

HEADED FOR CENTRAL OREGON

Senator W. A. Clark is the latest railroad magnate to turn his eyes toward Central Oregon. An article in last Sunday's Oregonian states that practically all details for entrance of the road into Portland have been concluded and meanwhile engineering parties have completed the location across to the eastern slope of the Cascades. The scheme has been concealed behind the Mount Hood Railway & Power Company that propose to operate an electric line to Mount Hood.

The Oregonian says: It may surprise some engineers to learn that a route has been found by which the line will make a gradual ascent of Mount Hood, to the southeast of that eminence and through to the upper Deschutes on a compensating grade of less than 1 per cent, but such is a fact and the construction crews already engaged in the vicinity of Bull Run and between that point and Fairview will be rapidly advancing along the route so that considerable of the heavier part of the work will probably be completed during the winter months.

Approaching the Deschutes at a point not far from the mouth of Warm Springs creek, it will follow up the Deschutes, cross the spur of Walker's range and thence proceed in a southerly course to the drainage of Sprague river and thence up that stream to the southeast, through the Klamath Indian reservation and thence in a nearly direct line to Winnemucca.

The main line will be built with regard to the shortest mileage and best route, while branches are projected to tap the irrigated districts of Crook, Klamath and Lake counties, but these are to follow the completion of the through line which is just at present the objective feature of the entire enterprise.

Engineers have been over the route repeatedly, parties having easily maintained the secret of their purpose and work because of the activity of the Harriman system engineers in the same territory. That portion of the route south of the headwaters of the Deschutes may undergo changes, as the locations have not been definitely made.

One route would divert from that above outlined near the south boundary of Crook county and thence follow what would be an almost air line past Silver Lake, Summer Lake through the big timber around Paisley and the Chewaucan and thence by way of Lakeview. But it is asserted that some heavy grades would be encountered on that route that can be avoided by the other.

It is claimed that the proposed extension of the Clark road from Salt Lake to Portland is simply a link in the Rock Island system. So far as Central Oregon is concerned it does not give a rap what system it is that builds the road. What we want is an outlet for the rich products of this country.

MRS. ROWLEE GETS JAIL SENTENCE

Mrs. Norma Rowlee, one of two women who claimed to be the mother of 4-year-old Dudley Tomlin, pleaded guilty before Judge Frazer in the circuit court this morning to the charge of contributing to the delinquency of 16-year-old Alice Francis, and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. Mrs. Rowlee had previously entered a plea of not guilty to the charge, but tired of her long stay in jail and changed her plea.

Weeping and trembling, the woman was led into Judge Frazer's courtroom this morning by Sheriff Stevens. Deputy District Attorney Robert Galloway announced the purpose of her coming to court, and Judge Frazer asked her if she wished to plead guilty.

"I throw myself on your mercy," she sobbed. "You can do as you like with me. I do not plead guilty to putting that girl in that house, because I did not get her there."

On being informed that she must plead guilty or not guilty, directly, and Judge Frazer imposed the sentence. He said that in view of the fact that she had already been in jail over 30 days he would not make the sentence as severe as he otherwise would.

Judge Frazer heard evidence in the juvenile court some time ago to determine whether the child in question was the son of Mrs. Tomlin or Mrs. Rowlee. He took the matter under advisement, and said this morning that he will not render a decision until after Mrs. Rowlee's jail term expires.—Portland Journal.

A Certain Cure for Croup—Used for Ten Years Without a Failure

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's cough remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's cough remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup and whooping cough. For sale by D. P. Adamson.
