LOCAL MENTION

Max Hofer is now clerking for J. E. Stewart & Co.
 J. W. Carlson and wife are home again from Portland.
 Henry Windom is in town this week from his home at Culver.
 Bidwell Cram of Trout creek, was visiting his brothers here Friday last.
 C. L. Roberts returned last Friday from a visit to Willamette valley points.
 A. W. White is building a new residence just west of the Pointed r skating rink.
 Bring in your precinct exhibits. Two prizes are offered, $20 to first and $10 to second.
 Mrs. Ridy Pond of Illinois, sister of Hugh Lister, is visiting old friends and relatives in Prineville.
 Miss Wills Combs, who has been working in Portland for about a year, is home for the winter.
 Mrs. Naomi Salomon of Salem is in Prineville on business. Read her notice in the classified local column.
 C. L. Shaftuck left Wednesday for The Dalles, to bring back a White Steamer auto for the Cornett Stage Company.
 Chas. Allen, the boy who is serving a 30 day sentence in the county jail is reported ill with typhoid fever. He has been removed from the jail and is receiving careful attention.
 W. Frank Pettit, Widd Barnes, All Effeon and Jack Chambers made up a party last Friday evening; and went to the dance at Lamonta in Hodson's auto. Other Prineville people who attended the ball were Gid Amstead, Oscar Pross and wife and Misses Bertha Huffman and Edna Long. They all report an enjoyable time.
 Lyman McCord was in town this week for several days, having come in for some repairs for a threshing machine, which he is operating this season in the Mad Springs section east of Madras. He reports grain crops as turning out far better than the owners expected and the grain of high quality. Prices, too, are away up, rolled barley is now selling at Madras at $2.25 per hundred.
 The ladies auxiliary of the Prineville Commercial Club met for the first time Tuesday afternoon since the holidays. Refreshments were served and a pleasant afternoon spent by the ladies. The only new business was the appointment of a committee composed of Mrs. D. F. Stewart, Mrs. C. W. Elkins and Mrs. Lanina, to make arrangements for an entertainment to be given the club some time about the first of November. It was also decided to employ a librarian for the club instead of leaving the duties of this to the volunteer services of auxiliary members. Miss Louise Summers will act in this capacity every Tuesday evening.

LOCAL MENTION

Born—To the wife of Ralph Porily, Wednesday, October 6, a son.
 Miss Elva Dobbs opened the Slayton school Monday for the fall term.
 Roy Gray and Dick and Frank Long have gone to the fair at Seattle and will also spend several days at Portland while away.
 Morgan's orchestra has resumed rehearsals for the winter, meeting every Monday evening for practice. This organization plans for great progress this season.
 George Whited of Heppner, has accepted a position as salesman with Clifton & Cornett at the brick store. William Ledford, (Kentuck) who has had charge of the Cornett stage office in Prineville has also been transferred to the store, the stage business is being looked after by George Reams.
 In the Bend justice court last Thursday the ownership of the disputed cow, mention of which was made last week, was decided in favor of J. H. Wood, the claim of Adam Kotsman to the animal being denied by Justice Merrill.
 Cobble Stroud has sold his interest in the O. K. Market to H. E. Cross, and the firm will hereafter be Stroud Bros. & Cross. The family of Mr. Cross arrived from Jefferson last week and are located in the Baptist church residence property on west fifth street.
 J. S. Fox, formerly of the "Timberman" of Portland, has located in Prineville and is now acting as secretary for the county fair association. Besides being a newspaper man, Mr. Fox is a bookkeeper and stenographer, and has opened a public office with Attorney M. R. Biggs.
 Gus Monner and Dave Burden were in town Wednesday from Agency Plains, bringing in big loads of wheat. They received 78 and 16 cents per bushel. They report the Harriman railroad forces tearing up the earth at Porter Spring canyon and on the plain north of Madras.
 Arch Powell was up from Madras the last of the week. He reports the soft drink business flourishing at Madras, where he and Ralph Sharp have an establishment. He says that there are no lots for sale in Madras at less than $250 each, prices ranging from that figure up to $1000.
 The county clerk refuses to handle any more green coyote hides. The scent is too utterly too too. He insists that the hides be thoroughly dried before they are brought to his office. He says he is tired of piling weights on them to hold them in one place. Like old cheese, they want to crawl around.
 Outside papers seemed to have our fair dates mixed. The Rural Spirit and Pacific Homestead have got it too early. As a result some Willamette valley stock got here the first of the month and when they found the fair was not to take place until October 19-23, left for home. We hope these papers will make the correction.

