

Kill the Fly and Save the Baby

Fly photo copyright by National Geographic society.

Summer complaint, which causes the death of many young children every season, is nearly always the result of germs in food. THESE ARE OFTEN CARRIED TO FOODS BY FLIES. KILL THE FLIES!

SWAT. The Flies' Revenge

Swat! Swat! Swat!
Though the weather be cold or hot,
In the sun or the rain,
You must hit 'em again.
So Swat! Swat! Swat!

A whack for each germ he's got,
Though he's only a fly,
You must help him to die.
So Swat! Swat! Swat!

Swat! Swat! Swat!
Till you've killed the whole bloomin' lot,
Be they house or horse,
They have germs, of course.
So Swat! Swat! Swat!

No matter what else is forgot,
Though the neighbors be hounding
About all the poundin',
You must Swat! Swat! Swat!

Swat! Swat! Swat!
Rejoice at each one that you've got,
For each fly that you kill
Makes some bacillus nil.
So Swat! Swat! Swat!

A Poem With a Moral.

TEN little flies
All in a line—
One got a swat,
Then there were

NINE little flies
Grimly seditate
Licking their chops—
Swat! There were

EIGHT little flies
Raising some more—
Swat! Swat! Swat! Swat!
Then there were

FOUR little flies
Colored green blue—
Swat! (ain't it easy?)
Then there were

TWO little flies
Dodged the civilian—
EARLY NEXT DAY
THERE WERE A MILLION!

Some Fly Don'ts

DON'T allow flies in your house.
DON'T permit them near your food, especially milk.
DON'T buy foodstuff where flies are tolerated.
DON'T have feeding places where flies can load themselves with dejections from typhoid or dysenteric patients.
DON'T allow your fruits and confections to be exposed to the swarms of flies.
DON'T let flies crawl over the baby's mouth and swarm upon the nipple of its nursing bottle.

THE TYPHOID FLY.

Baby bye,
Here's a fly,
Let us swat him, you and I,
While we talk,
See him walk
And for microbes never balk.
Do you think with six such feet
You and I would walk on meat?

Will this fly
Tell me why
He will walk on bread and pie?
Sure he knows
That his toes
Are all covered with typhos.
I should think if I were he
I'd not fall in milk and tea.

Kill him quick
Or he'll make you very sick.
Flies you strictly should avoid
If you would not have typhoid.

Farm and Garden

PLANNING THE FARM HOME.

Worth Any Farmer's While to Pay Close Attention to the Details.

In the introduction of a bulletin recently prepared by A. T. Irwin of the Iowa Agricultural college relating to the adornment of the farm home attention is called to the fact that neat, conveniently arranged buildings and a well kept lawn attractively bordered with trees and shrubs add greatly to the appearance and value of the farm and to the happiness of its occupants.

A well thought out plan is the first requisite to get these results, as in the absence of a definite scheme serious mistakes are likely to be made. This plan should include the location of buildings, drives, walks, trees, shrubbery and every other feature which contributes either to the convenience or ornamentation of the place. The location of the house and farm buildings is the first consideration. Even though it happens that some or all of these are already on the ground a plan for their location is important. New farm homes are erected to supplant old ones, and other new farm structures are added, which make practicable a general consideration of the entire building scheme. Material improvements can often be made in a farmstead by a readjustment as new buildings are put up, though the best results are obtained where things are planned right from the start.

In selecting a site for the house good drainage is the first requisite. A south or east slope is generally to be preferred, while a north slope is undesirable. In its location give the house greatest prominence. The farmstead first of all provides a home, and the residence should stand out as the central and most conspicuous feature of the picture. To place the barn and other buildings in front of the house is to reverse the logical order of things. Locate the house back far enough from the highway to afford privacy and give a good stretch of lawn in front and yet not so far back as to suggest a spirit of exclusion nor with a lawn so large that it cannot be properly cared for.

The general farm buildings should be in the rear of the farmhouse and the stable at least 150 or 200 feet away. Locate them to avoid odors being carried to the house by the summer winds. So far as practicable arrange the farm buildings to serve as a windbreak. Locate the yards on the side farthest from the house, though it is often an advantage to provide a paddock near the highway for the display of the farm herds.

The business side of the farm must not be lost sight of, and special features of the general building equipment may be given prominence, such as the seed house or any other important feature of the place.

The farm is the basis of all industry, but for many years this country has made the mistake of unduly assisting manufactures, commerce and other activities that center in cities at the expense of the farm.—James J. Hill.

Dosing a Sheep.
Sheep medicine needs to be given carefully and should be as small as possible in quantity. Doses are administered by holding the animal between the knees and pouring the fluid into the mouth, observing the same precautions as to coughing as with other animals. The best form of bottle in the absence of the patented article is that in which saucers are sent out. They are strong, have a narrow neck and are generally of about the right capacity—six to eight ounces.—American Cultivator.

Protect Sheep From Dogs.
A Minnesota farmer says that he keeps dogs away from his flock by putting up in his pasture the dummy of a man holding a stick for a gun. This dummy is taken down every morning and put up again in the evening at different places from night to night. He says a sheep killing dog will not go near enough to the dummy to discover that it is a bogus man.

Value of Mulch For Fruit.
With coarse mulch close around fruit plants and a fine earth mulch between the rows large crops may be carried safely through severe droughts. Commence at once and continue until products are mature.—Household Journal.

Dairymen.
Remember this please: The board of Directors of the Terrebonne Co. Operative Creamery Association will appoint every ninety days three members or patrons outside of the directors or officers to witness the testing and weighing of cream and to hear any and all complaints against directors, officers or employees thereby preventing a one, three or five man concern. We have adopted the same slogan that Theodore Roosevelt has adopted for his new political third party. That slogan is, "Thou Shalt Not Steal." 7-25
