Wind Up of Races at the Fair Grounds

The racing events during the last three days of the fair drew out large crowds. The races were none of them close, the winner, as a rule, finishing all the way from one to six daylight ahead.

The first contest on Thursday, was a saddle horse race, three-eighths of a mile for a purse of $50. It was won by Alex Hinton's horse, Art Warzweiler's second. Time 39 1/2.

The next was the half mile, which was won by Maine, with Colusa Boy second and Evermore third. Time 33 1/2. Purse $150.

In the mile dash the interest centered in the comparative speed of Confederate, Barber's real race horse, and Yankee Boy, the sorrel horse brought here from Roseburg by the Dixon boys. Confederate won by about 60 feet over Yankee Boy and perhaps by so doing has effectually cleared up any doubt in the minds of those who thought the sorrel could out run him. Maid of Crook, a young mare owned by Dick Biggs also entered in this race. During this race Jockey Wilson on Yankee Boy, claimed he was being crowded into the rail by Confederate and used his quirt on Barber a good part of the way around the track. The trouble came near ending in a riot after the race. Wilson was ruled off the track for the rest of the meet. The time for the mile was 1:48 1/2 and the purse was $250.

The last race for Thursday was the two year old trot, which was won by one of Dick Biggs' youngsters. Purse $100.

On Friday the first event was the three and a half furlong race. Brandly, Pilgrim Rose, Colusa Boy and Whiskey Bill started, finishing in the order named. Time 43. Purse $150.

In the mile and one-eighth, Confederate, Yankee Boy and John H. started, finishing as named. Time 1:58. Purse $400.

On Friday the handicap race failed to fill and a consolation race was made up for John H., Maid of Crook and Evermore to compete for, over a five-eighths course. They finished in the order named. Time 1:05 1/2. Purse $50.

This was followed by a two-year-old trot for Crook county horses and was won by Dick Biggs.

A squaw race, seven furlongs, was arranged as an entertainment. There were four entries, and the gray horse won.

Thinks Grain Crop Will Double

That Central Oregon will, within a few years, double the cereal crop of the whole Pacific Northwest is the belief of Theodore B. Wilcox, president of the Portland Flouring Mills. When opened up by the railroads now building, an immense acreage will be thrown open to wheat raisers.

"In Central Oregon," said Mr. Wilcox, "there are millions and millions of acres of land which, unless I am greatly mistaken in the nature of the soil, will be excellent for grain growing without irrigation. Out of this vast territory there must be at least 2,500,000 acres available for wheat. There is as large an acreage as is now in wheat in Oregon and Washington. All that is needed to open up this great territory is a railroad and with two lines now entering that section, it will be only a matter of a short time before the country will develop. Nor will the increased yield reduce prices. With such a condition of affairs as now exists, there is no danger of lessened prices through the exploitation of wheat fields in Central Oregon."

Hill Irrigation Project.

"howling" wilderness has been so great, through lack of transportation facilities, that no private corporation could develop a project and furnish the farmers with cheap water.

The Central Oregon farmers have for years been pleading with the Government to develop this Crooked River project, but so little progress has been made that the interior has given up hope of receiving any benefit under a public reclamation plan. This was one of the things that was pointed out to John F. Stevens, president of the Oregon Trunk, when he made his mysterious trip through Oregon under the name of James F. Sampson, last June and July. And one of the first steps which the Hill crowd took after they came out in the open was to lay plans for taking the whole project over from the Government and develop it as a private scheme.

According to a man who is close to the Oregon Trunk and the Inland Empire Company, the private project will be able to supply water to 200,000 acres of land at from $30 to $50 an acre, conveying to the farmer perpetual water-rights at that figure. At $30 an acre, the scheme involves about $6,000,000 and at $50 it will involve $10,000,000.

What method the Oregon Trunk people will employ in cutting up these tracts which have already been acquired and which are held under option and which are being negotiated for, cannot be learned. The price paid for some of the larger tracts have run from $15 to $25 an acre. Some of the tracts have cost considerably more.

The gobbling up of one-half the townsite of Madras, with about 2000 acres of good agricultural and fruit land immediately to the East, a deal which was negotiated by Vice-President V. D. Williamson some weeks ago, is taken to indicate that Madras is to be the terminus of the Oregon Trunk for the time being. It is a common point on both the Deschutes Railway (Harriman) and the Oregon Trunk, both of which expect to reach there by the middle of next summer.

Buggy Upsets Into Irrigating Ditch

Charles Hindman of Sisters got his collar bone smashed to smithereens last Sunday forenoon when his team became frightened at a motor cycle on the grade just below Crooked River bridge and left the road, rolling the buggy in which Mr. Hindman and his wife were riding, into the big irrigating ditch just below.

Mr. and Mrs. Hindman had started to their home at Squaw creek after attending the county fair, and when they were on the grade met Roy McCallister on a motor cycle. McCallister dismounted and Mr. Hindman started to drive past him when the team made a lunge and pulled the buggy out of the road over the edge of the grade, and the rig upset and rolled into the canal. Mrs. Hindman was not hurt more than to receive some bad bruises, but Mr. Hindman's collar bone was broken into a dozen pieces.

He was at once brought back to town and is at the home of Mrs. George Stevens, his step-daughter.

Drs. Gray & Gray, the dentists now at the Prineville, are busy from morning until night and will not be able to get away from town for another week. Parties having work to be done should call and make dates ahead. o21
