Athletics.
The basket ball season will close Thursday, March 17, with a game between the boys and girls of each society. Each society has one game to its credit for the boys and this is to decide the championship and promises to be hard and valiantly fought. The Alpha girls won the last game and the Ochoocnians are planning to make them work if this one is also scheduled to their credit, as they have some new players on the floor and are going to make every effort to close the season with even games. Don't forget the date, Friday, March 17.

Ochoocnians.
The Ochoocnians amended their constitution at the last meeting and the officers of this society will henceforth be elected by a plurality vote instead of a majority as heretofore.

Last Friday's program was indeed a rare treat and Miss Parrott, the critic, voiced the sentiment of the society in her commendatory criticism. The quotations given in response to the roll call were especially appropriate and showed that the students had made thoughtful selections. Miss Ethel Moore's oration was one of the finest renditions of the year. This was followed by current events by Adolphus Myers, who ably discussed the items of interest at the present time. The readings by Miss Georgia Cleek and Arthur O'Neil were both excellent. After a few suggestions for the future programs from the critic, the society adjourned.

Alpha.
The Alpha Society rendered an excellent program at its last meeting. The reading by Roy Lowther, which emphasized the moral, "If at first you don't succeed try, try again!" was enjoyed by all. This was followed by an essay by Vernon Bell which was both well written and well delivered. The Alpha Tribune, edited by Elmer Martin gave much interesting information to the society, especially in the current events as all the important topics of the day were reviewed. The two impromptu, one on "Prospects of the Proposed Railroad" by Roy McCallister and the other on "The Benefits of Society Debates" were well given and showed what the year's work had done, as the students talked easily and logically and without embarrassment. The society adjourned after the critic, Mrs. Wickersham, made some suggestions and commendations on the work done.

Freshmen and Seniors.
George Mingers, '13, spent last Saturday and Sunday with his parents at Lamona.

The freshmen are looking forward with no little anxiety to the declamatory contest. All are anxious to make a name for the class of '13.
The seniors are beginning to talk and think commencement.
Juniors and Sophomores.
The juniors have the honor of being the only class this year that has gone into a contest as a class, and '11 are planning to do this in the Oratorical try-out.
The sophomores are also planning to make a better showing in this than in any previous contest as many of them are writing orations with the thought that they may enter.

The class of '12 have begun the study of Dicken's "David Copperfield," and are enjoying it immensely.

DRINKING TIME FOR HORSES

A horse should be watered before feeding and never given a large quantity of water after a meal for the simple reason that the water will wash the food out of the stomach before stomach digestion has taken place, and the food will not be well prepared for absorption, and, besides, it is sometimes the cause of colic.

There is a popular idea that a warm horse should not be allowed to drink, and, unlike a great many other popular ideas, there is a little truth in it. If you water a warm horse in the ordinary way, letting him drink all that he will, you are likely to have a foundered horse on your hands. This is especially so if at the time the horse is fatigued. Nevertheless it is always safe to allow him from six to ten swallows, no matter how warm he is. If this be given on going into the stable and he be allowed to stand and eat hay for an hour and is then offered water he will not drink nearly so much as he would had none been given before.

The danger is not in the first swallow, as we often hear it asserted, but in the excessive quantities he will drink if not restrained. The most dangerous time to give a horse a full draft is when he has cooled down from fatiguing work and has partaken of a meal.

John Splan, the great trainer, writes: "As to water, I think that a horse should have all that he wants at all times. A man says, 'Why, will you give your horse water before a race?' Yes, before the race, in the race and after the race and any other time that he wants to drink."

Do not let your horse in a warm stall where he cannot get a drink for five or six hours on a hot day and then take him to a pump and give him all he wants. But give him water often, and in that way he will take only a small quantity at a time.

After long, continuous exertion the system is greatly depleted of fluid. Nature calls for its replacement, and this is the cause of a thirst which is so intense that if the animal is not restrained at the time he may drink much more than he needs.

The general custom, almost universally followed, of giving the morning meal before water is not very objectionable either theoretically or practically. At this time there is no depletion of fluid. Consequently the horse is not very thirsty and does not drink rapidly or excessively and apparently very little evil results from this method. However, the writer much prefers that the horse should have an opportunity to drink before the morning meal.

A professor in the Colorado Agricultural college says it is better to keep horses, both summer and winter, in an open shed, with a large tank in the yard, than to tie them by the heads in the barn.

The Quick Hog.

In these days the American pig makes a speedy journey from farrowing bed to scalding tub, and the aim of the judicious feeder is to add constantly to the flesh acquired while suckling, bringing the hog up to 250 to 450 pounds as early and on as inexpensive feed as possible. The young animal will naturally put on weight more cheaply than an older one, and gains after ten months cost considerably more per pound than those made earlier. A pig which is being fattened should gain from one to two pounds a day and weigh alive 250 to 350 pounds when nine to twelve months old.

