

EARLY SPRING FIGS.

Sows Farrowing in Winter Should Have Warm Quarters.

If young pigs do not come in October and November we do not seriously object if they put in their appearance at about any other time of the year, provided we know when to expect them and there are not too many to arrive in winter.

We put the sows in box or closed stalls in the lower story of the barn where the windows may be opened to the sun on the south side.

As I recall, the experiences in mid winter with litters have not been more trying than they have been in cold weather in March.

When a small bit of pork costs a day's wages and even a ham bone is precious there need be no fear of overstocking the hog market.

HANDLING LIVE STOCK.

All Corners Eliminated in Pennsylvania Model Car.

In the new live stock transportation car recently exhibited by the Pennsylvania railroad many improvements have been made.

All bolts and nuts exposed on inside of car have been rounded or countersunk. All edges on side doors and interior of walls with which stock may come in contact are rounded or chamfered.

The salient features of the new Pennsylvania live stock car are rounded edges of all interior wood-work, rounded bolts and other humane provisions.

Inside are spaced one inch apart to prevent legs of hogs or sheep from sticking out while lying down. The roof is of two ply thickness, and upper portions of hayracks are solidly boarded as well as the ends of the cars to keep out rain and snow.

The Art of Buttermaking.

Good buttermaking is a fine art that many farmers have not learned. There is no reason that butter made on the farm should not bring better prices in competition with creamery butter.

Scours in Horses.

Give a couple of bran mashes and the following morning before feeding give one pint of raw linseed oil; gradually return to ordinary food and night and morning add a powder of sulphate of iron, one-half dram; sulphate of copper, one-half dram; bicarbonate of soda, one-half ounce; ginger and gentian, two drams each.

GETTING SHAPE IN STOCKINGS.

THREE WAYS: Sew the shape in with a seam, which probably rips and is always uncomfortable. Stretch the hose over a shaping board and press the shape in.
