TOO MUCH HOT AIR
West Side Papers Should Confine Themselves to Facts.

The papers of western Crook county are making a great uproar about a direct mail service to Shaniko. This time if noise and absurd statements count for anything they do not propose to be turned down. They seem to forget, however, that the department at Washington will demand something more substantial than hot air. We have a postal inspector in this district whose duty it is to keep in close touch with the needs of his department and it is safe to say he knows more about the roads and the time that is made than the aforesaid papers. And there is not a question of a doubt but that the west side will get all she is entitled to when the proper time arrives. That time is not just yet. We do not wish it understood that this paper has any intention of placing any obstacles in the way of progress in that part of Crook county so long as honest methods are used to bring it about, but we cannot allow certain statements by these papers to go unchallenged.

Great stress is laid upon the increase of population in western Crook. Let us see just how much Bend has grown since 1904. In that year Bend cast in the city election 165 votes. In 1906 Bend cast 91 votes. This is increasing with a vengeance.

Again, the Bend Bulletin greatly overestimates the amount of mail matter carried on the Prineville route. It placed the amount at from a ton and a half to two tons. The postmaster at Prineville says that a ton a day on an average would be a liberal estimate.

As to the matter of time and roads one would be led to believe in reading the Bulletin that all delays would be eliminated if only the Bend route were chosen. When the inspector was at Prineville not long ago it was figured that a half hour might be saved possibly by making the change.

Now, as to the money order business. The Bulletin was very careful not to give any figure when it made the statement that more business was done at Madras than at Prineville. Inquiry at the post-office here elicited the information that more business is done at Prineville than in both Bend and Madras put together. Give us the facts gentlemen, upon which your claims are based. The people are tired of hot air.

STOCKMEN'S CONVENTION
A Successful Meeting Held at Canyon City—The Range Subdivided.

A. S. Ireland, supervisor of the western division of the Blue Mountain Forest Reserve, and Henry Ireland, deputy supervisor, returned last week from the stockmen's convention held at Canyon City. The gentlemen speak in the highest terms of their treatment in Grant county and of the amicable feeling manifested by both sheep and cattlemen. The meeting, says Mr. Ireland, was a great success in every way. A much better understanding now exists between these two great interests of Central Oregon.

The western division of the reserve was subdivided into ten districts and committees of sheepmen and cattlemen were appointed in each to adjust the lines of the range between them. The government officials made it very plain to these committees that they must come to an agreement between themselves if they could, but if they could not Uncle Sam would take up the matter and adjust the lines to suit himself. It was explained to them that as they were better acquainted with their own needs than the government they were therefore in a better position to do justice to all concerned. It was in this spirit that the several committees set about the work of adjustment and the result of their labors was satisfactory all around. If there should crop out any dissatisfaction at any time the matter is to be left with A. S. Ireland, forest supervisor, and his decision must be accepted as final by all concerned.

Mr. Ireland says that about 400 stockmen were present and applied for permits, and that 200 growers were represented by proxies. Sheep to the number of 364,543 were allowed on this reserve in 1906; 23,186 head of cattle and 1534 horses. For the season of 1907 the limit for sheep is placed at 240,000. The forest supervisor wishes to announce through the columns of the Journal that all persons who have not filed their application for grazing permits for next season should do so as soon as possible.

Before the meeting adjourned resolutions were passed endorsing the forest reserve policy of the government and expressing confidence in the fairness and ability with which the difficult questions had been settled.
