Peddlers' License Law.

yet been established. Recently Judge Bradshaw convicted two men for peddling buggies in Waco county. The case went to the supreme court and the decision was in favor of the peddlers on the ground that the law conflicts with interstate commerce laws, and furthermore is in conflict with the Constitution of the United States in that it abridges the rights of citizens.

The attorney general's letter to Stroud Bros. follows:

SALEM, June 8, 1909.

Gentlemen: Replying to yours of the 4th instant, asking opinion of this office as to whether the peddlers' license law, being chapter 229 of the laws of 1903, will permit farmers et al, to slaughter their beef and come into town and sell, where they pay no taxes, and have no market in town, or interests of any nature, permit me to say that in my opinion it will not, for the reason that section 1 of said chapter 229, provides as follows:

"And provided further, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any incorporated city or town, which, by its charter, is vested with power or authority to license peddlers, or hawkers, or itinerant vendors."

And I find, on examination of the special laws of 1909, page 901, the charter of the City of Prineville, and section 25 of chapter 5, subdivisions 5 and 6, reads as follows:

"Subdivision 5. To license and tax all business, professions, and occupations, which in their judgment should contribute to the revenues of the city.

Subdivision 6. To license, tax and regulate auctioneers, drummers, commercial travelers, hawkers, peddlers, pawn brokers, places of public amusement or entertainment, including theaters, operas, exhibitions, shows and circuses."

You will notice that said last subdivision expressly mentions peddlers, and that, taken in connection with the reference above made to the proviso in section 1 of said chapter 229, laws of 1903, expressly excepting from the operation of the act incorporated cities, which by their charters are vested with power and authority to license peddlers, hawkers, etc., plainly indicates the intention of the legislature to except cities and incorporated towns from the operation of the act.

Therefore, I am of the opinion that said peddlers' license does not apply to the city of Prineville.

Very respectfully yours,
A. M. CRAWFORD,
Atty. General.

Dressmaking.

Mrs. Nora Baker and Mrs. James Dyer, have formed a partnership and will go into the dressmaking business at the latter's home in this city. Wedding trousseaus a specialty, but will do all kinds of work. Call on the ladies. 63

Castrating Pigs.

The work should always be done in the morning, as they will move about during the day and thus escape much of the soreness that would follow evening work. When done in the evening and they go at once to their beds and remain till morning, they become out very stiff. Pigs that are ruptured should be castrated as soon as they are large enough; the older they get the greater the risk of total loss. The work should be done, if possible, before the heat of the season or day becomes excessive. When very warm it is easy to overheat a pig in high flesh and kill him. When it is warm a cool pen about the building should be selected, and it will be an aid to dampen the floor well. The work is always more pleasant as regards cleanliness if the floor of the pen is well covered with clean straw.

Test the Wool.

In keeping ewe lambs for breeders it is a good plan to test the strength of their wool. Take samples of all the ewe lambs and see which threads are the strongest. Tough fiber may be transmitted from one generation to the next as well as other good characteristics.
