I. MICHEL

The Leader. The Place to Save Money

The Settlers' Association have taken the stand that as all company agents in selling land have been giving verbal contracts to buyers that all land that could be irrigated on the tract bought would be irrigated for $1 per acre, whether mentioned in the contract or not.

All settlers who have been told by company agents that all excess land in their contracts would be watered by paying the $1 maintenance, come to this meeting or send your statement to H. F. Jones, secretary of the association.

Are the agreements of the company binding? Do they hold the company? The State Land Board wants to know just what representations were made by the company's agents when selling contracts before deciding this question, and for that reason they are coming to this district to find out personally.

There are eleven other disputed points in old contracts that the Settlers' Association have asked the Board to rule on at the same time.

Come out if you have any kick coming, or if you have any interest in the welfare of yourself or neighbors. By order,

D. I. P. SETTLERS' ASS'N.

Grounds for Settlers' Claim.

The Settlers' Association submits the following grounds for its claim: That all holders of old-form contracts are entitled to have all irrigable land watered for an annual maintenance charge of $1 per acre, regardless of the amount of reclamation company's lien as fixed by the state for the land.

First—The selling point used by all company salesmen and agents for land on which the lien was fixed at a price less than $500 was: That you only have to pay for this piece so much, or this 40 is only so much, and you can water so many acres more which will only cost you to water $1 per acre, and you get so much land free, in nearly every case, in the salesmen's estimation, the state contour fixing the cost of lien, had been underestimated; attention was also called by agents to the memoranda in the contract to the following clauses (to prove to the prospective purchaser) that the company was compelled to furnish water to all land the owner could reclaim by removing the rock, or that had been underestimated in the lien.

Rule one in the company's contract provides that the D. I. & P. Co., its successors and assigns, shall be required to furnish a supply of water sufficient to thoroughly irrigate and reclaim each tract and to prepare it to raise ordinary agricultural crops.

Clause one in contract—The cost of the land to the settler is the amount of the lien for cost of reclamation, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from proof of date of reclamation.

Clause two in contract—The contract for the reclamation of this land provides and fixes the sum of $1 per acre per annum for each acre of land reclaimed, as and for the annual charge for maintenance of the irrigation system.

Clause three in contract; rule No. 3—Water shall be delivered to the lands of each settler at the highest practicable point or points which can be reached by gravity flow, which point or points are best adapted to reclaimed all the irrigable lands owned by such settler.

Old-form Application and Agreement approved by the State Land Board, makes no mention, either express or implied, of the amount of irrigable acres in the contract, either as fixed by the state or contoured by the company, and we believe the majority of contract holders paid the company's claim for maintenance for 1906 and 1907 without question, secure in the belief that if the company could water all their land regardless of amount paid for it; the company was entitled to the amount of such maintenance and they could always demand water for the entire acreage, if wanted, as called for in their contract.

The D. I. & P. Co. for the years 1905, 1906 and 1907, charged and collected maintenance on all land con-

Band Secures Liberal Support

During the past week representatives of the Prineville Concert Band canvassed the business houses of the town with a subscription list for the support of the organization and were so successful that the band is placed in better financial condition than it has ever been. The subscriptions will not only supply funds for all the running expenses of the band but will also provide funds for the gradual purchase of a complete set of new instruments, which will remain the permanent property of the town. The subscription list is virtually a contract between the band and the subscribers, and provides that the band is to play a weekly concert on the streets and also play gratis for any public occasion at which no admission is charged, at the request of the officers of the Commercial Club. This agreement covers all such occasions as the Fourth of July, etc., for which the band will not receive any special remuneration. The band men are not endeavoring to make money for their personal use, but are trying to build up a first-class musical organization, and the hearty spirit of co-operation shown by the business men of the town has been a great encouragement to the members.

Redmond Won Game.

The Prineville baseball team went to Redmond last Sunday afternoon and were beaten in a practice game by the Redmond boys to the tune of 19 to 6. The locals attribute their defeat to the fact that they had neither of their star pitchers, Bailey or Ketchum, and from all reports the game was nothing to compare with the sport put up by the two teams in Prineville during the race meet. Frank Foster, Alva Whitsett and Horace Belknap all took a turn on the mound, and "threw" for Prineville, while the lineup during the game makes such a conglomeration of players and positions that the Journal refuses to print it. Those who went from this place were: Pete Hinkle, Frank Foster, Alva Whitsett, Horace Belknap, George Storkmann, Bert Barnes, Peg Belknap, Edgar Barnes and Pete Barnes.

Settlers Aroused.

pose of getting evidence to submit to the State Land Board on their visit to Redmond in the near future, as to whether the D. I. P. Co. under their contract with the state, can collect $40 per acre for all excess acreage in old contracts, in addition to $1 per acre maintenance, or refuse to furnish water for more acres than paid for in contract (State contour of irrigable acres).

The members of the Settlers' Association have taken the stand that under all old-form contracts the D. I. & P. Co. is bound by its agreement with the settlers to furnish all land susceptible to irrigation, irrespective of the amount paid for release of company's lien on the land, at $1 per acre per annum.

The D. I. & P. Co. have taken the stand that under their contract with the state, dated June 17, 1907, they are entitled to collect $10 per acre for all excess acreage in old contracts not paid for, as shown by the sale price (as fixed as the irrigable acreage in the amount of their lien on the land), in addition to $1 annual maintenance for the excess acreage, before furnishing the additional water for old contracts.
