

You Will Find It At King's

Hardware
Stoves and Cooking Utensils
Groceries

We Carry the Most Complete Lines in Central Oregon
Fully Equipped Tin Shop and Plumbing Department in Connection
Our Motto: "SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
We Make Good

Doors and Windows
Paints and Oils
Implements of all Kinds

The W. F. King Company, Prineville, Oregon

LOCAL MENTION

Hugh Gee made final proof on his homestead Tuesday.

M. Wheeler of Grizzly was a business visitor Tuesday.

Mr. Barbour, a Laidlaw business man, was a visitor Monday.

Mrs. Thomas Brennan of Paulina, is visiting friends here this week.

Wm. McMeekin, the Grizzly saw-mill man, is in the city on business.

Thomas Arnold and A. Hornbeck of Sisters, were in the city on business Monday.

E. N. Strong, Central Oregon agent for the Oregon Life Insurance Company, is registered at Hotel Prineville. Mrs. Strong is with him.

W. H. Huston and J. H. Gray returned the last of the week from Eugene, where they had been attending O. O. F. grand lodge.

Alex Thomson is in from his Lower Bridge ranch. He reports crops looking well in his part of the county and everyone busy.

Mrs. McCormick, formerly Fanny Uren of this place, writes from Lakeview that her little three year old son fell from a high fence on their ranch and was instantly killed a few days ago.

News reached Prineville Saturday of the death of the youngest daughter of C. A. Houzel, who was formerly pastor of the First M. E. Church of this place. The family are at Dayton, Washington, while Mr. Houzel is in Arizona for his health.

James Cram of the Diamond C Wool Company, was in the city Monday buying supplies for shearing. He states that lambing is over and some 2800 lambs were marked from 3000 ewes. All stock is in exceptionally good condition, and the wool clip will be as good or better than the average.

The Presbyterian church invites you to attend their services next Sunday, the 29th. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. Topic, "How We May Know God." Twilight service at 7:30 p. m. This is a combination service of the Christian Endeavor and the regular preaching service, lasting only one hour. We will commence on time and quit on time. This service will continue during the summer. Come.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

LOCAL MENTION

J. H. Post of Post, is in the city. Ben Götter of Redmond, was in the city Monday.

Born—Monday 23, to the wife of Lewis C. Morgan, a boy.

Mrs. H. J. Lister and family left for Portland Wednesday.

L. H. Hamilton of Grizzly, was a business visitor last Friday.

J. W. Lawrence of the Bend Bulletin, is a county seat visitor.

C. B. Dinwiddie is slightly improved after a hard case of la grippe.

D. W. Roberts of Culver was transacting business here Wednesday.

C. L. Shattuck left for The Dalles Wednesday for another Ford car.

S. R. Cooper has a case of blood poisoning in his right hand. It is very painful but is now improving.

Rev. J. D. Lewellen returned from Heppner Saturday where he has been attending the district conference.

Mrs. Harriett Smith was a passenger to Shaniko the first of the week. She goes to Washington to visit relatives.

Mrs. Med Vanderpool and granddaughter, Byrl Davis, left Monday for The Dalles and Portland to be absent several months.

E. E. Evans, teacher of science and mathematics at the Crook County High School, left Saturday for his ranch near Redmond, where he will spend his vacation.

A good quality of Hood River strawberries are to be had in local market. They ship well and are of excellent flavor. The price today is two boxes for 45 cents.

In our list of Prineville public school teachers last week we inadvertently made the fourth grade read "Miss Elva J. Allen." It should have read "Miss Elva J. Smith."

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

E. G. Hodson is installing a 450-gallon gasoline tank at his garage and shops north of the Ochooco. The tank will be buried and equipped so as to eliminate so far as possible all fire risk, and will have a pump that will throw a gallon of gasoline at a single stroke. The sale of gasoline at present reaches from 20 to 120 gallons each day and is constantly increasing, which demands larger and more convenient means for handling it. The new tank and outfit will cost approximately $350 installed.

