It is greatly to be regretted that Rev. Father Hekey does not seem to be strongly and steadily recovering from his prolonged illness. He has almost lost his voice from sore throat and his bloodshot eye must make his literary work painful in the extreme. He has the warmest sympathy of the community and the best wishes of everybody for his speedy and permanent recovery.

Now that our city council seems imbued with the spirit of improvement would it not be a good time to agitate the question of planting shade trees on our streets. We have city water that could be used for the purpose and it would not be long before Prineville would become one of the prettiest towns in the country. We have everything right at hand. Just push the matter along.

Ralph Portly, the man that lost twenty-one head of sheep, called at the Journal office Saturday. While Mr. Portly feels keenly the loss of his sheep he is still unable to account for it. If poison was used it was set out a long time ago, Mr. Portly thinks. He and his neighbors are in the same business and are on the best of terms. Besides the twenty-one head of old sheep he lost eighteen lambs.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell came over from Bend the first of the week. He assisted the Rev. Mr. George last Sunday in the dedication of a new Presbyterian church at Laidlaw. The new church starts out free from debt and with enough cash on hand to seat the edifice. This speaks well for our west side neighbor.

Two operators are now employed at the telephone exchange in Prineville—Miss Dobbs and Mrs. Ralph Jordan. The office will be open from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m. Miss Mosier, of Shaniko, is expected today and will remain until after the new system is installed which will take about three weeks. She will then return to Shaniko as chief operator at that place.

Stanley Morris was given a surprise on his 15th birthday last week. His eighth grade school mates and others assembled at the home of Perry Polindexter where the young folks made merry in the large assembly hall of the Polindexter home. There was an abundance of good things to eat and the young man will long remember the occasion of his 15th natal day.

Patterson & Wilson have rented the back part of the old postoffice building for a carriage shop. Now you can get your buggies painted in the best of style as they understand their business and guarantee their work.

Kirk Whitte came over to Laidlaw the first of the week. He says that a new wagon road has just been opened between Laidlaw and Bend and that the distance to travel between the two places has been lessened about two miles. The new road is lighter and smoother and has a much better grade. The old road was not a county highway and the owners closed it.

J. H. Demarris and L. M. Brown killed a large brown bear near the Demarris sawmill in the Blue Mountains Sunday. They had noticed strong indications of the presence of bruin and Sunday morning started out to see what could be found. A trail was soon picked up and a dog brought the game to bay. The bear was very fat and one of the largest ever killed in that vicinity.

Those Outstanding Warrants.

The Laidlaw Chronicle seems greatly perturbed over the fact that $984.43 is outstanding in county warrants. In a recent issue it says: The report of the County Clerk which appeared in last week's Journal shows that there are unpaid warrants outstanding to the amount of $9,844.43 and that these warrants have been outstanding since October 1st, 1906. We do not know how much longer but we think for some time.

(Query) How did the county court enter into a contract for the new court house without violating the restraining order of Judge Bradshaw? How did it happen that they could incur additional indebtedness for the new court house when the indebtedness of the county was already over $4,000 beyond the constitutional limitations?

For the information of the Chronicle we will state that the outstanding warrants are for claims allowed but not called for. If people do not want their money the county court is not to blame. It has much to answer for without being held responsible for something over which it has no control. These warrants are held for seven years and if not called for within that time are cancelled. The county will be a good many hundred dollars better off next October if some of these negligent claimants do not bestir themselves.
