

TWO FIREFIGHTERS LOST IN WOODS

With the return of the fire fighters from the forests to civilization again come tales of how narrowly two men escaped death, not from the flames, but as a result of them. A man named Kelley, from Paisley, had the closest call, while Bill McMellin of this city also endured a very unpleasant experience. Fortunately, both were rescued in time.

Kelley, it is said, became lost while hunting. He shot a young bear and in following it around lost his bearings. With bruin on his back he started for camp. After a long tramp he realized that he was lost. Then he was seized with a panic. He threw away his game and for a couple of days and a night traveled in circles. When Kelley failed to make camp the first night out two of his companions were detailed to search for him. Traces of Kelley were found and the man at one time was heard shouting, but when searchers answered him he made off in the opposite direction. Driven almost insane Kelley wandered on. He stumbled onto one of the abandoned camps of the fire fighters where he found a bottle of vinegar. After partaking freely of its contents Kelley recovered his senses sufficiently to enable him to reach camp. The searchers, who had picked up Kelley's trail and followed its devious wanderings, were about four hundred yards behind him when he struck the camp.

GOOD WORK BY FIREFIGHTERS

The last of the fire fighting brigade, on whom has devolved the successful but difficult task of extinguishing the forest fires in southern and western Crook county, returned to Prineville Sunday night in command of C. S. Congleton. They report all fires either out or nearly out, and that further spread of the flames afield is impossible.

Considerable credit is due Forest Supervisor A. S. Ireland and Forest Ranger B. F. Johnson of this city and district for the able manner in which they subdued the flames after the fires had seemingly gotten beyond control, with a burning frontage of anywhere from one to fifteen miles. The men under them also worked hard and well, and judged by results the three weeks' battle of the government brigade was eminently satisfactory.

Damage was chiefly confined to the Paulina mountains and areas in the upper Deschutes valley. Minor damage was also done near the summit of the Cascades.

NO "KNOCK" INTENDED.

The Harney County News characterizes the recent articles in the two Prineville papers about the wheat crop about Burns as "the most ghoulish and malicious disposition we have ever seen exhibited by one locality toward another." It blames the Prineville press for "knocking Harney county," and a lot more along the same line.

As a matter of fact, Prineville wishes Burns only happiness and prosperity, good crops and more of them. What is good for one community is good for another, and what hurts Burns hurts Prineville and Ontario and Vale, even if 100,000 pounds of flour did have to be shipped from here to Burns to supply a tangible deficiency.

The Journal got its information from the Burns freighters and believed their opinion of wheat conditions in Harney to be perfectly honest. Fearing possible exaggeration, however, this paper printed its article as "what the freighters said," not what the local reporter thought. The wheat story was printed as news, not as a knock.

It is pleasing to learn that Frank Jackson, Judge Levens and other wheat raisers in Harney have good crops; no one is more pleased to know this than the Journal.

CENTRAL OREGON RAILROAD FIRST

J. P. O'Brien, general manager of the Harriman lines, in an interview with the Portland Telegram, announces the suspension of all railroad building elsewhere because of the urgent need of a line into central Oregon. This line will be built first, and it will be built at once, Mr. O'Brien says:

"We have surveys of all of the proposed extensions, the Corvallis & Eastern, the Columbia Southern and the route up the Deschutes river; in fact, all of them into the central part of the state. It does not really matter which route is chosen, the north and south or the east and west, for either one would have to tap the same territory. I couldn't venture a guess whether the Columbia Southern will be extended or whether the new line will follow the Deschutes river from its mouth up. It will all depend on the result of the conference now on at Pelican bay."

Redmond News.

Redmond, August 23.

Mr. Schenck is back again from an extended trip up the country to the Silver Lake neighborhood. He passes for a stranger here at present until he begins to throw his voice around, then folks look behind his whiskers and find the same old R. A. Schenck as always.

The Sturdevant-Ricker nuptials were celebrated Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Justice Jones officiated. Thus the segregation loses one of its bachelors for which it is noted, and Redmond loses one of its most popular young ladies. The young people commenced housekeeping the next day at the Sturdevant farm between Redmond and O'Neil, followed by the congratulations and good wishes of a host of friends.

The surprise microbe is again at work. Lou Reed and his wife were attacked Wednesday night just on the eve of their departure for their future home in Washington. A hayrack crowd went out from town and had a very pleasant time. Friday night Neighbor Smith was attacked on account of his umpteenth birthday which takes place today and was clear down and out before he knew what was the matter, before he could even diagnose the case. It happened at Zumwalt & Miller's.

Thunder showers for several days have kept the air somewhat cool in the afternoons, though the mornings have been quite hot. We got the thunder, but the showers mostly fell somewhere else.

Miss Olive Smith arrived Thursday with her father in pretty good shape considering her recent sickness, but pretty tired from the ride from Shaniko. She does not want any more of that kind of conveyance just at present.

Mr. Mulkey, from some outside point, has come to the interior to look after some business matters.

On his last trip in Mr. Muma brought in a new hack for F. W. McCaffery.

Lots of campers still in town.

Miss Lizzie Smith and some girl friends went to Bend yesterday. They wanted an excuse for staying over until today so telephoned back that lightning had struck a tree in front of the hotel where they were staying, or across the street from the store where they were trading. Isn't that being an artist in the excuse line? Later—we learn that they did not have to make up much excuse after all and we beg Elizabeth's pardon.

Mr. Terrill of near O'Neil was found this afternoon in the road between Redmond and that place in a badly injured condition due to being thrown from a horse in the morning, the horse probably falling on him. He had probably been lying there six or eight hours when found. A. J. Booth and Mr. and Mrs. Morrill loaded him into a buggy and the latter two took him on to O'Neil. From all that we can learn, the man's recovery seems doubtful. E. C. PARK.

LOCAL CAPITAL FOR RAILROAD

or railroad connection at the Columbia river, via Deschutes river and on water grade.

Second, in case railroad connection with either of said points cannot be obtained, that the citizens of Prineville, Oregon, and contributory territory, subscribe for FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS of approved bonds of any reliable person, company or corporation which shall first connect the city of Prineville, Oregon, by standard gauge steam railroad, with the Columbia Southern railroad at Shaniko, Oregon.

And we hereby express our confidence that the said subscription can and will be made in the event.

We further recommend that a Board of Trade, or like body be immediately organized or incorporated for the purpose of soliciting such subscriptions and carrying into effect the intent of the foregoing recommendations.

Dated the 20th day of August, 1908, at Prineville, Oregon.

C. M. ELKINS,
I. L. KETCHUM,
T. H. LAFOLLETT,
T. M. BALDWIN,
WILL WURZWEILER,
J. O. POWELL,
Committee.

The meeting last Saturday night was more largely attended than the first railroad meeting the week previous, and enthusiasm was even more manifest. The promoters of the railroad returned to Bend on Sunday well pleased with the part Prineville is taking in the project.

The third mass meeting of the Central Oregon railroad undertaking will be held at P. A. C. hall, Prineville, next Saturday evening, Aug. 29, and every citizen should make it a point of duty to attend. It is now or never with Prineville, and Prineville must not be found wanting.
