

PRINEVILLE SCHOOLS ARE OPEN

Fair Attendance in All Grades, Many New Teachers, School Building Inadequate

School opened here Monday with fairly good attendance and all teachers at their posts. In other parts of Crook county most of the schools likewise began this week, though in some districts school has been in progress from one to two weeks. The skies were smiling almost as prettily as the children, the air was just crisp enough to impart vim into the legions of education and after all pupils had been enrolled they felt able to cope successfully with another year of study.

Enrollment in the city school Monday, the first day, was 165, divided as follows: First grade 25, second 22, third 20, fourth 21, fifth 23, sixth 17, seventh 17, eighth 20. By Wednesday the enrollment had increased to 172. Others will come in later.

Enrollment in both schools the opening day is always small, and it takes nearly a month to see all pupils in their seats.

A majority of the teachers are here the first time this year, though several have taught at Madras, Bend and other county points in past years. Nearly all are experienced teachers, and those without previous tutelage are eminently fitted for their duties as graduates of recognized seats of learning.

Prof. E. L. Ashby, principal of the Prineville school and teacher of the eighth grade, is a graduate of Western Maryland college at Westminster, Md., and comes here from Oakland, Md., his home. This is his first year in the chair, but he is well-fitted for the task and already has won the confidence and esteem of his score of pupils.

Miss Elsie Osborn, teacher of the seventh grade, is a graduate of the Crook county high school. This is her first year.

Louis H. Arensmeier, sixth grade, has taught at Paulina and other county schools but makes his initial bow in Prineville this fall.

Miss Jessie Hartley, fifth grade, comes here from Madras, where she formerly taught.

Miss Elva J. Smith, fourth grade, is also from Madras, and this is her first year here.

Miss Hazel Caldwell, third grade, comes here from her home at Bend, where she used to teach. She is a graduate of Monmouth normal.

Miss Alwilda Wilson, second grade, taught for six years at Albany and has been a teacher in the smaller towns of Crook county for several years past. She has had large experience.

Miss Cora Streitel, first grade, taught the same class here last year and is no stranger to the local school.

Very inadequate are the accommodations for the first and second grades, the pupils of which classes are housed in buildings on B street.

In the old bank building, where the first grade is, there are no windows on the east side; in the Odd Fellows building, where the second grade pupils are, the room is lighted by only three small windows, poorly placed, though the room is fifty feet long. Such accommodations are barnlike and woefully inadequate to the school needs of Prineville.

The high school faculty is well known. Prof. M. B. Hockenberry needs no further commendation or introduction here.

Miss Catherine Conway, teacher of Latin, was here last year.

Prof. J. F. Blanchard, who last year was principal of the graded city schools, is instructor in science and mathematics.

Miss Rose Parrott, from Roseburg, teaches English, American literature and history.

every evening following until the close of the meeting. Next Sunday three meetings will be held, all in the Methodist church, commencing at 11 o'clock, 2:30 and 7:30. There will be no preaching services in the other churches of the city, although each will hold regular Sunday school services.

Redmond News.

September 20. Several of the Redmond ladies celebrated their birthday Wednesday of the past week. Mrs. McClay, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Ehret and Mrs. Miller were those who were joined in the evening by some of their friends at the confectionery where a pleasant time was had. Numerous presents were received.

J. E. Lamb and sons will make a trip to the Madras country this week for feed.

The Ladies Aid Society held a very pleasant and profitable meeting with Mrs. Landes last Thursday. Much work was accomplished and business transacted. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Tinsley at O'Neil. Announcement will be made Sunday of their next social, preparations for which are already under way.

Mr. Dietzel of the Madras Milling Co. was a caller in this neighborhood the past week on a business visit to Silver Lake.

Mrs. Manderscheid has returned from an extended visit to Oklahoma.

Bennie McCaffery and wife have returned to Redmond from travels extending over several months, bringing Miss Bennie with them, too.

Last Monday Neighbor Smith went up to Sisters to look after the engine for the sawmill. Today we see him home again, whether temporarily or permanently we did not learn.

W. E. Young has gone with his family over the mountains for fruit. E. C. PARK.