Be Kind to the Horse.

When you fly into a passion and are tempted to kick your horse where it is most convenient be humane enough to take off your shoes and stockings before beginning. If you are still in the notion of kicking when you get them off, kick, and kick hard. We venture the assertion that the performance won't last long.

Nail in Hoof.

The horse which has picked up a nail in his hoof must be treated carefully or serious lameness may result. Cut open the wound until it bleeds freely, then wash in carbolic water and pack the foot with oakum.

Variety of Feed.

Pigs after being weaned should be taught to eat a variety of feeds and be supplied with them daily, so their digestive organs will be in a position to utilize feeds independently of the sow.

Money in Pigs.

A pig is nothing more than a money making machine and should be fed all he will eat cleanly from the time he is able to nibble; then keep him going until he goes to the block.

Ordinance No. 172.

An Ordinance to tax dogs and to prohibit bitches from running at large during heat, and to repeal Ordinance No. 168.

The people of the City of Prineville, Oregon, do ordain as follows:
SECTION 1. Every person, company or corporation owning or keeping a dog within the corporate limits of the City of Prineville, Oregon, shall pay an annual tax to the City of Prineville, on such dog as follows: For each male dog over three months old, the sum of two dollars; for each female dog the sum of four dollars; the said tax to be collectible at any time the said dog or bitch may be found within the city limits of the City of Prineville, and for which no tax on said dog has been paid for the current year; the payment of said tax of two dollars and four cents to be in full on the dog so taxed, until the 31st day of December of the year in which the tax is paid and not otherwise. Such tax shall be paid to the marshal of the City of Prineville, Oregon, whether he shall call for the same or not, who shall issue to the person paying such tax a receipt therefor, showing the amount paid, and for what year, together with a brief description of the dog upon which the tax is paid, giving name, age, color and sex of dog. The marshal shall also deliver to the person paying such tax a tag upon which shall be written or printed the date to which such tax is paid. Any person or persons refusing to pay said tax, and upon conviction before the recorder's court, shall pay a fine of not less than $5.00 or more than $10 and in default of the payment of such fine, such persons shall be imprisoned in the city jail one day for each $2.00 of fine.

SECTION 2. Any person placing a tag as above described upon any dog upon which the tax has not been paid, shall, upon conviction thereof before the recorder's court be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars, in the discretion of the court, and in default of the payment of such fine and the costs of prosecution, such person may, by order of such court, be confined in the city jail one day for each two dollars of such fine.
SECTION 3. It shall be the duty of the marshal of the City of Prineville, Oregon, to take up and keep all dogs found within the corporate limits of the City of Prineville, and upon which the tax has not been paid, and, at the expiration of five days, no person shall appear and claim such dog and pay the tax due thereon and an additional sum of one dollar as costs for taking and keeping such dog, the said marshal shall dispose of such dog.
SECTION 4. If any dog shall be found within the corporate limits of the City of Prineville, Oregon, without the tax tag as above provided, worn in a conspicuous place upon said dog, for five successive days and which the marshal of said city is unable to take up, such marshal shall kill or otherwise dispose of such dog.
SECTION 5. The marshal of the city of Prineville, Oregon, shall receive for each dog taken up the sum of one dollar. If such dog is claimed before being killed or disposed of, such sum shall be paid by the person claiming such dog; but if such dog is killed by the marshal, such sum shall be paid out of the dog tax fund, and not otherwise.
SECTION 6. All dogs taken up by the marshal under the provisions of this ordinance shall be kept in a remote place provided for them, and where they shall not become a nuisance to the residents of the city, and shall be by said marshal, provided with sufficient food and water until being disposed of. The word "dog" in the foregoing sections shall be construed to include all dogs, male and female, where the female dog or bitch is not mentioned.
SECTION 7. It shall be unlawful for the owner or lawful possessor of any female dog or bitch to allow such animal to be at large during the period of heat or running season of such animal; and any person being the owner or lawful possessor of any such animal, allowing or permitting such animal to be at large during her period of heat or running season shall, upon conviction thereof before the recorder's court of said city, be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars, in the discretion of said court, and the costs of prosecution; and in default of the payment of such fine such person shall be imprisoned in the city jail one day for each two dollars of such fine. And the marshal is hereby authorized to take up and keep such animal during such period of heat, whether the tax on such animal has been paid or not.
SECTION 8. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.
Lamanch as the City of Prineville, Oregon, has no effective ordinance to provide for the taxing of dogs, and inasmuch as it is necessary to the peace, health and safety of the citizens of said city that such an ordinance should exist, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage by the council.
Passed the council March 1st, 1910.
