saloon license, and further recommended that no other licenses be granted for this purpose. The fee of $800 was ordered returned to the applicants.

The petition of Mr. Reed for privilege to shoot 22 - rifles for the purpose of properly sighting them was granted.

The third reading of the ordinance for the grading of Third street was passed over until Tuesday evening, February 14, when the entire evening will be given over to that purpose.

City Engineer Brewster was present and offered a report on the surveys he has been making on streets. He reported all streets correct on the south side of the river, excepting those east on Main street, which are run at a ten-minute angle to the south.

North of Ochoco there were several errors noted. The half street was omitted by Mr. Newsom on the extreme south side of his addition, and this makes all streets on that side of the Ochoco and east of Main street, sixty feet farther south than they should be. Much of this land has been sold and is occupied by buildings, and several complications present themselves in the matter.

The land where the water tank is situated was dedicated to the city and later sold to them for the water tank location. This report was accompanied by a map showing the streets and alleys and parcels of land. This map, which is the property of the city, is one of the most complete ever made of Prineville.

Ordinance No. 181, establishing the proper grade on First street, was presented and passed. The elevations were taken from the bench mark in the courthouse yard and are definitely established.

The recorder was ordered to have all ordinances copied into the new ordinance book by the use of a book typewriter.

The report of the marshal which was ordered at a previous meeting, was not forthcoming, and it was moved and seconded that the salary of the marshal be not to exceed $1 per month until such time as the report was furnished and accepted. The motion passed the council without a dissenting voice.

The report which caused the discussion was one bearing on the sanitary condition of buildings facing Main street, and was of vital importance to the Committee on Health and Police.

The marshal tendered his resignation to the council, which was accepted at once. The Committee on Health and Police were ordered to communicate with the chief of police of Portland, Seattle and Spokane asking if it is possible to get a man to fill the vacancy in a satisfactory manner and what the cost would be for such a man. In the meantime the place will be filled by this committee, of which Dr. Rosenberg is chairman, by hiring special officers.

It was ordered that six chairs be bought for use in the council room.

The report of the marshal showing two arrests made for January and that of Night Officer Yancey who made four arrests during the same period, were refused and turned back to the officers for a more complete record.

The report of the recorder showed a revenue of $97.50 from that office for the month of January. The completeness of the recorder's report was questioned, and he offered his resignation to the council. It was rejected by a unanimous vote and the office is yet filled by R. W. Brees.

The application of F. E. Brosius to move his saloon to the building now occupied by J. W. Smelzer's restaurant was granted by the council.

A petition was presented asking for the grading of Second street and for the building of a sidewalk on the north side of said street. The petition was granted and an ordinance will be drawn covering the work contemplated as soon as possible.

A committee will be appointed by the mayor to look into the matter of wood piping for the city water system.

The personnel of this committee will be announced at a later meeting of the council.

The following bills were allowed: Eng. Brewster, surveying, $100.00; A. W. Yancey, salary, 100.00; J. H. Templeton, drugs, etc., 28.35

Joe Kelso, salary, 1 meal, 50.25
R. W. Brees, fees and supplies, 67.95
T. E. J. Duffy, legal work, 20.50
P. L. & W. Co., lights, etc., 65.20

The Finance Committee was instructed to secure plans for a new city hall to be erected on the city's lots on Second street. It is the intention of the council to secure plans for the building as soon as possible so that work on the structure can be commenced in the early spring.

The matter of placing the recorder's office on a salary instead of a fee system was placed in the hands of the finance committee.

The council adjourned to meet again February 14, and again on February 21.

Railroad Extensions.

Definite knowledge in the local Harriman offices of the work to be done in Oregon as a result of the improvements authorized by the Union Pacific directors in New York is limited to the proposed double-tracking of the Columbia River line between Portland and Echo, the completion of the Deschutes Valley road to Redmond and the building of the gap of the Natron-Klamath cutoff that will be unfinished when the present contracts shall have been carried out, late in June of this year, says the Oregonian of the 4th.

Whether the east and west line through the state from Ontario to Grants Pass shall be constructed within the six-year period specified by President Lovett will depend largely on conditions arising in the future, according to the opinion of local officials. The same uncertainty applies to the proposed easterly line from Redmond or some other convenient point on the Deschutes road to connect with the east and west line near Burns.

It is pointed out that the construction of this latter road via Prineville, as suggested by Eastern officials, is almost impracticable, as a part of the country through which such a road would have to be built is rough and broken and not encouraging to railroad construction at moderate cost. While much of this portion of the state is well suited to agricultural and grazing purposes, local railroad men say that the interests of this section could better be served by a road built from the east than from Redmond.

In the reports from New York, a road from Lebanon, on the present Southern Pacific system, to a point near Redmond, also was suggested, but this route is not taken seriously by the local officials. To reach the Deschutes Valley road over this route it would be necessary to cross the river at a place where it is estimated to be 1000 feet deep, as well as to penetrate the mountains where they are so precipitous as to almost preclude the possibility of construction work. By building toward the south, and following the line of the Crooked River, it is pointed out, Redmond might be reached from Lebanon, but there is no reason why such a road should be built at all, local men say. It is believed here that this piece of work was the theory of an Eastern official who is not well acquainted with the topography of the country and that no one who understands the situation recommended it.

Further than the double tracking scheme, the work on the Natron-Klamath line and the Deschutes Valley road, the local officers are not concerned themselves with reference to the improvements authorized in the East. They will not consider them until they receive official advice. In the absence of a definite financial programme it is not likely that extensions further than these will be given serious thought for several years at least.

The Deschutes construction also is finished by the new corporation. The plans already approved for the completion of the line to Redmond, but how soon anything can be done beyond that point is uncertain. It is confidently expected, however, that some branch roads can be built to connect with the Deschutes property within the next two or three years.
