Thomas in Jail.

M. Thomas, arrested at Prineville, charged with impersonating a special agent of the interior department and under which guise it is claimed that he had secured large sums of money by persons desiring quick locations on land, is in the county jail awaiting some one to go his bond. Thomas was arrested upon a complaint filed with United States Attorney John McCourt by L. R. Clavis, chief of the field division of the interior department.

It is claimed by the government that some man has been working a game similar to the one of which Thomas is accused in the different states of the northwest for the last two years. All this time the United States authorities have been on the bogus agent's trail. In the arrest of Thomas they believe that the operator has at last been arrested.

In one case it is alleged that Thomas asked $5,000 from one man. For this sum he promised to hasten a patent through the general land office which would settle the title of the land beyond a question. The victim got wise to the scheme, according to the complaint, and stopped payment on the check. Thomas, not to be outdone, brought suit to collect the money which had been assured him.

Uncle Sam did the rest. Thomas' case will be presented to the next federal grand jury. Until he raises bail he will remain in jail.—Portland Journal.

Expect to Strike "He."

Ben Heltrich was in town from Lamonta Tuesday and states that much interest is being taken by the people in his section over the bright prospects of oil being struck by the Madras Oil Company in their drilling operations on the west slope of Grizzly Mountain. The drill has sunk to a depth of over 80 feet, water having been struck, which is strongly impregnated with oil seepage. This is believed to be certain indication of the presence of oil. When this water is set aside in a pail a skum of oil quickly rises to the surface, and thus encouraged the drilling is rapidly proceeding.

The Wool Situation.

While the feeling in the wool market in the West is reasonably firm, there is not much improvement in the East, judging from the latest mail advices received. Buyers in this section, however, continue to pay full price for the best clips, as is shown by the sale at Scio and the recent sales in Eastern Oregon. The Scio pool for which 15 3-5 cents was paid is considered as the best single lot in the valley, and practically all of it grades as No. 2.

New wools from the West are reaching the Eastern markets in increasing quantity, where the offerings attract considerable attention, though there is no rush to acquire them by manufacturers. The Arizona wools have sold well and are now pretty well cleaned up. Latest transactions are small lots at 16 to 17c, or about 50c clean, and 25,000 pounds clothing at 16 to 16 1/2c, the scoured cost being 42 to 43c. A fair amount of new half-blood Utah sold at Boston at 18c to cost 47 to 48c clean, and a small lot of Nevada lambs changed hands on the scoured basis of 55c.

There is a fair movement in old wools in the Boston market, but no large lines have been transferred. Most sales are 25,000 pounds to 50,000 pounds each or smaller. Clothing wools are still talked of as quiet and the demand for them shows no material improvement.—Oregonian.

Rev. Moore Closes His Pastorate.

With last Sunday, the pastorate of Rev. J. T. Moore, of the local Baptist church, came to a close. Mr. Moore has been thus connected at Prineville for nearly three years, during which time he has faithfully served the church and the community. His family, also, have been held in high esteem in the church and out of it. They will remain in the community for an indefinite time, however, until Mr. Moore's arrangements are fully made. He has received a number of calls from other churches, one being from Little Rock, Ark., and another from Lakeview, Oregon. He is inclined to accept the latter and expects to go there next week to look the field over.

Mr. Moore has been a conspicuous figure in temperance agitation while here and particularly in the recent campaign. He never quibbled, nor in any way evaded the issue, but desired that every man know that for which he stood, and every thoughtful person will honor him for his fearlessness and candor. On account of this, he was held in high esteem by the more aggressive people of the other churches as well as of his own. So much so, indeed that the Methodist services were dismissed last Sunday evening that the people might hear Mr. Moore in his farewell sermon. As a result, the Union church was well filled by a very attentive and sympathetic audience. At the close, Rev. Mr. Housel spoke enthusiastically in appreciation of Mr. Moore and his work, from the standpoint of the Methodist people, placing emphasis on the question of public morals. The relation between the two churches is very cordial and fraternal.
