An Extraordinary Man.

Alhazen's date was about 1100 A. D. He was of the Moorish, or Arab, race and resided in Spain, though he passed much of his time in Egypt. He was the first to discover the real laws of optics and in astronomy was the leading man of his day. This extraordinary man anticipated Torricelli in the matter of atmospheric weight and came very near stealing away from Newton the great truths concerning the law of gravitation. He was fairly well acquainted with the law of falling bodies and missed by a very narrow margin the honors that came later to Galileo and Kepler.

His Argument.

A small boy who lives on the north side came home from school one day and showed his mother one of his drawings. The picture, if such it may be called, seemed to be one of a duck in a lake. "That's a fine duck," said his mother. "Tain't a duck," said the youngster; "it's a boat." "One would take it for a duck," his mother replied gently. "Yes, but two wouldn't," said the boy convincingly. "That ended the argument.—Denver Times.

Deadly.

Two ladies got quarreling about their respective ages. At last, to end the dispute, one of them said in a conciliatory tone of voice: "Don't let us quarrel over the matter any more, dear. I, at least, have not heart to do it. I never knew who my mother was, for she deserted me when I was a baby, and who knows but that you may have been that heartless parent?"

An Unimportant Blunder.

Proud Artist—Behold my masterpiece—grass, trees, mountain, sky reflected in lake! Sympathizing Friend—Very pretty. But why do you sign it in the top left hand corner? Proud Artist—Oh, hang it! The idiots have hung it upside down!—Judge's Library.

We Sell Ruberoid

And Guarantee It—We Know It's the Greatest Roofing the World Produces

Whatever roofing you are using on any building, you are paying the price of Ruberoid. There are 300 imitations for Ruberoid—and all of them cost more in the end than the genuine. The imitations have names that sound like Ruberoid. Frequently they are sold as Ruberoid. Before they are laid and exposed to the weather they look like Ruberoid.

You cannot judge a roofing by its name—you cannot judge a roofing by its looks—you can judge it only by the service it gives.

It tells the advantages and disadvantages of tin, tar, shingle, iron and ready roofings—fairly, frankly, impartially.

Remember, whatever roofing you buy, you are paying the price of Ruberoid.

Binds More Sheaves with Less Twine

Plymouth Binder Twine is made right. It works smoothly, ties properly, and the last of the ball feeds as freely as the first. No knots or breaks. Fifty per cent stronger than the strain of any machine actually requires.

PLYMOUTH Binder Twine

is used more than any other twine because it is known to be the best. Made by the oldest cordage establishment in the United States, where quality and honesty are spun into every ball of twine. Farmers who insist on seeing the wheat-sheaf tag on every ball of twine save money and avoid harvest delays.
