Prineville Wins From Redmond

Prineville 5, Redmond 1. That was the score of last Sunday's game on the local diamond. It was the best game played here this season was the verdict of the crowd present.

Prineville won the game in the first inning by hard hitting and when the smoke cleared they had secured five runs and six hits.

Prineville has certainly got together a nice clean lot of ball players to represent Prineville and they are deserving of better support from the fans than was given them Sunday.

Don Ketchum is pitching great ball this season and with a little improvement Hinder will make as good a try of them behind the bat.

Madras is to be here next Sunday and play the home team. This promises to be a good game.

but because, owing to the work of railroad construction now in progress in this county on a large scale, bringing in a vast number of transient people, this question and similar ones, will probably arise in other incorporated towns, and we do not feel that the county at large should be called upon to bear the expense of interfering with matters covered by local ordinances.

We have visited the different county offices and in regard thereto we would state that not being expert bookkeepers and having but a limited time at our disposal we could not pass upon the correctness of the financial accounts of the various officers, but as far as we could ascertain the books of the different county offices are neatly and systematically kept.

We have had many perplexing questions to pass upon and decide. To all of these we have given our best consideration and have reached our conclusions having in mind the best interests of the taxpayers of the county and due regard for the law, and such our labors being that we have left nothing which should have been done in connection with the work given us.

Died.

Wednesday, May 4, 1910, at Lamonta, Liborius Weigand, aged 85. Mr. Weigand was born in Germany July 25, 1825. He came to the United States early in life. He was married in Illinois in 1864. In 1868 he moved to Missouri where his wife died 1881. In 1887 he moved to Lamonta to make his home with his son Joseph. The deceased leaves three children: Joseph, Earnest and Teresia. Funeral services were held at Lamonta this morning, where he was buried.

The Ladies Annex have received the following books for the Commercial Club library: The Strain of White, Calling of Dan Matthews Wood Carver of Lympos, The Kingdom of Earth Old Lady, No. 31, The Will of Allah, Little Sister Snow, Mary Cary, Captain Stromfeld's Visit to Heaven, The Master of the Stair, The Three Brothers, The Whispering Man, True Lida, A Certain Rich Man, A Girl of the Lumberland, John Marvel, Assistant, A Reaping, Anne of Avonlea, Salvatore, The King of Khaki, It Never Can Happen Again, Deerie, The Three Miss Grahams, Locking Backward.

TRADE AT HOME.

Legality to Locally Proves to Be the Best Spirit. The man who buys his goods of a mail order house and expects his neighbors in Lamonta to buy goods of him or his wife or his children is economically a fool. He is making material loss out of the town and giving more work to the citizen and less to money right to a stranger. We are all neighbors industrially in this town, and the man who sends away his goods is not one of us. He is another industrial system and deserves as much support in Lamonta. The fact that this is economically wrong is recognized by the mail order houses themselves. They protect their customers as thieves by offering to keep people from knowing where the mail order goods come from. The mail order houses have no "tags" on their goods. They say in their catalogues that none of their goods are marked and that no one knows where they were bought. If it is proper to hide the place of purchase of an article it is wrong to buy the article at that place. Why the man who should be ashamed to say he got anything he has, there is such a thing as "mail-order" goods, "mail-order" groceries and "mail-order" furniture. All of such that are bought at home of men who have biddeforded you, to men whom you know is wrong, are "mail-order". It is time to change and get together. It is time to begin to return our support and not neighbors by trying something at home whether the neighbors do or not. And now in the time to begin.

BEAUTIFYING THE TOWN.

Wonderful Results Can Be Realized by Residents and Builders Everywhere. In the past few years the question for the "town beautifier" has become a serious one. City councils have turned up the work, philanthropists have contributed money, and citizens have done their share to the work. But with all these efforts the town is still not what it should be. The answer is not in the amount of money, but in the quality of the work. The answer is in the quality of the work. The answer is in the quality of the work.

Miss Good took her pen in the editor of a horticulture magazine published in Springfield and wrote an article about it for him. The idea spread, letters came in shovels, and Miss Good and D. J. Thomas, the editor, calling a convention of those interested, formed the American League of Civic Improvement. That was in July, 1901. A year later at a meeting in Buffalo the American Park and Outdoor Art association merged with the league under the title of the American Civic association, which now embraces every state in the Union.--Hampton's Magazine.

The Billboard Nuisance. Everybody knows that a billboard is a nuisance and an eyesore and that it damages all property in the neighborhood. We fail to see why there should be such hostility upon the part of the courts in plainly saying so. No man or corporation should be permitted to ravage around and injure other persons' property by stables or billboards or other nuisance merely because he owns adjoining property or has a lease upon it.--Telegraph, Colorado Springs.

Public Waterworks and Sewerage. Where a town gets its supply of water from private wells and the shops from every house are thrown into the back yard typhoid fever is the prevalent disease and the undertaker and marble cutter are the busiest men in town. Public waterworks and sewerage should be soon to above all else.

To Attract Capital. Keep your streets clean and well graded, paved or gravelled where possible if you would attract capital. Have plenty of water. Keep buildings well painted, residences neat and attractive, pay your debts, secure low taxation and encourage factories suitable to location.

Let Up. Let up your hand. Do not a weakling fearful of defeat. But with a spirit equal to the strife, surround each in his quest. Dare to believe in your own destiny and in that faith achieve the victory.

Let up your hand. Dare to believe in your own destiny and in that faith achieve the victory. Through deed and tongue and pen. Make beautiful his ways and prospects, yield its vision to the goal of better days.

A Bad Start. "Ever try this keep-a-smiling proposition?" "Tried it once, but with poor success. Unfortunately I started the experiment on a day that the boss felt groggy."--Lamont's Courier-Journal.

What Made Him Sick. Teacher--Your little brother was all right when he left the house with you, and yet you say he's sick and won't be to school. The Kid--Straw! Didn't I give him the sugar will me own family--Park.

Stationary Youth. Rich Father--My daughter is too young to get married. She is only eighteen. Impertinent Laver--I know, sir, but I have waited patiently for years, and she doesn't seem to get any older.

Early Intelligence. Sunday School Teacher (finishing the recitation)--and that is the story of Jonah and the whale. Johnny--Isn't it strange they knew what a Jonah was that long ago?
