both took deliberate aim and let go. This had no effect. They tried it again with the same result, much to the amusement of the boys. This was discouraging, and the boys were beginning to loose heart when Harry sent in one that evidently found a weak spot in bruin's coat, for he went rolling down the hill. The boys shouted for joy for they were sure that they had him, but to their great surprise and disappointment the bear picked himself up, turned and looked at them with a great big smile, walked into the brush and was seen no more. The boys fired twenty-one times and are confident that bruin has many leaden marks on his tough hide. From what we saw at our position at the glass we think the boys did well to get away, and that without a scratch, too.

Buried by the County.

A most pathetic sight to look upon is the effects of a mis-spent life. Crook county for nine years has extended aid to an unfortunate named Munsun. Various persons have been hired to look after his needs, particularly that of food. Munsun has been able to attend to the duties connected with his cabin until recently, when it seems his strength entirely failed him and he lacked the common attentions necessary to one confined in bed. The woman hired by the county to board him was not paid enough to justify her in staying home to perform the work of a nurse, hence the wretched man was allowed to wallow in his cabin until the attention of the city authorities was called to his condition. When Marshal Crooks made an inspection of the premises Munsun was found lying on the floor of his cabin stark naked while the man's bed and bedding were in a filthy condition. The place has been made as comfortable as the means at hand would allow and William Barnes has been employed to look after him.

Munsun is mentally and physically very weak and it is thought he cannot long survive. When roused out of his stupor he begs for something to end his miserable existence. It was evident from blood marks on the floor which he tried to mop up that Munsun had tried to commit suicide by cutting a vein in his arm. The incision he made has not healed yet.

NOTE.—Since the above article was written it was learned that Munsun died Tuesday morning. He was buried by the county the same evening.

Crook County Should be Represented.

T. M. Baldwin, president of the Citizens' Business League, has received a letter from the secretary-treasurer of the Oregon Development League calling attention to the fact that the National Irrigation Congress is to be held in Boise, Idaho, from September 3 to 8. It is desired to make the Oregon delegation the very largest in attendance upon the convention.

California is to be especially well represented, and the California party will spend a day in Portland en route to Boise. The California-Oregon special will leave Portland at 8:15 Saturday evening, September 1. Both Gov. Chamberlain and Gov. Pardee will accompany the special and it is expected that our senators and congressmen will also be in attendance. Vice-president Fairbanks and a majority of the western senators and congressmen will arrive at Boise Monday.

Crook county should be represented at this congress by as many persons as can find it convenient to get away. A one-fare rate for the round trip has been made by the railroads. All those who would like to attend should make the fact known to Mr. Baldwin at once.

Additional Locals.

Jerome Bonaparte Friedman of Joseph, Wallowa county, is in the city visiting with the family of Will Wurzwiler.

C. M. Redfield and V. J. O'Connor, of the D. L. & P. Co., of Redmond, were in town the first of the week securing right-of-way for the Central Oregon canal.

Wm. Marks, who has been harvesting at Powell Buttes, is in town. He says that crops in that section are fairly good. Spring sown grain is a little short but fall sown is good.

P. N. Turner was in from his ranch at the old river bed today. Mr. Turner has a homestead there as well as 100 acres of land under the ditch. This year he was only able to get water on about three acres and this was done by constructing his own ditch from the main canal. The company will have the canal completed next year so that plenty of water can be secured. The land on which he had water made a wonderful showing in the crop it produced and he says that the most skeptical would concede that the land will be the best of a producer as soon as plenty of water can be had. He is well satisfied with his land.

A. Kozman was in from his ranch three miles this side of Bend Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Kozman, who is one of the pioneer settlers of that section says that he has recently refused an offer of $20 per acre for the 400 acres he has under the D. L. & P. Co. ditch. The land cost him $8 and $9 per acre and he is well satisfied with his bargain. In speaking of the crop he raised this year he says that he had acres of oats that was satisfied would go 110 to 120 bushels to the acre. His beardless barley made a showing equally as good. His field of 32 acres of rye stood on an average of over six feet in height. In garden truck he raised tomatoes, watermelons, cucumbers, beans, corn, etc., which all matured well. He sowed two acres of carrots broad cast and it is surprising the yield they will make.
