The Mother Finds Her Boy Alive

Mrs. Fred Kroeger of Goshen, Oregon, mother of Frank Way, who was thought to have been murdered, arrived in Prineville Sunday night to help find her son. She did not know that he had "line" up alive and well until she read it in the Crook County Journal on the train coming up the canyon. She went to Spaniko and tried to hire a team to come in that way but the liverymen refused to make the trip. She was informed she could take the train to Redmond and did so.

The mother has been in great distress of mind. She learned that her son had been murdered but was not furnished any details. She was just convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever at the time but could not endure to remain idle while search was being made. So she braved the danger of a relapse and stated for Prineville. She was so confident her son was dead that she purchased embalming fluids and burial clothes for the dead. She said she wanted to perform the last sad rites herself. The mother was overjoyed to learn that her boy was alive and did not take kindly to the suggestion that she should get a stuffed club and use it on those who told her of the sad news but neglected to tell her that her son was alive and well. Mrs. Kroeger left Monday for the homestead up Crooked river.

Miss Lorene Winnek Stricken Blind

Miss Lorene Winnek was stricken blind while enjoying herself at a social session of the Eastern Star last Thursday evening. She was apparently in the best of health and without warning of any kind lost her eyesight. She, with some others, were playing at the lodge-room door for a few minutes while it was snowing and for the fun of the thing locked some of the young men outside. It was here that she remarked that she couldn't see. Physicians think that the blindness is caused from a blood clot, but further than that the cause of the malady is unknown. All that medical science can do for the afflicted young lady will be done to restore her sight.

Miss Kearney Gives Lecture

On Saturday evening of last week Miss Kearney delivered her great lecture on "Old Days in Dixie Land." As the result of several unavoidable circumstances the crowd was the smallest that has attended any number of the lecture course thus far, but all who were present were delighted with the masterly manner in which she handled her subject. She demonstrated beyond a doubt her right to a prominent position on the American platform. Many of those present considered it the best number of the course. If Miss Kearney ever returns to Prineville she may be sure of a good hearing.

Maggie Glaze Won Piano

We congratulate the young lady on her success. The piano is hers. The final count is:
