The Big Fair Ready To Open Next Week

Only one more week and the greatest fair ever planned in Central Oregon will open its gates to the public. It will be the greatest fair in a great many ways. The exhibits will beat all records, both as to number and quality. This is evident from the reservations made so far. The attendance will beat all records for the reason that no expense has been spared to provide the best grade of attractions to be had on the coast. The best band in Los Angeles will be on hand to furnish music and the most daring aviator in the country will provide thrillers for the multitude every forenoon. A circus will be here that will give good clean performances every evening that will be a delight to young and old.

Lectures on agricultural topics will tell the farmer of the best way to get the most out of the soil.

The attendance from schools all over the county will beat all previous records. The government Indian school from the Warm Springs Indian Agency will be here to attend the county institute and the fair at the same time.

The two new buildings that we announced last week—one for fat cattle and the other for fat sheep and hogs—are about done. They are about the neatest things we have seen in the way of exhibit stables.

The camp ground is neat and clean and there will be lots of wood and water for campers. There will be stables, too, for campers' horses with hay at a nominal price.

The track is in fine condition and will be kept so by "Stub" who is on the water wagon to stay. There will be the longest string of fleet footed races this year ever seen at a Central Oregon fair. The purses hung up have attracted horses from all parts of the state. A professional starter, furnished by the racing association to which this fair board belongs, will have charge of that part of the program.

The railroads are making a special rate of 1-1-3 fare to Redmond for the benefit of those who want to see what this country is doing in agriculture, in dairying, in stock raising and in farming generally. There will never be a better chance.

Railroad Meeting Tonight A Proposition Made for a Road

H. P. Scheel, the railroad promoter from Tenino, Wash., arrived in Prineville yesterday for the purpose of putting a proposition up to the people that will mean rail connection with one or the other or both of the trunk lines entering this country. Mr. Scheel and his associates want a bonus of $75,000, the right-of-way, terminals, etc. There was an informal talk at the Club rooms Wednesday evening, at which Mr. Scheel submitted his terms. Nothing further was done than to assure the gentleman that the matter would be submitted to the people here and at Metolius at once. Tonight it is desired to have a big rally to get an expression of sentiment on the proposition. If you want a road get out and help it along. Mr. Scheel left for his home this morning.

Crook County Teachers' Institute Next Week

The Crook County Teachers' Institute will meet at Prineville next Monday for a session of four days. County Supt. Ford has provided a good program for the occasion and teachers may rely upon getting much help and inspiration from the daily sessions. Noted educators will be here as well as state specialists along certain educational lines.

Besides attending the institute teachers will have an opportunity to visit the fair. They are entitled to complimentary season tickets which the generosity of the fair board has provided for them. The county superintendent expects every teacher in the county to be here. The program is as follows:

Club Building Is Being Overhauled

The Commercial Club building is being thoroughly overhauled and will be opened again the first of next week. All the floors and woodwork have been repainted and varnished, the billiard and pool tables have been re-covered, the bowling alley has been overhauled and the walls have been covered with an excellent display of grains and grasses.

The readingroom has been changed from the front room to the one next to the Annex. An excellent magazine list has been secured and a good supply of reading matter can be found on the tables at all times.

A bowling tournament will be started very soon after the Fair.

Register Now

Register! Do it now! The books close October 19. The county clerk says that all outside registration books in the county must be in his hands by October 19. Therefore if you live in the country you will not have until the 19th to get on the rolls. Don't wait until the last minute.

Wheat Coming to Prineville Market

Lots of grain is finding its way into the Prineville market. The Prineville Flouring Mills take most of it but some is left with our merchants.

Local millers say the wheat is fine, and what is better still, most of it comes from the territory immediately surrounding Prineville. Culver and Powell Butte have furnished some, and it is good grain, too, but the immense area north-west of town furnishes the bulk of the supply.

All varieties of wheat are represented. Fife, Forty-fold, Club, Turkey Red, Golden Chaf, Galgalus, etc. Lots of barley, too, some oats and plenty of rye are noted among the contents of the wagons lined up at the elevator.

The flouring mills can grind 300 bushels a day. The capacity of the elevator is 18,000 bushels. The demand for rye is pretty well supplied right now.

Indian Schools Coming to the Fair

The Warm Springs Indian schools and teachers are coming to Prineville to attend the Crook County Teachers Institute and fair which are to be held next week. The Indians have already secured their camping grounds at the fair and will be on hand Sunday. The Indian agent at Warm Springs will accompany his wards and remain with them during fair week. Inquiries about the institute and fair show a tremendous interest in both all over the county. There will be a big crowd here. You cannot afford to stay away.

Photos of Creelman, Cropsey and Hedges by American Press Association.

News Snapshots Of the Week

Job E. Hedges was nominated for governor by the New York state Republicans in convention at Saratoga. William Marconi, the inventor of wireless telegraphy, was injured in an automobile collision. For a time his sight was despaired of. A son was born to Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt in England. Baron von Bieberstein, Germany's present day diplomatic "iron man," died in Baden. Joseph A. Walker was nominated for governor by the Republicans of Massachusetts. James Creelman, civil service commissioner, and James C. Cropsey, former commissioner of police, were called to testify before the aldernaule investigation into the graft conditions in New York city. They denied that police captains were forced to buy their promotions.
