REDMOND COUNTRY FORGING AHEAD

Farmers Breeding Up Their Herds.

DAIRY PRODUCTS IN DEMAND

Redmond Will Vote on Establishing a High School November 19.

Redmond, Ore., Nov. 14, 1910. Editor Journal:—

Thinking that a few lines from here that would tend to show that Redmond is still on the map and growing might be of interest to many of your readers, I take pleasure in sending them. To be sure our home papers give the town happenings, but have not many items tending to show the development of the surrounding country, and many of your readers are luckless enough never to see copies of the Hub or the Spokesman.

The time was for several years that Redmond the town did not grow as fast as the surrounding country would warrant. Of late, however, with two railroads assured, it has been forging rapidly ahead. Agricultural development has not stopped if it has been somewhat overshadowed for the time being.

The prediction that this would become a dairy section is being verified. If the Pioneer Cream Co. of Prineville should judge by the amount of cream they are receiving from here they would laugh at the assertion, but there is so much demand at good prices for home-made butter that most of the butter fat is being converted that way. Further evidence in support of the prediction is offered by the fact that farmers are quietly building up their herds, both in size and in the quality of their animals. Quite a number have bought Jerseys that pass for full bloods and a few are contemplating the purchase of pedigreed stock. There is but one cow of that class in the neighborhood so far as the writer knows. J. O. Hansen started a herd of Holstein Friesians by the purchase, over a year ago, of a pedigreed bull. So far as the writer knows these are the only two dairy breeds represented.

Many who remember Redmond as a straggling village, even if they have kept some idea of its growth, will be surprised to know that Mr. Hansen, proprietor of the Hub City Dairy, has been milking thirteen cows and until lately has been buying butter for his own table, as his customers took all of his milk and cream. Mr. Hansen is one of a rapidly increasing number who is using the cream separator in the care of milk.

The high prices prevailing for grain for a year or more past has had a tendency to discourage extensive hog raising, but getting 14 and 15 cents for whole dressed hogs, and paying from 20 cents for fresh ham to 30 cents and more for cured meats—that is the other side of the story, and those who fixed up to pasture hogs during the pasture season are quietly sawing wood and raising hogs.

While we do not make from 4 to 9 cuttings of alfalfa in a season here, those who fixed up best for raising the most clover either red or alfalfa are standing pat and smiling at what their fields show. Jerrett, on the File place, Chesley, McLallin and Kendall are among these.

A short time ago Matt Kulesch sold a two-months-old colt to H. A. Myers for $150. It was from the H. A. Myers & Co. Belgian stallion. It seems to indicate that there may be something doing in these parts in the future with blooded horses.

Development in the way of tree pulling has been going on more or less all the time. Anderson and DeSouza, just west of town, had the trees pulled from a whole forty and many other smaller jobs have been done in all directions.

Our school has grown so rapidly that the attendance has more than doubled since the opening of school September 19. One outside room was rented, and November 19 an election will be held to determine the question of establishing a high school, also for voting on $5000 bonds for building purposes.

City incorporation, water works, pipe line from the river, new additions to the corporation, new businesses and various other matters might receive consideration now, but this letter was strictly to show the development of the country as opposed to that of the town.

OSTERMOOR

YOU CAN WASH THE MATTRESS BEARING THIS LABEL

Soap, water and a brush are all that is needed to keep the outside of an Ostermoor Mattress sweet and clean. The inside never needs attention. Costs nothing for repairs. An occasional "outing" in the sun keeps it fresh and new, because it is built (not stuffed) of elastic, fibrous Ostermoor sheets. It cannot sag, lump nor pack like hair.

Make sure you get the genuine Ostermoor. Note the label put there to protect you against worthless imitations. We sell at factory prices and invite inspection.
