Fixity of Purpose.
 The man who succeeds above his fellow is the one who early in life clearly discerns his object and toward that object habitually directs his powers. Even genius itself is but fine observation strengthened by fixity of purpose. Every man who observes vigilantly and resolves steadfastly grows unconsciously into genius. — Bulwer-Lytton.
An Effective Role.
 A farmer was anxious that his son should become a minister, and for this laudable end he sent him to college for four years, but to his great disappointment the youth balked at the ministry and set himself up as a horse trader. The old farmer told his grief to a neighbor, who, however, took a more optimistic view of the matter.
 "Oh, I wouldn't feel so badly about that," he said. "As a horse trader Bill will probably lead more men to repentance than he ever would have done as a preacher."
No Sentiment.
 One day in Geneva Im D. Sankey entered a music box shop and asked to see some music boxes. The salesman graciously showed him a number, but none was what he wanted.
 "Have you none that play sacred music?" he asked.
 "Why," answered the salesman, "we have some that play a kind of half-way sacred music."
 "What?" inquired Mr. Sankey.
 "Oh, these Moody and Sankey hymns. I can't imagine what the people see in them, but we sell thousands of the boxes that play them. We have enormous orders for these boxes," continued the salesman, "from every part of Europe," and then he added apologetically, "it's a matter of business, you know, wita us."
 "By Jingo, that Favorite's a corker or a nickel!"

I. O. O. F. Installation.

Joint installation of the officers of the I. O. O. F., Odd Fellows' encampment and Daughters of Rebeekah was held in Odd Fellows' hall Saturday night, a large number of all three allied orders being in attendance.
 The ceremonies were opened with an address of welcome by Wade H. Huston, who then, on behalf of the lodge, presented John Luckey, one of its oldest members, with a fine gold-mounted emblematic fountain pen. The response to the address was made by Mrs. C. E. McDowell for the Rebeekahs.
The Work Horse.
 Work horses should be groomed twice a day.
 The harness should be removed as soon as the work is done.
 Never give food immediately after hard work. The stomach at that time is in no condition to receive food.
 The work horse should have a variety of food.
 Upon the clean condition of the skin the health of the horse largely depends.
 Horses are frequently troubled with brittle hoof, due to a deficiency of water in the bone, the result of fever.
 Keep a lump of salt in the manger.
 Never trot a horse downhill.
 Never put a dirty, rough bit in a horse's mouth.
 Don't leave a shoe on a horse more than four weeks.
 Do not allow the stable to be too tight during the summer time.
 Balking is caused by overloading, tight harness or abuse.
 Keep the manglers sweet and clean.
 The best time to clean the mud off the horse's legs is before it gets dry.
 The farm horse should be a walker, the road horse a trotter.
 For a horse to masticate four pounds of hay will require over an hour, half an hour for four pounds of whole oats and fifteen minutes for four pounds of ground feed.
 The following is recommended as an invaluable hoof remedy: Lins... oil, half pint; turpentine, four ounces; oil of tar, six ounces; organum, three ounces. Shake well.
