The Basket Ball Game.

Prineville, 25, Bend, 5.
In the evening Prineville and Bend lined up on the floor of Club Hall for the annual basketball game.

The fact that Crook County High completely outclassed their opponents does not argue that the locals played sensational ball. The visitors are new to the game. This was their first appearance. A little more work will do wonders for them and they will be able to make our boys put up a much better exhibition of the game.

The game was not marked by the dash that usually characterizes the work of the Crook County High. The strenuousness of football took the life out of both teams and made fast work an impossibility.

The Bend team went onto the floor crippled by the loss of their center. Brewster was loaned to them and he put up an excellent game. Only a few on the side lines who were "next" ever suspected as they watched him dashing up and down the floor, taking a hand in nearly every play, that he was suffering intensely from an over dose of Thanksgiving turkey.

The game started fast but neither team was able to locate the baskets. To Roy McCallister belongs the credit of the first basket. He brought loud applause from the side lines by a pretty throw from the center of the floor. As the game progressed Charles Lowther also located the basket and contributed most materially to the final score. The close guarding of Roy Lowther and Roland McCallister held the visitors helpless and made scoring almost impossible and their passing to the forwards, Rice and Lowther were almost perfect.

Bend has promised a return game in the near future and an interesting contest is sure to result.
The Bend teams were composed of true sportsmen. They put their best effort to win, but did not complain nor cherish an ill feeling toward the
