

Crushed to Death in the Mountains

A young man by the name of Bussett, a nephew of Dan Bussett of Powell Butte, was crushed to death on the summit of the Cascades yesterday.

Dan Bussett and his two sons, together with his nephew, who but recently came from Oklahoma, planned a huckleberry trip to the Cascades. One of the boys and the nephew undertook to climb a high bluff at the foot of Mt. Jefferson to obtain a better view of the Willamette valley. They climbed up half a mile beyond the snow line and while standing on a ledge viewing the country to the west young Bussett noticed a dangerous crack just back of where they were standing. He did not like the looks of it so got back and sat down on the ground behind it. He had scarcely done so when he noticed his cousin throw up his hands and disappear, together with the ledge upon which he was standing.

The boy returned to camp and notified the father of what had happened. Getting ropes the search for the body commenced. It was found crushed beyond all recognition. It must have fallen 200 feet, Dan Bussett says, to where it lodged. It had to be lowered 200 feet more by ropes before it could be taken to camp.

Jim Toney brought the remains to Redmond where they were buried.

Getting Facts for A State Booklet

Ernest W. Curtis, a special representative of the Oregon Statistical Bureau and Oregon Agricultural College was in Prineville the last of the week. He was gathering information to be issued in booklet form for the purpose of attracting settlers to Oregon. A thorough and accurate compilation is being made of state statistics, so that the most definite information will be available for the intending immigrants. An edition of 200,000 copies of this book will be published for general distribution before the end of the year.

LOCAL MENTION

Mrs. Columbus Johnson, who has been visiting at the home of Otto Gray for a couple of weeks, returned to Prineville the first of the week. She was accompanied by Mrs. Homer Norton of Post, who will spend a few days in town.

J. H. Gray & Son last week delivered at Prineville some young cattle for the Portland market. They got $51 for heifers and $61 for steers. Gilchrist Bros. got $67.50 for older stuff delivered at Prineville. Mr. Gray says a few years ago he could not have sold the same grade of cattle for more than $22.50.

T. F. McCallister, of Crooked River, who was in Sisters Tuesday, has invented a plow that if it proves a success will revolutionize farming as it will plow, harrow and seed at the rate of 126 acres in 24 hours. Mr. McCallister is having the first machine built in St. Louis and hopes to be able to test its merits within a short time.—Sisters Herald.

Fire Destroys Dillon Feed Barn

A fire broke out in the old Dillon Feed Yard barn Tuesday at noon. It started near the south door and in a few minutes the place was a mass of flames. Everything was saved but a $50 set of harness belonging to Adolph Schrickel and five tons of hay belonging to the lessee, Otto Sontag.

How the fire started is not known. Mr. Sontag was at dinner when the fire started and could not say how it originated. The old barn was wrecked. There was no insurance.

Military Air Scout. The Maid of Argos

Far above the ordinary drama is the novel and modern means of warfare employed by the air scout and his flying machine and the aeroplane gun introduced by the enemy to offset his attacks. They bring the "bird-man" down, but he bobs up serenely, defeating the foe and winning his commanding officers daughter. The "Military Air Scout" will make a brilliant flight on the screen of the Lyric theatre Friday and Saturday evening, and everybody will learn what the aeroplane will mean in matters of war.

Another picture, "The Maid of Argos," is taken from Greek mythology, and tells the story of the beautiful maiden, Myrtis, who was to be sacrificed for the sake of the city, but was saved by her lover, Amyntas. This picture is beautifully hand-colored. The "Poor Excuse that Worked," and the "Tramp and the Bear," both comedies, make a complete and interesting program.

Mrs. Glaze and daughter, Miss Maggie, returned last evening. Mrs. Glaze has been to Newport and Miss Glaze to Portland and Seattle.

Prater will give a synopsis of his trip next Sabbath morning at the Presbyterian church. Hear him. He has a fish story to tell and many other things of interest.

Principal Coe is looking for a big increase in the attendance at the Crook County High School this fall. Inquiries are being received from students in all parts of the county regarding work and board. Many pupils worked their way through last year and the high school faculty asks the citizens of Prineville for the same loyal support this year, so that no industrious boy or girl in Crook county who is willing to work need be without a high school education. Notify Mr. Coe of your needs so that he can provide for them later on.

Lightning Strikes Hay Stacker

Lightning struck a stacker belonging to Bruce Gray on Camp creek last week and nearly put it out of commission. The bolt struck the stacker and then the hay stack. Fifteen tons of hay were burned and it was only by heroic work that four other stacks were saved. The hay crew worked all night in their efforts to stay the flames. The stacker was badly damaged.
