Dr. Dunsmore Writes of His Travels

Dr. H. Chas. Dunsmore, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Prineville, but who is now "doing" the Orient, writes a very entertaining letter from Alexandria, Egypt, about his travels. The letter is dated August 6 and reads as follows:

Thinking that a short sketch of my travels might be interesting to some of my friends in Prineville, I will talk to them through the medium of your paper.

Leaving Montreal on SS. Laurentine on June 24, we landed in Liverpool in the afternoon of July 1 and at once took train for London, reaching there about 2 a. m. next day. Our party is composed of eight people, Prof. J. B. Horner of the O. A. C., Corvallis, and two daughters; Rev. J. E. Horn, wife and daughter of Baker; Dr. J. R. N. Bell of Corvallis; and your humble servant.

Nine days were spent in "doing" London, including a day each at Bedford, the scene of the life and labors of John Bunyan, and Stratford-on-Avon, at the home of Shakespeare. The coronation ceremonies being just over, many celebrities were still in the city, a number of whom we saw. I was fortunate to see the king and queen, with prince, and Princess Mary, while driving near Buckingham palace, being within 20 feet of them.

Leaving London July 9, we crossed the channel to Paris, spending only one day there then continuing on south to Marseilles in the south of France. Here we took ship for Alexandria, and were nearly five days sailing up the Mediterranean. We passed close to the island of Stromboli, which is a volcano in continuous activity. Sailing between Italy and Sicily, we had a close view of Messina, not long since overthrown by an earthquake. This pass is noted also in classic lore as being the location of the famous Scylla and Charybdis, close by which we sailed.

Arriving in Alexandria we proceeded at once to Cairo, about 5 hours' ride by fast train to the south and through the famous Nile delta. Spending a week at Cairo, we visited the pyramids, sphinx, the old cities of Memphis and Bakkhara, and the tombs of prophets and kings. From Cairo to Port Said at the mouth of the Suez canal and thence shipped to Jaffa, the Joppa of the Bible. Visited there the home of Simon the Farmer, where Peter had his famous vision, and the tomb of Dorcas. From Jaffa to Jerusalem by train through the Plain of Sharon and the country of the Philistines. Our rooms at Jerusalem at the Olivet House were outside the west wall overlooking the city and the Mount of Olives.

It is impossible within the limits of this letter to tell of the many places of interest visited, the most interesting of course being associated with the life and work of our Saviour. I have stood at the spot of His birth, at the manger at Bethlehem, followed Him to Gethsemane, and prayed at the spot where He sweat great drops of blood; walked to the house of Caiphas and Pilate; followed along the via Dolorosa, where He fainted under His cross, and stood at Calvary, and beside the empty tomb of that first Easter morning, on the exact spot on Mount Olives from whence it is said He ascended on high.

A side trip to the Jordan and Jericho of 35 miles took two days, our party stopping a short time at the Good Samaritan Inn.

Altogether we spent eight days at Jerusalem, the memories and recollections of which become more replete with interest as I dwell upon them. Returning to Jaffa, we again took ship for Port Said in Egypt, and from there a train for this place, where we arrived about 3 p. m. today.

Tomorrow we leave Egypt, taking ship to Pineas in Greece, thence to Athens. From Greece we proceed to Italy, visiting Brindisi, Naples, Rome, Venice, Milan, etc., on to Geneva, then to Paris and back to London again about August 23. I have engaged passage home, London to Montreal, on SS. Sicilian, sailing September 7, and it being a slow boat I am due Montreal about September 21. Before sailing I expect to visit Scotland and Ireland, also run down to Devonshire, the home of my mother's people.

As I expect to spend ten days or two weeks visiting friends in Ontario, I do not hope to reach Oregon until October 10 or 15. Our party all sail for home on different dates, I being the last to leave London. Excepting Rev. Horn and family we have all been well, and no mishaps have occurred. Our trail by water has been unusually smooth excepting the crossing of the English channel.

My kind regards to all my Prineville friends. I hope some time to tell them more minutely of my trip.

H. CHAS. DUNSMORE.

Visit the Bridge.

A party of Prineville men consisting of Champ Smith, Guy Allingham, Will Snoderly, George Atwell and John Wigle made a trip down to Trail Crossing in the latter's car Tuesday afternoon, to view the construction work on the Crooked river bridge of the Oregon Trunk Line. The principal sensation experienced by the spectator watching men at work upon the structure like flies, is one of violent nausea. It is not often any one can look the second time on the bridge and canyon beneath without this sensation. It is all in the day's work with the bridge men, however, some of whom swing hand-over-hand across the canyon on the cable stretched from bank to bank. The height of the bridge is 340 feet, and it looks 3000. No fatalities have occurred so far.
