CREGON LEGISLATIVE M WORK AS REVIEWED

Acts of Twenty-sixth Oregon Legislature Presented In Concise Form.

Salem, Ore.-The twenty-sixth session of the Oregon Legislature passed into history as the most expensive the state has ever seen. The taxpayers will be called upon to face appropriations approximating $5,100,000, or about $1,000,000 more than the preceding session. While charges of extravagance have been freely made. when the growth and development of the state is considered, perhaps the appropriations should not be considered extremely excessive.

All of the institutions fared well and the University of Oregon and Oregon Agricultural College fared better than ever before, the only cut in the main requests of either being $12,000 from the estimate of the university. Then that institution received $503,252 and the Oregon Agricultural College $410,000 from actual appropriations aside from the continuing appropriations.

Principal Bills Reviewed. Among the important legislative enactments were the good roads laws, extension of the powers of the Railroad Commission to all public utility corporations, second choice in primary nominations, placing the State Printer on a flat salary, providing a state purchasing board, prohibiting a salaried state officer from furnishing supplies to the state, creating the office of Assistant Secretary of State, providing a method for creating new countles and appropriating $20,000 to be disbursed by a state immigration agent in exploiting officially the resources of the state.

The state banking law has been amplified in many important respects, guaranteeing to depositors greater protection. It provides that all private banks shall be examined by experlenced bank examiners under the direction of the Superintendent of Banks. The only bill to be forced through the legislature over the veto of Governor West was that abolishing the whipping post.

Election Laws Amended.

A bill requiring electors to designate their second choice in primary nominating elections for every office for which there are more than twice the number of candidates for the office to be filled, other laws amendatory of the election laws of the state were passed also. One provides for the rotation of names on the official ballot in all primary nominating elec-

While a reapportionment bill, redistricting the state into senatorial and representative districts, was not passed, the Legislature did redistrict the state into Congressional districts. making Multnomah the Third district. First Congressional district under this bill, consists of the countles of Western Oregon, excepting Mulinomah alone, while the Second Congressionat district is made up of all of the countles east of the Cascades.

With a few minor omissions the following is a list of bills filed by Governor with the secretary of state and which will become law:

KITTERY POINT ELMS.

Each of the Giant Shade Trees Cost .

Pint of Rum. of the most striking attractions of the old town of Kittery Point has long been her towering eims. They rise magnificently above trees of all other varieties, and in summer with their foliage encompass her quaint streets in delicious green coolness. transform the fine old place into a verkable seashere fairyland and last, but not least, enrapture the summer visitor.

For nearly two miles along the high way, which for the most part follows the shore of the harbor, these splendid specimens rear themselves at fairly regular intervals, though the ax has in times past brought some of the mor archs crashing to the earth.

The story of the circumstances attending the planting of the glants, as it has been handed down from father to son, runs as follows: "Major Thom ns Cutts, one of the old town fathers who conducted a fishing business, forelgn commerce, a store and a tavern in the famous Pepperell mansion (built 1602), conceived the very commendable idea of beautifying his native town by setting out trees.

"Accordingly in 1791 be gave one Samuel Blake the contract. Samuel's remuneration was nothing more or less than a pint of rum, doubtless brought from the West Indies by one of the major's pinkies, for each tree planted. There were originally ninety of them, and they extended from the Soavey lot, near where the First Christian church now stands, to the 'top of the Point' or the shore of Spruce creek." THE SPIDER'S THREAD.

Its Use by Astronomers In Their Study of the Stars. The threads of the garden spider are fixed by astronomers in their tele-scopes for the purpose of giving fine lines to the field of view by which the relative positions of stars may be ac curately measured. For a century astronomers desired to make use of such lines of the greatest possible fineness and procured at first silver wire drawn out to the extreme limit of tenuity attainable with that metal. They also tried hairs one five-hundredth of an inch thick and threads of the silkworm's cocoon, which are split into two compothreads, each only one two-thousandth of an inch thick. But in 1820 an English instrument maker named Troughton introduced the spider's line. This be readily obtained a fourth of the thickness of the silkworm's thread and has also advantages in its strength and freedom from twist.

In order to obtain the thread the spider is carefully fixed on a miniature rack, and the thread, which at the moment of issue from the body is a viscid liquid, is made to adhere to a winder, by turning which the desired length of firm but elastic thread can be procured,-London Graphic.

Henley's Sufferings. In fifty-four years of his life-he was born in 1840-W. E. Henley never what a day's perfect health meant. When little more than a boy he was attacked by a disease which necessitated the amputation of foot. He was told later by the doctors that the sacrifice of the other leg was necessary were he to live. fame of Dr. Lister had reached Henley, and, penniless and almost friend less, he determined to try Edinburgh have known, and when he reached the infirmary his whole possessions amounted to a few shillings. His confidence in Lister was justified, and his conditions suggested to Robert Louis Stevenson the physical sketch of John Silver.

A Hard One.
"The self made man is splendld," said Andrew Carnegie at a dinner in Washington, "if he makes himself a mental and spiritual no less than financial success. Too many self made men neglect the intellectual side. This sometimes-at commencements, for example-puts them at a disadvantage. I know a self made man who said at a commencement to his nephew;

"Well, Tommy, my son, what do they teach you here? 'Latin and Greek,' the boy replied,
