FATAL EXPLOSION.

Thawing Dynamite Over a Cook Stove Causes Death and Destruction.

H. J. Bachman is dead and his wife is not expected to live is the result of the careless handling of dynamite Tuesday.

According to the reports that have reached this office Mr. Bachman, who lives nine miles west of Madras, was thawing some dynamite over the cook stove when it exploded fatally injuring both himself and wife. A call was sent to Prineville for medical assistance and Dr. Edwards left yesterday for the scene of the accident. He is expected back some time today but at the hour of going to press he had not arrived.

A telephone message last evening stated that Mr. Bachman died at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and that Mrs. Bachman was not expected to live.

Joe Treichl and Pete Zeggline returned Wednesday from a two months' stay at North Bend, where they went with the expectations of finding a better town than Prineville to locate in. Their return is ample proof that they failed to find it, and they were fully satisfied that Prineville was the best place yet.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Leander Dillon Met a Horrible Fate Early Sunday Morning.

Leander Dillon, an old-timer in Crook county and well known throughout Eastern Oregon, met with a horrible death Sunday morning. He was literally roasted alive.

It seems that Mr. Dillon had been in the habit of sleeping in his camp wagon in the Dillon Feed Yard. This wagon was fitted up with a bed and camping outfit and was covered with a double tent making it warm and comfortable. Sunday morning between 12 and 1 o'clock Mr. Dillon went to the wagon for the purpose of going to bed. He was more or less intoxicated and had to be assisted. He got into the wagon by himself, however, and it is supposed lit a candle before retiring. He did not go to bed but sank down in a partially reclining position in the bottom of the wagon, with his head resting on his hands. He fell into a drunken stupor and the candle burning low set fire to the bread box upon which it sat.

From the box the fire spread to the contents of the wagon. It is the supposition that the man was suffocated by the smoke before the flames reached him. This view is taken by the coroner's jury which rendered a verdict of "death by suffocation." An autopsy was held by Dr. Edwards to see if there were any traces or evidence of a crime having been committed, but the examination did not reveal anything upon which such a theory could be based.

The fire was discovered by Frank W. Smith who slept in a barn near by. Smith was awakened by hearing some shots fired. Upon going outside he saw the camp wagon in flames and immediately gave the alarm. When help arrived it was seen that Mr. Dillon was passed all human aid. He was burned to a crisp. The shots that were heard were caused by the explosion of some cartridges that were in the burning wagon.

Leander Dillon was born at Quincy, Ill., September 21, 1843. He crossed the plains in 1853 with his parents, who settled in Tulare county, California. Here Mr. Dillon grew to manhood and was married June 18, 1867, to Miss Lenora Hilliard, who survives him. Twelve children were born to this union. Eight daughters and four sons. Nine of the family are still living, namely, Mrs. John Cyrus, Mrs. John Breeding, Mrs. Frank Wilhoit, Mrs. Pete Lehman, Aleatha, Lawrence, Alta, Lavell and Orval, the youngest being 11 years of age.

Mr. Dillon came to Crook county in 1885 where he resided until his death. He accumulated considerable property. He was buried Monday and was followed to his last resting place by a large number of friends.

George Stevens left this morning, (Thursday) for Madras where he goes to make the transfer on the sale of his house and lot which was purchased by Frank Osborn, of that place.
