An interesting debate took place Friday between the fifth and sixth grades of our public school. The question was, "Resolved, that the American Indian has been mistreated." The subject was remarkably well handled for young folks. In fact we doubt if there were many grown-ups present who would have stood much show with the youthful debaters. On the affirmative side were Warren Yancey, Vida Dorrance, Lawrence Lister, Leola Estes, Ruth Ricker, Janie Laelling, Ray Moore, Arthur O'Neil and Edith King. For the negative were Robert Lister, Mary Carter, Gussie Collins, Carey Stearns, Van Brink, Arthur Michel, Fayne Bell, Leland Belknap and Millard Elkins. The negative side won. The leaders for both the affirmative and negative sides took notes like veterans and in their rebuttal showed that they were thoroughly familiar with the subject. The judges were M. R. Elliott, County School Superintendent Dinwiddie and R. E. Gray.
