

Dr. Withycombe Pleased With Fair

Makes Prediction Of Great Future in Livestock and Agriculture

"What do I think of your county and your livestock exhibit at the Crook county fair?" reiteratively inquired Dr. James Withycombe, director of the Oregon experiment station at Corvallis, in reply to a like question put to him by a reporter. "Why, they're both all right, and I want to say right here that your fair management has laid the foundation of what some day will be the very best, or one of the best, fairs in Oregon east of the mountains. The fair reflects great credit alike upon its managers, your city and county."

Dr. Withycombe came here to judge the livestock, and spent the most of three days at the fair. This was his third visit to Crook county.

"What you have," continued the doctor, "is very good; especially are you strong in horses; of course, draught horses, showing that your farmers are taking firm hold of the matter of developing a large and profitable horse industry."

"There were only a small number of cattle shown, due largely I think to the abnormal season and consequent inability to fatten the heaves properly. But the herd shown by Mr. Biggs was certainly excellent, some of the animals being of great individual merit. These were Shorthorns, and there were a few good Jerseys. There were some good hogs; Poland Chinas, exhibited by Messrs. Breese, Windom and Springer. The sheep shown by the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company, though a small flock, were very fine."

"One point about the fair, or fair grounds, is that they are very conveniently located in relation to Prineville, more so than is usually the case elsewhere."

"Now, a few predictions. This is my third trip into Crook county, and each time I have noted perceptible progress in development of the stock industry and agricultural industry of this section. I also find the systems of farming changing from the range to more of a real farm condition; that while Crook county has been noted for its great ranges and the number of its livestock, it will become more noted for the great number of its small prosperous farms. The immense area of agricultural land in this county is pre-eminently suited for the livestock industry. There is no reason why the finest draught horses and the very best beef cattle, as well as sheep and hogs, should not be produced here in great numbers."

"The county's greatest need is transportation. The small farmer must be furnished transportation to enable him to market his diversified products."

"In the fair pavilion, the fruit display rather surprised me, the apples especially. Potatoes, also, were excellent and seemingly of very fine quality. Another surprise was your corn display, which shows conclusively the hospitality of the climate of Crook county. The exhibits at the pavilion have convinced me that Crook county has a much wider range of production than has generally been conceded to it."

"I am more than pleased to see the substantial improvement made in Prineville since I was last here. The stone bank, stone hotel and stone court house are three structures of which any town, even a city of 50,000 might well be proud. Not only are they substantial buildings, but it should be extremely gratifying to know that you have a native stone so well adapted to building operations. Another feature of your city is your fine high school building, an educational item all too frequently neglected in many places."

"Prineville is a coming city, and Crook county is one of the very best counties in Oregon."

DeMoss Lyric Bards Coming Next Monday

Xylophone, mandolin and piano playing, as well as music on other instruments, with fine vocal singing, is promised the Prineville public at the Methodist church next Monday evening, October 26, when the DeMoss lyric bards are to present themselves in this city. The admission will be 50 cents, reserved seats 60 cents, children 25 cents.

This quintet started their concert career in 1872 and have since visited every important city in the United States, Canada and Europe. They were engaged to give popular daily concerts, in 1893, at the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago, and have likewise played at the St. Louis exposition, the Omaha exposition and the Lewis & Clark fair held at Portland.

Harry DeMoss, the general manager, is the author and composer of "Sweet Oregon." George G. De Moss holds a certificate from the Royal Academy of Music, London, England, on the cello, cornet and for voice. Lizzie DeMoss is a noted violinist. Aurelia DeMoss is an accomplished player on the double bass. Waldo Davis is an expert on musical glasses, the xylophone, mandolin and piano.

COUNTY FAIR IS OVER.

Prineville and Harry Douthett of Haycreek divided the infantile honors in the latter division.

Many classes in both livestock and agriculture had no competition and intending exhibitors next year should make note of these in future.

Redmond News.

REDMOND, Oct. 20.—The people of Redmond are rejoicing this week for the double reason that Mr. E. C. Park is gone and Mrs. E. C. Park is coming. Mr. Park left on the early morning lumber wagon, Thursday, bound for Shaniko with a smile on his face that we hope the freeze didn't catch, to meet the Mrs., who has been gone and greatly missed for several months.