Miss C. V. Conway, of the Crook County High School, left Sunday for her home in Portland. She will be back in her old position again when the high school opens in September.

E. B. Knox of Post was in town Friday on business. He says he never saw better looking crops than on his way in from his ranch. Couldn't be better at this time of the year.

The cattlemen of the Crooked river country will begin their spring ride about the tenth of June. Several hundred calves will be branded and some beef steers gathered during the ride.

LOCAL MENTION

Mrs. R. P. Miller of Post was in town Wednesday.

W. H. Prose has sold his blacksmith shop and business to Walt McFarland.

A marriage license was issued Friday to Louis E. Wilson and Margaret J. Backmann, both of Madras.

Nine wagons loaded with wool, belonging to Will Gibson, passed through Prineville yesterday enroute to Shaniko.

Mrs. J. H. Templeton and Mrs. Julia McDaniel returned yesterday from Eugene where they have been attending Rebekah lodge.

The father and mother, two sisters and brother of J. S. Fox, arrived Tuesday from Leeds, England, after a continuous trip beginning May 6th.

Miss Mary Jones, who has been staying with her brother Dale here and attending high school, left for her home in Seattle the first of the week.

G. M. Cornett and W. H. Prose will take a bunch of sixteen work horses to Madras the last of the week, and sell them to the farmers of that vicinity.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church had a large attendance at their meeting yesterday at Mrs. Oliver Powell's. There were twenty-five members present, the largest crowd that has attended this spring. Much work was done.

The directorate of the Prineville Commercial Club is busy with plans of development. At a meeting this week, J. S. Fox was selected to act as assistant secretary and will have charge of the work of correspondence under the guidance of O. C. Hyde.

John Schmeer of Barnes was in town Monday. Mr. Schmeer spent the winter in Southern Oregon. He took over some of his blooded trotting stock and had no trouble in making sales at good prices. In fact he says automobiles rather help than hinder his business. Going away from home has opened his eyes to the advantages of his own country. He comes back better satisfied than ever with Crook county.

John Schmeer of Barnes was in town Monday. Mr. Schmeer spent the winter in Southern Oregon. He took over some of his blooded trotting stock and had no trouble in making sales at good prices. In fact he says automobiles rather help than hinder his business. Going away from home has opened his eyes to the advantages of his own country. He comes back better satisfied than ever with Crook county.

John Schmeer of Barnes was in town Monday. Mr. Schmeer spent the winter in Southern Oregon. He took over some of his blooded trotting stock and had no trouble in making sales at good prices. In fact he says automobiles rather help than hinder his business. Going away from home has opened his eyes to the advantages of his own country. He comes back better satisfied than ever with Crook county.

John Schmeer of Barnes was in town Monday. Mr. Schmeer spent the winter in Southern Oregon. He took over some of his blooded trotting stock and had no trouble in making sales at good prices. In fact he says automobiles rather help than hinder his business. Going away from home has opened his eyes to the advantages of his own country. He comes back better satisfied than ever with Crook county.

John Schmeer of Barnes was in town Monday. Mr. Schmeer spent the winter in Southern Oregon. He took over some of his blooded trotting stock and had no trouble in making sales at good prices. In fact he says automobiles rather help than hinder his business. Going away from home has opened his eyes to the advantages of his own country. He comes back better satisfied than ever with Crook county.

John Schmeer of Barnes was in town Monday. Mr. Schmeer spent the winter in Southern Oregon. He took over some of his blooded trotting stock and had no trouble in making sales at good prices. In fact he says automobiles rather help than hinder his business. Going away from home has opened his eyes to the advantages of his own country. He comes back better satisfied than ever with Crook county.

John Schmeer of Barnes was in town Monday. Mr. Schmeer spent the winter in Southern Oregon. He took over some of his blooded trotting stock and had no trouble in making sales at good prices. In fact he says automobiles rather help than hinder his business. Going away from home has opened his eyes to the advantages of his own country. He comes back better satisfied than ever with Crook county.