Great Day in Prineville.

turn. Too much credit cannot be given to J. W. Horgan and Jack Cagle for the success of this part of the celebration. Those of us who have eaten barbecued meat that was almost half cooked can appreciate meat that left nothing to be desired in the way of cooking. It was as tender as chicken and contained all the juices of the meat. Between twelve and fifteen hundred people were lepd to meat, bread and pickles.

The different field sports were carried out as advertised. The only trouble was lack of time in which to pull them off. Every minute was occupied with something.

C. I. Winnek and his co-workers on the different committees cannot be given too much praise for their labors in behalf of the celebration. The business men of the city also who contributed so liberally both of time and money have reason to feel proud of the result.

The Prineville Band made its first appearance in its new uniform on the Fourth, and the band men may be pardoned for stepping so high during the parade.

Taken as a whole, from July 2 to July 4, the celebration was an unqualified success, the best the town ever held.