LOCAL MENTION

Ed Parker of Bear creek, is spending several days in town this week.
 J. H. Reams, manager of the Cornett Stage Company, was over from Shaniko this week looking after business.
 T. F. McCallister and family have moved into their property next door to the Journal office, and opened a boarding house.
 Perry Long left Wednesday for a visit in the Willamette Valley. He expects to go to the Foley Springs for the benefit of his health.
 Drs. Gray, dentists, are at the Prineville and will remain for a week or ten days. See their announcement elsewhere in this issue.
 The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a dinner on Friday (October 22) during fair week. Home cooking. Everybody invited.
 The duck season for Crook county does not open until October 15. In ignorance of this fact several hunters have already been out. Ducks seem to be plentiful this year.
 George Ritchie, the operator in the Moving Picture Show, has sold out his interest to his partner, Mr. Brosius, who will conduct the business in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie left for Portland the first of the week.
 The ladies of the Christian church will give an ice cream social tomorrow (Friday) afternoon and evening at Belknap hall. There will be chicken sandwiches, coffee, cocoa, sherbet, ice cream and cake, etc. Doors open from 5 to 9 p. m.
 John Alden Seabury, famous here, is now publishing a frank paper at Moclips, Wash., the Moclips Ocean Wave. It has the distinction of being published farthest west of any paper in the United States, right on the brink of the ocean. Our advice to the editor would be to go a little farther west.
 Miss Hilda Sundquist met with an accident near the Gibson ranch while horseback riding the last of the week. She was found by the roadside in an unconscious condition by some druggists who took her to a nearby farm house and telephoned Dr. Rosenberg. An examination by the doctor showed that the girl was not seriously hurt, other than receiving several hard bumps and bruises.
 Rev. John Lewtas of Tacoma, Wash., will begin meetings at the Methodist church next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Lewtas comes very highly recommended as a preacher and also as a singer. He believes in singing the gospel as well as preaching it. Besides being an evangelist, Mr. Lewtas has traveled extensively in Europe and the Holy Lands. We most cordially invite the public to attend these services. All who attend will not only be entertained but edified and strengthened in the Christian faith. J. D. Lewellen, Pastor.

LOCAL MENTION

Orange Hodges has returned from a trip to the valley.
 Frank Marion of Laidlaw, is spending the week in town.
 Adam Kotsman was in Prineville today attending to business.
 Miss Hazel Windom of Culver, was visiting friends in Prineville today.
 Dr. and Mrs. Belknap made a trip to Laidlaw in their auto last Friday.
 All Parkey was in today from Agency Plains with a big load of wheat.
 George Stevens was over from Sisters the first of the week greeting old friends.
 Mike Christian, a well known resident, is very low at his home in Prineville.
 J. R. Terrell and son, E. S. Terrell, of O'Neil, were transacting business today in Prineville.
 Mrs. R. S. Price returned from a visit to Portland and the A-Y-P Exposition on today's stage.
 C. T. Hubbard, who is holding a squatter's claim on the Matoles, was in Prineville several days this week.
 Mrs. William Crites died at The Dalles last week. She was well known here having spent a large part of her life in this county.
 Forest Supervisor A. S. Ireland has gone to the Portland headquarters to assist in the office work there during the next two months.
 The Crook County Sunday School Association will meet at Redmond on November 5, 6, and 7. Plans are being formulated for a big attendance.
 Johnny Howard of Lower Bridge, went to Shaniko this week to meet his wife and baby who are returning from a visit in the Willamette Valley.
 Tom Armstrong has eight head of horses owned by local parties now in training at the fair grounds. The racing events promise high class sport during the fair, Oct. 19 to 23, inclusive.
 Sheridan Shroufe says he has sold his Sisters stage line to S. Scott and will settle at Shaniko soon. He expects to again engage in the freighting business if the prospect looks good, although he may not begin hauling until spring.
 Rev. Charles T. Radford is the name of the new minister for the Christian church. He and his wife and children arrived Wednesday night. Rev. Radford will preach in Prineville the third and fourth Sunday of each month, at the Union church.
 Last week Alex Mackintosh shipped 17,000 head of mutton sheep from Shaniko to Great Falls, Montana, where they will be fed for the Chicago market. Mr. Mackintosh was unfortunate in having to wait on cars at Shaniko, and had to lay over at the railroad terminus four days longer than he anticipated, being to the extra expense of feeding the sheep during that time.

Pound and a Half of Beef to Each Man

Joe Howard was in the city today from Lower Bridge. Mr. Howard states that associated with him in the contract for supplying beef for the construction crews of Porter Bros. while building the Hill road from the Columbia to Madras are Messrs. Z. M. Brown and Charles Horton, of Klamath county. He says that the Journal's account of the fact last week was a little too high in the estimate of the amount of beef that will be required, the basis on which they figure being about 1 1/2 pounds daily for each man employed on the work.
 Mr. Howard states that he and his associates will buy what Crook county cattle they can so long as the price does not go above that of the outside markets. They now have 40 head of cattle on feed in Klamath county, and expect soon to have more than double that number feeding in a few weeks. The Hill forces are putting more men to work each week which will gradually increase the beef supply in proportion. Eight surveying crews are now working between the mouth of Trout Creek and the Columbia on the Hill road. Some of the meat may be brought in from Portland. This contract calls for the delivery of meats anywhere between Madras and at or near Gellio, and Mr. Howard believes it is probable that the Oregon Trunk is planning to bridge the river at Gellio to make connection with the North Bank line.
