No More Hangings In State of Oregon

Yesterday afternoon Governor West announced that "there will be no more hangings in this state as long as I am Governor," and he commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of James W. Hassing, who murdered his wife in Portland December 24, 1910.

Hassing was convicted of murder in the first degree for murdering his wife in Portland. In passing on the Hassing case, in the course of his proclamation the Governor says:

"Whereas, it has been shown by numerous presentations from C. Moltke, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of Denmark, and by P. C. Knox, Secretary of State, and otherwise, that the family history of the said Jans M. William Hassing shows that the majority of his immediate ancestors have been afflicted with insanity, thus raising the presumption of recurrent attacks of mental irresponsibility in the case of him, the said Jans M. William Hassing; and

"Whereas, capital punishment is, in my opinion, a relic of the barbarous and mediaeval ages of man and not in consonance or in keeping with the enlightened spirit of the civilization of this, the 20th century, and is not, in my opinion, as great a deterrent of crime as imprisonment for life;

"Now, therefore, I, Oswald West, by virtue of the authority in me vested as Governor of the State of Oregon, do hereby commute the sentence of the said Jans W. William Hassing to that of imprisonment in the Oregon State Penitentiary for the term of his natural life."

In his formal statement today the Governor says: "There will be no hanging in Oregon while I am Governor of the State. The old rule that bloodshed must be expiated by the shedding of blood is, in my opinion, a relic of barbarism and not in consonance or in keeping with the civilization or the spirit of the 20th century. It is an antiquated and an uneconomic reminder from the dark ages.

"I contend that the spirit and the civilization of this age call for the repeal of capital statutes as the punishment for first degree murder. I believe that imprisonment for life should be the penalty paid for shedding human blood.

"I recommended abolition of capital punishment to the last legislature. I will again make the same recommendation in 1913, unless the law has been previously amended at the general election of 1912.

"I will, and advocate the repeal of the capital statute and the limitation of the pardoning power of the Governor in relation to life sentences for first degree murder. I hope to see this reform accomplished before the expiration of my term of office and the present barbaric law wiped from the statute books of this state."—Friday dispatch.
