

CITY COUNCIL.

Health and Police—Dr. J. H. Rosenberg, chairman; J. B. Shipp, W. Gram.

Judiciary—Wardwell Cram, chairman; George Stormann, W. Gram.

The floating indebtedness of the city is shown by the report of the committee to be $2,125.79. This is a reduction during the past year by $399.18.

"Except for the bonded indebtedness of $10,000 the city of Prineville will be out of debt at the close of this year," says Councilman Shipp, "and will be on a cash basis."

The report of the committee follows in full:

Prineville, Oregon, Jan. 4, 1910. To the Mayor and Council of the City of Prineville, Gentlemen.

We your finance committee beg leave to report as follows: That we have examined the report of the city Treasurer and find the same correct. We also examined the report of Wade Huston, Ex-Marshal and find same correct.

On January 1st, 1909, the outstanding indebtedness exclusive of the bonded indebtedness was approximately $234.97. The present indebtedness to January 1st is as follows:

Outstanding warrants... $ 1,989.57

Interest on same... 59.68

Bills passed last night... 174.51

Expense of election... 24.00

$2,247.76

The treasurer has sufficient funds on hand to pay interest on bonds, and a balance of $99.77 with $22.00 to be collected from water rents makes a credit of $121.77.

This amount deducted from $247.56 leaves a floating indebtedness of $2,125.79, and a reduction of the city's indebtedness during the year 1909 of $399.18.

Respectfully submitted, Jno. B. Shipp, Chairman. Jesse Yancey. A. H. Lippman.

The first regular council meeting for the year was held Tuesday evening with every member of the council and all the other city officers present. The work of the year will be taken up with a vim, and the city is promised a straight up business administration, very different from the old haphazard regime that prevailed up to the beginning of the last year. The men now in charge of the city's affairs make it their business to know "where the city is at" and endeavor to meet the problems confronting them with the same business ability they would apply to their private affairs.

City Treasurer C. E. Smith appeared before the council, his bond in the sum of $2000 was approved, and he was sworn into office.

Attorney M. R. Elliott brought to the council the lately prepared plats of Newsom's addition to Prineville, to be inspected by the council before they were presented to the county court for final approval. The plats were entirely satisfactory to the city and were approved. The finance committee was instructed to secure a copy of the plat to be placed in the city hall. Newsom's addition embraces that part of town east of Main or "A" street and north of the Ochoco. From Main street east the streets are named East B, Nichols, East D and so on in order to East I street. Commencing at the bridge across Ochoco the streets are numbered as follows: The one running east and west, south of Mrs. Dillon's property is 5 1/2 street. The next one north is East 5th, and so on to East 12th, which is near the water reservoir. The filing of the plat with the county court carries with it the dedication of the streets in this addition, which action has never been fully taken. Now all the streets will be opened and this part of the city will be ready for improvement.

No more will the doleful tolling of the funeral bell be heard in Prineville if Dr. Rosenberg has his way. He announced that he had in course of preparation an ordinance abolishing this relic of barbaric customs. He stated that he did this in the interests of those who are sick and nervously inclined inasmuch as they were often thrown into a state of nervousness and depression by the doleful tolling. Mr. Lippman stated during the discussion that many states had laws abolishing all Sunday funerals, and also prohibiting the taking of a corpse into a church building. However, Dr. Rosenberg's ordinance will only cover the tolling of the bells. It will probably be passed by the council.

The curfew measure was also discussed. The council was of unanimous opinion that the curfew law was a good one, and Marshal Keiso was instructed to enforce it.

At the annual meeting of the old council and the meeting held Tuesday evening the following bills were allowed:

Annie Maling, rent... $25 00 ripened fruit on the same day. Apples, peaches, prunes and cherries are also grown at Tetherow Bridge, eight miles northwest of Redmond.

Commercial orchards are now being set out on the high table lands. Edward White has a thrifty young growth of hardy apple trees doing well on a 25-acre, non irrigated tract near Madras, but the trees have not yet reached the bearing stage. Near Prineville farmers have home orchards that are demonstrating the adaptability of the country to fruitgrowing.

In the irrigated districts surrounding Redmond practically every settler is setting out a home orchard, while a few are devoting their attention to commercial orchards. On a tract of 45 acres W. A. Stevens has a promising young orchard six miles north of Redmond, and Kirk Whited, who has had experience in the Yakima country, has another thrifty orchard near town.

Joseph Buckholz, near Redmond has an orchard of 505 trees planted in 1908, which includes apples, cherries, pears, prunes and plums.

Apple varieties most commonly used are the Duchess of Oldenburg, Yellow Transparent, Arkansas Black, Winter Banana, Winesap, Spitzenberg, Snow, South Carolina Red and Wealthy. Cherry varieties used are Monticello, King, Special, Early Richmond, Royal Anne and Bing.

In small fruits in the irrigated district raspberries generally produce the first year. L. D. Weist, whose property adjoins Band, has produced 7200 pounds to the acre of Gregg raspberries and 9000 pounds to the acre of Cumberlands. Strawberries bear for six months in the year.—From the Annual Number, Portland Oregonian.

arrests of bootleggers. The Harrison contractors, also, have placed a gate across their road from Mack's Canyon to the Deschutes, where one can ferry across to Wasco side. This gate is closed to shipments of liquor and also to dissolute women.

Last Fall the near-beer saloon thrived immensely in Grass Valley. One place, it is said, was clearing $1200 a month, and it was a resort for scores of railroad laborers going to or returning from the construction work.

Finally, officers of Sherman County made tests of the near-beer sold and found that it differed from real beer only in the label. The places were closed, but the proprietors declared they purchased the "near-beer" in good faith and blamed the breweries, so were not prosecuted.—Oregonian.

home at Madras for Christmas week. Miss Wilda Nye, '12, reports a very enjoyable vacation spent at her home on Bear Creek.

George Mingers, of the freshmen class, spent his holidays at his home near Lamonta. He reports an enjoyable week all too short.

Lee Rowell passed a few days of his vacation on Upper Crooked river, hunting. He killed nothing except time as there was no game to be found.

When school closed for vacation, John and Mary McDowell went to their home on Lower Crooked River. After a few days here, Miss Mary went to Redmond where she spent the remainder of the week visiting friends.

Miss Vivian Hinkle, '13, was the guest of Mrs. Ralph Sharp of Madras during the holidays. Miss Vivian says she enjoyed her vacation immensely.

A very pleasant vacation week was spent by Miss Ethel Moore at the home of Mr. George Slayton on Crooked River.
