

Death of Mrs. Robert Moore.

Mrs. Robert Moore died at her home in Prineville Friday, October 2, after a long illness, aged 36 years and 5 days. The funeral and interment was held next day, Rev. J. D. Lewellen officiating.

Ida Smith Moore was born at Oak Grove, Wasco county, Oregon, September 28, 1872. She moved with her parents to Crook county in 1884, and in 1898 was married to Robert Moore of this city. She is survived by her husband, father and mother, five sisters and four brothers.

Mrs. Moore was converted four years ago, but never united with any church. Just before her death she said she realized the inevitable and was ready to go.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to convey my heartfelt appreciation to my neighbors and friends who so kindly aided me by their presence and sympathy during the long illness of my beloved wife. I trust that each and all of you will have the same ministering care that you so unselfishly bestowed upon me and mine. ROBERT MOORE.

Spray of the Falls.

CLINE FALLS, Or., Oct. 6.—Alfred Johanson is driving the Cline Falls and Prineville stage while Mr. Sroufe is a tending to other business.

Charles O'Neil passed through Cline Falls on his way to Sisters Saturday.

A gang of surveyors has been looking over the country southwest of Cline Falls. It is not known what railroad they represent.

Mrs. G. A. M. Lilly and Miss Elsie Northrup attended the educational meeting at Redmond Saturday evening. They report an interesting time.

The Cline Falls Sunday school has been reorganized. J. W. Harader is superintendent; Miss Elsie Northrup is secretary and treasurer.

There is to be a meeting at the school house at 8 o'clock Friday evening to organize a literary society.

W. M. Ogg and Loyd Harader are hauling lumber from the Sisters mills to build a house and barn on Clarence Pratt's place three miles from Redmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Voeburgh of Pleasant Ridge dined Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Cochran.

School has been in session here one month. All doing well.

Redmond News.

REDMOND, Or., Oct. 4.—W. R. Davidson made a trip to Shaniko, meeting his mother and bringing her in to spend the winter. This is a great country for mothers.

Mr. Lauderback is putting up a good house on his lots in town.

C. E. Pratt came in from Payette, Idaho, last week, bringing with him W. M. Ogg and family. He has hauled lumber and will begin building immediately, returning soon to Payette and leaving Mr. Ogg to do some clearing. Mr. P. expects to return here 'for keeps' about next June.

Our people were quite interested Saturday evening in the educational meeting held in the school house. State Supt. Ackerman gave pointers as to how he thought Oregon's school laws could be changed for the better, while Professor Alderman of the state university spoke among other things of the correspondence courses which the university is offering. A class will probably be formed here. Mrs. G. A. M. Lilly sang.

We understand that Mr. McEwing went to Prineville to be doctor for his game leg. The report was that he had gone east, and so he had but not very far. E. C. PARK.

SHORTEST GROWING YEAR ON RECORD

Naughty Eight a Freak Year---T. H. Lafollett Gives Some of His Experience in Farming in Crook County.

Frost of intensity sufficient to kill vegetables and freeze alfalfa manifested itself in central Oregon this year as late as June and as early as September, thus surpassing for shortness of the summer season any previous year in the annals of Crook county. West of the Deschutes river there was frost every month during the past summer, even in July and August, though the killing frosts were confined to May and June and September and October. In contrast with this deficiency was the last week in July, when the U. S. official thermometer in Prineville registered, according to the records kept by C. I. Winnek, 104 degrees, the highest on record. Thus in two extremes did the year 1908 break all known meteorological records for interior Oregon.

Farmers all agree that not only was this year exceptional in the matter of frost and high temperatures, with consequent shortness of growing season and torrid dryness in mid-summer, but that never before has the weather been so inimical to agricultural interests as in 1908. In speaking along these lines this week, T. H. Lafollette of this city, who settled in Crook county in 1871, said:

"Not in my experience in Crook county have I noted such a short season or one with so much frost as this year. People are prone to say these things, but I know whereof I speak when I say there was later frost in the spring and earlier frost in the fall this year than ever before.

"In 1879 I homesteaded a place at Powell Buttes (fourteen miles southeast of Prineville) and at once started in truck farming. For years, until 1896 when I sold the place, I raised successfully cucumbers, squashes, watermelons, tomatoes, onions, radishes, potatoes, etc. In only one year of the 17 did I have any serious trouble, when a killing frost descended one night in June and ruined my tomatoes, squashes and melons. In all other years I got full crops without difficulty and twice a week marketed them in Prineville. At my present place up the Ochoco I do not raise these things, confining myself to hay, principally alfalfa, but vegetables can be raised almost anywhere in the county.

"The day after my crops were knocked out that June I felt despondent, but quickly got busy and replanted them, late as it was. Had it been this year none of them would have matured, with frost in September, but that year the frost came late in October and I raised as good a crop as during any other year.

"I have successfully raised almost everything which can be raised on my Powell Buttes place, and the same can be done by anyone anywhere in interior Oregon. Corn will grow if sown in April; so will tomatoes and small fruits. Potatoes and all root crops should be set out in April, but tomatoes and more tender things ought to be planted late in May, in some cases resort being had to hot-houses, but not often."

The above interview with Mr. Lafollett is interesting at this stage in the development of what is practically a new country, as showing its agricultural possibilities, immunity from damaging frost 16 years out of 17, and what was accomplished as early as the year 1879.
