Thomas Houston of Crook, is in town looking for a house for his family so that he can send his children to school. Mr. Houston says there is not one to be had. Benjamin Shepherd from the head of Crooked river came in Tuesday from his ranch for supplies. He was three days in making the trip and is somewhat stove up from his journey. He found the snow a foot deep along Camp and Soldier creek. This is what caused the delay. He says he met a couple of bands of cattle bound for the desert to winter.

C. A. Whitsett sold his place a couple of miles west of town to Will Wurzweller for approximately $9000. This sum covers cattle, hay, hogs, etc. The ranch is a very desirable one. It is located on Crooked river and consists of 100 acres, with 110 in cultivation. Mr. Whitsett owned the place for a couple of years and disposed of it at a good profit. Everyone thinks that Mr. Wurzweller made a good buy in view of the fact that land values in Crook county have had an upward trend for a long time but as yet have hardly made a good start toward actual value.
