Laidlaw Items

W. C. Young of Colver Junction has again led our streets with parties of his youngsters. He is a hustler in a nutshell.

Emily Couch and wife returned last week from Minnesota, where they had been visiting old acquaintances. They report the story of the fire in the woods was not over done.

Mr. W. Horner has bought a new auto, the first in Laidlaw. He had a time getting it home from Shaniko; but finally conquered and brought it through. The noise of the buzz wagon was not over done.

Emily Couch, daughter of J. B. Couch, was married Tuesday, Dec. 15th, to a young man from the city. She was sick a short time with pneumonia. Reddar L. and Irwin J. Couch, brothers living at Cunningham, Washington, came to the funeral. She was 19 years old.

The election returns to the average republican is anything but comforting. The grand old party of Lincoln, which has stood in the main for the highest ideals of the American people, has met a sharp reverse. One thing is sure, the people have spoken decidedly their opinion as to men and measures. Let us profit by the lesson and eliminate some of the imperfections that have crept in and start anew on a higher plane of public service.

The rains and snow that melted almost as fast as they fell has made the farmer hustle plowing for next year's crop. Everything indicates a good year to the husbandman in 1911. H. C.

Enos Rose Shot.

Enos Rose was shot at the Dell Eads saloon at the mouth of Cow Canyon, twenty-five miles this side of Shaniko, Monday night, shortly before midnight.

Mr. Rose had been to Shaniko for freight and was spending the night near the Eads saloon. No details are available at this time as to whether the shooting was accidental or not, but that Rose is suffering from a bullet wound in the leg is certain.

A physician was called from Antelope. G. M. Cornett and Mrs. Rose left for Heister by auto Tuesday noon.

Because of the muddy roads they have not yet returned, but are expected in tonight or tomorrow.

Why the Wind Waits.
In his book on "The Picturesque St. Lawrence" Clifton Johnson tells of the curious superstition of Montreal which explains why the wind is always blowing at the point where St. Sulpice and Notre Dame streets meet, close by the towering cathedral.

It seems that one day, while the church was in process of building, the Wind and the Devil were walking down Notre Dame street, and the Devil after regarding with a frown of disapproval the graceful outlines of the new edifice rising before him exclaimed:

"What is this? I never saw it before."

"Very likely not," responded the Wind, "and I dare you to go in there."

"You dare me to do that, do you?" cried the Devil, with a sneer. "Well, I will go in if you will promise to wait here until I come out."

"Agreed," said the Wind.

So his satanic majesty went in. But he has not come out yet, and the Wind is still waiting for him at the corner.

The Spirit of Liberty.

It was in the town that modern democracy had its rise. Despite all the efforts of the kings and barons to prevent it, the spirit of liberty began to assert itself in the larger towns in the shape of the charters which guarantee to the people certain commercial and political rights—rights which, once obtained, were never to be surrendered. Before the middle of the eleventh century there were many of these "chartered" towns which possessed the right of electing their own magistrates, sheriffs and judges and regulating their own taxes. The wretched serfs from the country were welcomed by the townspeople and added to larger freedom. These free towns were first known in Spain, from which country they slowly spread over Europe. The bourgeois naturally offered protection and freedom to all who would flee to them from the feudal estates, and thus slowly, but surely, the good work went on until the ancient despotsism was destroyed.—Arena.
