WEST SIDE METHODS

Some Inside Information.

"DOPE" PREPARED

In Advance—Some Facts that will Interest the Government.

That all the people living on the west side do not want a change of mail service is evidenced by the fact that letters of instruction sent to them were handed in to the Journal. In order that people may learn the true inwardness of the situation we publish the letter in full with the exception of the name of the person to whom it was sent and the name of the town in which he lives. The letter is self-explanatory and reads as follows:

Bend, Or., 15, 1906.

Dear Sir—As already explained in the circular accompanying the general petition, the movement for a direct route was inaugurated during the session of the district court at which * * * from your vicinity was participating. In order to get this route it is necessary that we leave nothing undone that can be done in connection with it. You are no doubt aware that an application was made last spring and failed. This does not mean that our present effort will meet with the same fate for we are trying to avoid all the errors and shortcomings of last spring's attempts.

In addition to the general application of which you have a copy, you should receive in about a week what purports to be a committee's summary or brief, which has been prepared in advance and is to be signed by what claims to be a committee composed of a certain number at every principal postoffice district as explained in the circular letter accompanying it. Besides Madras, Redmond, Laidlaw, Bend, Silver Lake and Culver are preparing special local petitions or supporting statements to accompany the general petition and it is on this account I am instructed by the central committee to write to you, in order to have * * * draw up one too. The local petition should be in the form of a letter addressed from * * * and bearing any date between now and Dec. 1, 1906, and to Hon. G. B. Cortelyou, Postmaster General,

Washington, D. C. As it would be best to have it typewritten, we think you could get this done at Redmond without cost. Have it signed by at least 15 or 20 of your most representative men, showing after the signature the signer's business. Send this with the general petition to the address of the Central Committee, Box 105 Bend, Oregon, not later than the 28th of this month.

In this local petition it will be well to call attention to the needs of your community, that is, fully explain the importance of your postoffice as a population center both at present and in the near future, calling particular attention to saw mills, the lumbering or timber interests and the numerous irrigating ditches from Squaw Creek. Also call attention to the present unsatisfactory and irregular mail service from Shaniko to * * * via Prineville and give the reasons for the same referring particularly to the adobe and Grizzly Mountain on the road between Heisler's and Prineville and the alkali swails and adobe on the Crooked River bottoms between Prineville and O'Neils, in comparison with which it may be well to give your opinion of the route applied for from Shaniko to Bend via Madras, Redmond, etc. Be sure and say Grizzly Mountain and not Butte if you refer to Grizzly at all as the Department considers a butte only a small hill. Trusting that you are meeting with good success in securing signatures, we remain, Yours for success in this matter.

L. D. WIESE,
Chairman of Committee.

A Correction.

In the hurry of proof reading in our edition of November 15 the type made us say in regard to the new court house that "if the building was undertaken it would not cost the county more than $40,000, and might be built for less." It should have read "$45,000." That is the way it was written but when put into type it appeared as $40,000. We did not notice the typographical error until our attention was called to it by some misleading statements made by our west side contemporaries. They seem to take exceeding unktion upon themselves because the second bids were lower than those made at first. They take all the credit of saving the taxpayers the amount of the difference. As a matter of fact the first bids were turned down before the injunction was served. The county court had no intention of letting the contract at that figure and the claim made by these papers is simply a little bit of fiction.

How They Feel at Madras.

Madras, Oregon, Nov. 23, 1906.
Editor Journal—Since there has been so much talk and so much ink-slinging and so much petitioning and so much injunctioning around here it has almost added the brain of some of our people until it has almost made us believe that Prineville is not on the map; that it is simply a razor-backed rooster. Therefore the Madras Dreamer dreamed a dream during a time when the whole country round about was in a whirl around the Madras hub. And it was this: A large new county court house was seen perched upon the back yard of a place of abode near a little green-covered residence in Eastern Madras and over the door of this massive house of public utility and justice were inscribed the words "At Last." If at first you don't succeed at Antelope try, try again at Madras where success is realized." Upon this wonderful piece of modern architectural beauty and county pride was a famous two-story dome and from the balcony of the first story hung a large picture labeled "Madras Townsite Sec'y and U. S. Com'r," and on its left was a pile of sand or dust and on the right was an empty pitcher trying to pour water upon the sand. Just behind the picture could be seen an artesian well-drilling outfit whose boss was reading a notice which read something like this, "Wait until we are incorporated as a city and then we can use public funds to pay you for your job the people are clamoring for and build up our town." Within an alcove upon the second story was a huge statue of soft soapstone seated upon a flimsy stool and before it stood the image of the old Deadwood stage coach labeled "To h—!" with Prineville, for thanks to the Pioneer we travel a different trail."

In the hand of the image was clasped the Madras Pioneer covered with land proof notices of many people who want to prove up and leave (their cash). In the mouth of this image was a forked bugle and out of one came a blaze of fire and out of the other came icicles. Upon its brow was a crown beautifully inscribed "I am the highcock-alorum and he below is the low-cockalorum." Then the Dreamer awoke and after looking around in wonder saw that the same old world was here and its business was carried on in the same old way and at the same old stand. Yours truly, THE DREAMER.

Gatewood Mining & Trading Company

OF HOWARD, CROOK COUNTY, OREGON

Capitalization 500,000 Shares.
Treasury Stock 100,000, Par Value Non Assessable.

Subscription Price $1.00 per Share.
Paying from the grass roots down.

The property consists of 33 claims in the Southeastern part of Crook county, on the head waters of the Ochoco river. There is an abundance of water for power purposes and some of the best timber in the county is located on these claims. The economic conditions for mining could not be better.

The mines are now on a paying basis, but with additional machinery they can be made a big dividend payer as the output can be doubled with very little additional cost of labor. In order to install this machinery the management has decided to issue 10,000 shares of Treasury Stock. This stock will in all probabilities be the last offered for sale. It will be sold at $1.00 per share. There is no deviating from this price. That the stock will increase in value is a certainty. You can find no better place to invest your money. If you desire to get in on this you will have to do so at once, as this stock was put on the market in order to give the residents of the county a chance to realize something from an investment in one of their own properties.

This is not a speculation at all but a sound business investment based upon ascertained facts. The mine has been developed beyond the experimental stage. About the best recommendation we can give these mines is that the men employed by the company are investing their savings in the purchase of this stock. Also such men as Clark, Daly, Fair, Haggin, and a host of others have made their money from mines and the development of them.
