Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell came up from The Dalles Sunday. Mr. Bell is looking after the interests of a number of clients before the Water Board which is now in session in Prineville.

Floyd Rowell has returned from St. Louis, where he took one of his children for medical treatment. Three months in a sanitarium failed to give much, if any, relief, so he decided to come home.

W. C. Bishop, the well-known Portland attorney, was in Prineville Monday looking over this part of Central Oregon. From here he will go to Sisters, Bend, Klamath Falls and San Francisco. He is traveling by auto.

"Among the Breakers" by Bend local talent last Thursday evening did not draw as good a house as the play deserved. It was a good show from start to finish. Every part was well taken and two or three in the cast would rank well as professionals. At any other time but August, when so many are out of town, the play would pack a house.

An isolated tract of land lying near Antelope was sold last week to John J. Brogan of Antelope for $1800, or $12.50 per acre. This is said to be the highest price at which isolated government land has ever been sold in The Dalles land district. Which goes to show that Uncle Sam has some pretty good homestead patches left in this part of the country.—Shaniko Star.

Sanders Logan was in Prineville yesterday.

Fred Wallace was over from Laidlaw the first of the week.

Mrs. Robert Zeverly and family have returned from their outing.

J. B. Elkins left Tuesday for San Francisco to visit his son and daughter.

Judge Ellis was over from Bend the first of the week to attend to county matters.

The Gresham Giants will play ball in Prineville during the October fair. This is a semi-professional team and they are out after the money.

Arthur Jones and Jessie Elliott, both of Crook county, were married by Rev. Jno. M. Huggins at the bride's home in Prineville, Saturday evening, August 6th.

Wm. Boegli of the Cove Orchard brought up a load of apples yesterday. There will be a short crop in everything but apples this year. Mr. Boegli says. "Last year I sold $800 worth of cherries. This year my sales amounted to $40." A big difference.

There will be no preaching service at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. The pastor and his people will worship at the Presbyterian church. In the evening the Methodist pastor will preach his last sermon before going to the annual conference, at a union meeting in his own church.

Mrs. Champ Smith returned the latter part of the week in the McKay mountains. Her son, Raymond, was taken ill and had to be brought to town to receive medical treatment.

Forest fires are things of the past, at least for a time. A fine rain the last of the week across the mountains put an end to the fires there, while those on the east side were controlled and extinguished a week ago.

LOCAL MENTION

He was 13 days out from Nebraska Monday and was taking things leisurely. He had experienced no trouble so far. He had seven days left to complete the journey.

Water Superintendent Geo. T. Cochran of water division No. 2 arrived in Prineville the first of the week to look after water rights on Crooked river. This is Mr. Cochran's first visit to this section and is favorably impressed both with the people and country. He says this section will never come into its own until a couple of large reservoirs are built to bring the thousands of acres now lying idle to a state of high cultivation. This will be done in time, he thinks.

Windom-Arnold Wedding.

On Saturday, Aug. 5th, at the home of Mrs. F. J. Lively, sister of the bride, a beautiful and impressive ceremony was that which united the lives of Harry E. Windom and Miss Helen L. Arnold of Chattanooga, Tenn. The marriage service of the Episcopal church was performed by Bishop Paddock in his usually impressive manner.

The bride looked lovely in a white embroidered lingerie gown and wore a large corsage bouquet of sweet peas and fern.

The only attendants were Miss Lorene Winnek and Misses Helen and Annie Lively, nieces of the bride. She was given away by her sister, Mrs. Lively. The wedding was very quiet owing to the recent bereavement in the bride's family. After the ceremony the happy couple left for their future home near Culver, Ore., where they will be at home to their friends after September 1.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Windom and is well known and popular in this part of the country. The bride, who until a year ago, lived in Chattanooga, Tenn., is the youngest daughter of W. H. Arnold of Chattanooga. She has a wide circle of friends, both in Tennessee, and her adopted home.

The best wishes of all go with Mr. and Mrs. Windom on their journey of life.

Binds More Sheaves with Less Twine

Plymouth Binder Twine is made right. It works smoothly, ties properly, and the last of the ball feeds as freely as the first. No knots or breaks. Fifty per cent stronger than the strain of any machine actually requires.

PLYMOUTH Binder Twine

Is used more than any other twine because it is known to be the best. Made by the oldest cordage establishment in the United States, where quality and honesty are spun into every ball of twine. Farmers who insist on seeing the wheat-sheaf tag on every ball of twine save money and avoid harvest delays.

RUBEROID ROOFING

Original and Standard

Whatever roofing you are using on any building, you are paying the price of Ruberoid. There are 300 imitations of Ruberoid, and all of them cost more in the end than the genuine. These imitations in some cases even have names that sound like Ruberoid. Frequently they are sold as Ruberoid. Before they are laid and exposed to the weather they look like Ruberoid.

Twenty Years of Service

Ruberoid was the first ready roofing and is the only one that has made good. It has made good because it is made of the best wool-felt, impregnated with materials manufactured exclusively by the makers of Ruberoid and which cannot be found in any other roofing.
