Wool Growers Take Up Imporeant Matters

At the twelfth annual convention of the Oregon Wool Growers' Association, which was held at Pendleton, practically every subject that could possibly affect the sheep industry was thoroughly discussed, says the Journal. On all the more important subjects from the wool schedule in the new tariff law to the value of mutton as a food product the convention adopted resolutions.

To the Oregon representatives in congress the wool growers extended their thanks for the effective work done in helping to retain the Dingley schedule on wool.

The government was called upon to provide adequate inspection to prevent the importation of shoddy and other counterfeits of wool.

Attention was called to the sheep killing outrages on the range, and the opinion expressed that depredations of this character had decreased during the past year. Indorsement was given the work of the United States bureau of animal industry in the suppression and eradication of sheep diseases.

The authorities of Wyoming and Montana were asked to raise the quarantine against Oregon sheep for the reason that the disease known as "scabbies" had entirely disappeared from among the flocks of this state.

The practice of the railroads in delaying sheep in transit was declared to be without just cause and as frequently resulting in serious loss to the shipper. A demand was made for lower freight rates on shipments of wool to the eastern market; and the state railroad commission was commended for its efforts to bring about a general readjustment of freight rates.

Attention was called to certain evils existing in the administration of the forest reserve relative to the grazing of livestock thereon and the government called upon to correct these evils. Approval was given the principle of forest preservation by means of forest reserves, the convention declaring that it was not opposed to forestry policy. Sheep growers throughout the state were called upon to wage vigorous warfare on coyotes and other sheep killing animals to the end that the state may be freed from these destructive pests.

Will Kiss for $2500 Fund

The ladies of Temple Emanuel Church, Chicago, have undertaken to liquidate their church debt in a novel way. The scheme is this, says a Chicago special:

Twenty-five hundred dollars' worth of kisses—real lip-to-lip kisses, not candy kisses—are to be disposed of at the North Side Turner Hall. The kisses are to be purveyed by 25 chic and charming young women, to all comers, and the money is to go to raise the debt of the Temple Emanuel.

The bill of fare for the evening will run as follows:

Snippy snaps (fine for bashful young men), 25 cents.

Kiss carrees (for old women and elderly married women), 25 cents.

Smushy smacks (for uncles, grandfathers and aged widowers), 50 cents.

Kiss direct (for folks who are kiss broken) 50 cents.

Kiss ardent (for bold bachelors), 75 cents.

Soul kiss (for bolder bachelors), $1.

Kiss furious (only one or two to be sold during evening), $2.50.

Four thousand tickets already have been sold, netting $2000.

Five hundred dollars, it is expected will be realized from other features of the bazaar, leaving $2500 to be raised by kisses.

70 YEARS

There are two kinds of whiskey.
One is—the other isn't.

The kind that IS contains all the constituents that come from proper distillation and ageing—That's what makes it REAL whiskey.

The kind that ISN'T is made of alcohol, prune juice and bead oil or is simply alcohol put in charred barrels, and branded whiskey.

The Pure Food Law aims at having the consumer get exactly what he calls for.

When you call for whiskey ask your dealer if it will respond to a government laboratory test.

Ask him if he guarantees it.

Then you will know what you are paying your money for.

Buy the brand you know, the standard for 70 years.
