The Cold Stays Out and the Style Stays In when you're wearing a Sincerity overcoat. Warm enough for the keenest cold, but light enough not to be a burden. The makers reshrink fabrics that come from the mill marked "fully shrunk" 'till the loss is 15 per cent—that's their loss. As a result the style stays in—that's your gain. And every stitch—every bit of work on a Sincerity garment is directed towards making the style more than the looks. And all carry the Sincerity label as a pledge to you of the WEAR AHEAD of the garment that bears it. High qualities at medium prices.

New Saw Mill

Located at Gist.

Several large tracts of timber land have just been purchased by Wm. Burkhard, of Gist, with a view to furnishing timber for the new saw mill at that place.

The mill owned by Mr. Spoo of Lebanon it to be located near the junction of Three Creek Draw, and the Company ditch. Mr. Burkhard is well and favorably known here, while Mr. Spoo, though a more recent arrival, has been in the section long enough to make many friends and prove his real worth of character. With such men as these at the head of the new enterprise its success is assured.

Oregon Trunk Buys Chunk of Hillman

Twenty-seven acres in the center of the townsite of Hillman, the new townsite just south of Trail Crossing has been transferred to the Oregon Trunk Line Railroad company. The consideration mentioned in the deed was "$1 and other valuable considerations."

"One of the conditions of the transfer of this property was that the Oregon Trunk Line build a class "A" freight and passenger station on it and such switches and sidetracks as would be necessary," says F. P. Cooper, president of the investment company. "The property consists of 27 1/2 acres in section 16, township 1, range 13 east of Willamette meridian. Hillman is to be on the lines of both the Oregon Trunk and the Deschutes railroad and we hope to make it one of the most important of the central Oregon cities."

Keep Up the Farm.
It is of the greatest importance that we keep up the fertility of our farms. No good farmer will try to sell off everything produced on his farm unless he purchases large quantities of fertilizer, because he knows his land will become exhausted by so doing. The farmer who sells off his hay and other crops, keeping little or no live stock and returning nothing to the soil, is pursuing a very shortsighted course and will soon find that his farm will produce nothing to sell because the soil has become exhausted.

Causes of Barn Fires.
According to insurance estimates, about 40 per cent of barn fires are caused by lightning, 10 to 15 per cent by carelessness and the balance by various causes, including incendiarism.

Barley as a Hog Feed.

While corn in the most of our territory is considered the great fattening grain, various tests have shown that other grains may be substituted in a great many cases. At some of our stations barley has been tested in comparison with corn, the result being very favorable to the barley. In general, it may be said that the results have shown that barley is not quite equal to corn, pound for pound, but is very close to it, and when we consider the high quality of the carcass produced by barley feeding we may almost say it surpasses corn as a grain for producing a high grade of pork.—Farmers Advocate.

Poultry Notes.
Keep the drinking fountains clean and filled with fresh water.
Feed mash at noon, grain in the morning and night.

Insect powder sprinkled in the hen's feathers and kerosene oil with a weak solution of carbolic acid applied on the roosts is a good treatment for lice.
If hens get constipated, give one feed of wet mash with epsom salts, one tablespoonful to fifteen hens. It has been found by experience that hens do as well on dry mash as moist.

For roup give permanganate of potash the size of a chestnut daily in a gallon of drinking water.

Alfalfa For Dairy Cattle.
Alfalfa is exceedingly rich in protein, the element in which corn and other crops are deficient, and hence it serves admirably as a balance to the feeding ration, saving the purchase of high priced feedstuffs, such as wheat bran. It is this high quality that makes it especially prized as a factor in dairy husbandry. It supplies the one requisite which Providence had apparently failed to provide in establishing the otherwise ready made conditions for dairying in Kansas.—F. D. Coburn, Secretary Kansas Department of Agriculture.
