Prineville Machine Shop

E. G. HODSON, Proprietor

I am prepared to do all kinds of Machine work (except casting) such as boring Engine cylinders, dressing valves and valve seats, fitting shafting for any kind of machine, also plow and edge tool grinding, saw gumming and filing.

Having installed new and up-to-date machinery for the above work, I can, in most cases, save you money over sending to Portland for repairs, say nothing about time saved which is certainly quite an item. At any rate give me a trial and then you will be in a position to judge for yourself. A supply of material kept on hand at all times.

Oregon Wool Active.

Of all the Western wool on the Eastern market, Oregon stock is one of the liveliest sellers, according to advices just received. Quite a few 50-bale lots have been moved at Boston at 74@75 cents for Eastern No. 1 staple and at 67@68 cents No. 1 clothing. Other transactions of importance are reported to be on the point of consummation. In this state things are rapidly quieting down. A few small transactions have taken place this week east of the mountains at a range of 15 to 19 cents.

The season is also practically closed in other parts of the West. Montana is cleaned up with the exception of 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 pounds, the greater part of which will probably be sold before the season closes. Most of the buyers are ready to start East. Closing sales were made at 12@22 cents for clips running fine to fine medium, and 23@24 cents for medium wools. The well-known Bair clip, for which a bid of 22 cents was refused, has been consigned to a Boston house. It is said that the clip will run close to 1,500,000 pounds, and it is of long, firm staple. Another Boston dealer picked up a 300,000 pound clip at 24 cents, while still another corralled a clip of the same size at 21 cents. Prices within the past few days have advanced 2 to 3 cents a scoured pound, over those ruling some ten days ago. It is estimated that the clip of Montana is a little more than 30,000,000 pounds. The average price paid was about 20 cents. About three-quarters of the clip has been bought by Boston firms.

Best Farm Wagons.

There is a wide divergence of opinion regarding the influence of the height of a wheel on the draft of farm wagons. The Government experiment station in Missouri put the matter to a practical test in a series of trials made on macadam, gravel and dirt roads in all conditions, and on meadows, pastures, cultivated fields, stubble land, etc. with a net load of 2000 pounds in all cases, three sets of wheels were tested as follows: Standard front wheels 44 inches, rear wheels 55 inches. Medium—front wheels 36 inches, rear wheels 40 inches. Low—front wheels 24 inches, rear wheels 28 inches. The results obtained and conclusions reached were as follows:

For the same load wagons with wheels of standard height drew lighter than those with lower wheels. The difference in favor of the standard wheels was greater on road surfaces in bad condition than on good road surfaces. Low wheels cut deeper ruts than those of standard height. The vibration of the tongue is greater in wagons with low wheel. For most purposes wagons with low wheels are more convenient than those of standard height. Wagons with broad tires and wheels of standard height are cumbersome and require much room in turning. Diminishing the height of the wheel to from 30 to 36 inches in front and 40 to 44 inches in the rear did not increase the draft in as great proportion as it increased the convenience of loading and unloading the ordinary farm freight. Diminishing the height of wheels below 30 inches front and 40 inches rear increased the draft in greater proportion than it gained in convenience.

On good roads increasing the length of rear axle so that the front and rear wheels will run in different tracks to avoid cutting ruts, did not increase the draft. On sod, cultivated ground and bad roads wagons with the rear axle longer than the front one drew heavier than one having both axles of the same length. Wagons with the rear axle longer than the front one require wider gateways and more careful drivers, and are, on the whole, very inconvenient and not to be recommended for farm use. The best form of farm wagons is one with axles of equal length, broad tires and wheels 30 to 36 inches high in front and 40 to 44 inches behind.

"Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

These is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal.