Work on the Central Oregon survey has been discontinued and the surveyors have scattered after making a permanent location on a line through the townsite.

Mrs. M. E. Landes has been called to Russel, Iowa, to the bedside of her father who is suffering a severe paralytic stroke. He is 72 years of age and at last account was not expected to recover.

W. McEwing who was reported sick with typhoid fever is much better and is now able to lounge around the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Louderback have moved to Sisters where Mr. Louderback is employed by Wilson Brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. O'Connor arrived in Redmond Friday evening after an unsuccessful attempt to cross the mountains, the pass being covered with snow.

A slight earthquake was felt in Redmond about 4:30 Monday afternoon, when Mr. Roscoe Howard escorted Senator Fulton through town.

Most of the ranchers in this vicinity have finished threshing and are well pleased with the yield.

Mrs. Ezra Eby has been very sick the past week.

Senator Fulton's large red automobile ran over Colonel Belcher's small black dog, striking it in such a way as to break the dog's neck and the Colonel's heart. The senator and all of us feel sorry for the colonel, but the dog was a democrat and might as well get it in the neck now as November 3d.

F. W. McCaffrey has moved his real estate office from the Hotel Redmond to the Frank Glass building.

G. W. Davies, the village blacksmith, made a trip to Prineville on business this week.

Chad Irwin is building a house on his eighty. It will be a home for his mother, whom he expects about November 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith are looking after affairs at the Orchard Poultry Totem Pole Ranch during the absence of Mr. E. C. Park.

Mr. G. W. Hall contemplates the erection of a 7-room house on his homestead a few miles south of town.

J. E. Lamb is building a large house and barn on his forty southeast of town.

A VOLUNTEER.

Spray of the Falls.

CLINE FALLS, Or., Oct. 20.—Jesse McKinney and family of Kahlotus, Wash., are at the Falls. He says he intends to locate either at Cline Falls or Redmond.

Jackson Taylor and family of northern Idaho have located on the old Moore place adjoining the townsite of Cline Falls.

Mr. Sroufe, manager of the Prineville-Sisters stage line, has remodeled his stage and treated it to a fresh coat of paint. I guess Mr. Sroufe expects to haul in a good many people in the future. All right, Mr. Stage Man, that's what we want.

Rev. Lowther preached at Cline Falls last Friday evening. The Methodists expect to hold regular services here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Harader spent Sunday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Cochran.

The entertainment given by the Literary Society Friday evening was a success in every respect. The music by the Cline Falls orchestra was good. The phonograph furnished some good selections. The recitations by the school children were fine, and the songs were all right. The debate, "Resolved, That it is more profitable to farm in a rainy country than in an irrigated country," was lively. The affirmative won.

Lively-Jordan-Lanius Co.

$250 a Day From Prineville.

It was developed in a speech by the third assistant postmaster general at the recent postmasters' convention in Portland, says a man now here who attended, that Sears, Roebuck & Co. receive daily through the Chicago postoffice 500,000 pieces of mail, principally letters. Twenty clerks alone are employed in the Chicago postoffice writing statements in the money order department, something like $200,000 daily being received by this one mail order firm.

Just for comparison, and to size up the mail order business in towns like Prineville—and there are thousands of them in the United States—it may be said that about $250 in money orders is sent daily from Prineville to all sources, requiring the time of one clerk two hours, while fully one-half of all mail sent from Prineville to Chicago goes to the three mail order houses of Sears, Roebuck & Co., John M. Smythe and Montgomery Ward & Co.

Few people realize the extent to which the local merchant everywhere loses trade to the Chicago houses that retail by mail; but then, Uncle Sam is willing, even if the people who pay the taxes are buncoed out of their right.

The state land board has taken under advisement an application of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Co. for a contract for the reclamation of 74,000 acres of land south and east of the present segregation. This new tract is known as the Benham Falls project. The company asks a lien of $30 an acre for reclaiming the land, but there are indications that the state board considers this sum too high. The board will send State Engineer Lewis to inspect the land and report before passing on the application.
