safe across the plate, tying the score then the game turned into a contest and everybody got busy playing ball. It was nip and tuck until in the eighth inning, when Hinkle got home for the score that won the game.

Balley relieved Ketchum as pitcher at the end of the fourth inning. Tetherow pitched for Redmond. He is the best ball player in the Redmond team—a fast runner, strong batter, a safe, heady man behind the bat, and a whip like greased lightning. In the box he pitches swift, straight ball, but the batters don't seem to connect with it always.

Dr. H. G. Davis umpired Sunday's game. The attendance was large, and no one was disappointed in the entertainment afforded.

One noticeable feature of all three games was the strong outfield. Any batter who put a ball into the air between the foul lines could bet he was out at 20 to 1.

The baseball tournament was the most entertaining event of the week and whenever Redmond and Prineville want to cross bats on the local grounds they will be assured of a good attendance.

A complete line of the best fishing tackle just arrived at Petett's.

Tygh until it becomes more evident what Harriman's intentions are. Whether he really intends building his Deschutes road or not is more than I feel capable of venturing an opinion upon.

"If the Deschutes road is built it is evident that it will take away much of the business that now comes to the Great Southern from the country east of the Deschutes river and the decision to extend the independent road is probably an effort to forestall any such move on the part of the Harriman line."

"The Great Southern has a capital of $300,000 and an authorized bond issue of $2,000,000. Its bonds are held by the stockholders of the road which include Portland business men."

 Kasparilla is the name of a new remedy most successfully prescribed for a "world of troubles." For derangements of the digestive organs it is a natural corrective, operating directly upon the liver and alimentary canal, gently but persistently stimulating a healthy activity. Its beneficial influence extends, however, to every portion of the system, aiding in the processes of digestion and assimilation of food, promoting a wholesome, natural appetite, correcting sour stomach, bad breath, irregularities of the bowels, constipation and the long list of troubles directly traceable to those unwholesome conditions. Kasparilla dispels drowsiness, headache, backache and despondency due to inactivity of the liver, kidneys and digestive tract. It is a strengthening tonic of the highest value.

Perry Cram Passes Away

Last Thursday evening, May 27, 1909, Perry Cram, one of the well known pioneers of the Pacific Coast, died at his home in Prineville, of heart failure. Mr. Cram was walking about the yard and suddenly fell over and expired. He was aged over 79 years. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the Baptist church, Rev. C. P. Bailey conducting the services. A large concourse of friends and relatives attended the remains to the Masonic cemetery, where interment took place.

Mr. Cram was born Sept. 17th, 1829, in Weare, New Hampshire. While quite young, his parents moved to Lowell, Mass., and from there back to Pellam, South Hampshire, where his college education was finished. At the age of 23 he immigrated to California, sailing from New York City via the Isthmus of Panama, the journey then requiring between three and four months. After one year spent in California he returned to his home in New Hampshire where, after remaining a year, he again returned to California, this time assisting in bringing a herd of cattle across the plains.

Once again in California he engaged in the livestock business until the year 1859, when he sold out his interest and again returned to his old home in New Hampshire where he was married to Miss Mary Scollay who survives him and at the present time is with her son, F. A. Cram, at Hood River. After his marriage Mr. Cram and his bride moved to Texas, where he again engaged in cattle raising. Owing to his intense loyalty to the north during the war of the Rebellion, he sold out in Texas in 1863 and moved to California where he continued in the livestock business for a number of years in Siskiyou county.

In the year 1880 he disposed of his interests in California and moved with his family to Wasco county, buying the toll road through Cow canyon where he resided for a number of years.

Some four years ago Mr. Cram retired from active business and at the time of his death was a resident of Prineville.

There were eleven children born to Mr. Cram and wife, ten of whom are now living, as follows:

Wardwell Cram, Prineville; Bidwell Cram, Cross Keys; Mrs. Mariah Booten, Post; W. S. Cram, South Bend, Wash.; Mrs. Chas. Butler, Port Townsend, Wash.; James and Henry S. Cram, Prineville; F. A. Cram, Hood River; Mrs. Bessie Steel, San Francisco; and Mrs. H. L. Vorse, Portland, Oregon.

Card of Thanks.
 On behalf of the members of the family I desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to our friends for the many courtesies and kindnesses, attendant on the death and funeral of our family.

BOX MANGERS.

They Cannot Be Properly Cleaned and Should Be Abolished.

That box mangers are an abomination is being appreciated by the recent barn builders. Since it is realized that they are not a necessity, but a danger, the best dairy farms are abolishing all racks and raised boxes used as mangers. The objections to having a small feeding compartment boxed closely around the cow's head are three—the box manger cannot be kept clean, and hence is a disease disseminator; it hinders ventilation, and it prevents the cow from feeding in a natural position.

With small corners and tall sides the box cannot be satisfactorily swept nor cleaned of the odd scraps of feed which collect. This accumulating dirt and dust becomes moldy and rotten and attracts flies and rats. It is further harmful in that it becomes gradually eaten by the cow and is harmful to her. The box manger affords a roosting place for chickens, whose droppings become mixed with the cow's feed, with injurious effects. The mangers do not thoroughly clean the box, but remove only the very largest pieces of dirt, the small particles and dust remaining being able to do as much harm as the larger ones.

A cow's neck is so formed that eating takes place with the greatest ease when the mouth is lowered to the level of the ground. If a cow eats without straining during swallowing she will eat and digest better, and her health and milk supply will profit accordingly. Therefore the feed for a cow should be placed at her feet and not a yard or two up in the air. The hay-racks placed above the cow's shoulders are entirely wrong.

A cow to be healthy requires all the fresh air it is possible to supply. Box mangers, partitions or other boarded barriers act as obstructions to the easy flow of air within the barn, and hence seriously check ventilation.

The farmer should not neglect to adopt the proper feeding trough by waiting until he builds a new barn. The old partitions and boxes should be removed and new feed troughs and stanchions constructed. The feed trough should be immediately in front of the stanchion and upon a level with the floor. If built of boards, it should be V shape.

A trough built of cement is the ideal. When such material is used, the trough should be concave, without corners. A square trough of boards or cement should not be built. The corners collect dirt, and into them the cow accidentally pushes her food, being unable to lick it from the angles.

The feed trough should be built with a slope, that water may flow its whole length. It should have no partitions or divisions. Such a trough can be used for watering the cows, the water from a hose being allowed to enter at the upper end, flowing down past each cow, which drinks at will.—Dr. H. R. Wood in Jersey Bulletin.
