

WILSON AND MARSHALL HIGHEST OFFICES

CARRY MANY STATES CON-SIDERED DOUBTFUL

New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Maine Go Democratic.

New York—The result of the most hotly contested presidential campaign since the Civil War shows a sweeping victory for the Democratic ticket. The verdict returned by a majority of the 15,000,000 voters of the country means that Woodrow Wilson, Democratic governor of New Jersey, will be the next president of the United States and Thomas R. Marshall, Democratic governor of Indiana, will be the next vice-president.

The three-cornered presidential contest brought to the polls an unprecedented number of voters. Reports from every section of the country shows a nation-wide recording-breaking vote.

The total number of electoral votes is 531, and the returns indicate that Wilson and Marshall have many more than the 266 votes necessary to win. Reports indicate that the electoral vote of the Democratic candidates will pass the 400 mark.

electoral votes for the Democratic presidential candidates in the past six elections, is still solidly Democratic. Wilson and Marshall polling the usual large majorities. Kentucky, Maryland and Missouri, which with few exceptions in the past 25 years have gone Democratic, have given substantial Democratic majorities.

New York state's 45 electoral votes will be cast for Wilson and Marshall. The indications are that Wilson has carried New York state by a plurality of between 100,000 and 150,000. Reports from all parts of the state show the vote was heavy, the efforts of the three gubernatorial candidates to bring out the voters being rewarded with success. Congressman Sulzer, the Democratic candidate for governor was elected by a large plurality.

Wilson Carries Many Doubtful States

Wilson seems to have carried most of the doubtful states. Early returns in addition to giving Wilson and Marshall the "solid South," indicated that the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New York, West Virginia, Indiana and Missouri were Democratic. As returns from the west began to come in Montana, New Mexico, Idaho, Oregon and California lined up in the Democratic column.

Returns from San Francisco and Los Angeles made it probable that California might join the Wilson-Marshall column.

Rhode Island became a doubtful state on the early returns, and, based on the later votes reported, it seemed not wholly improbable that its five electoral votes would go to Wilson. The early returns gave an apparent victory to Taft in New Hampshire, but the Taft plurality dwindled as the returns came in.

The vote in Utah as reflected in the early dispatches gave indications that that state would be carried for Taft. The vote in Pennsylvania was amazingly close, the returns from more than 1000 precincts embracing 185,000 votes giving each of the three leading presidential candidates more than 60,000 votes.

President Taft's lead in Philadelphia districts was offset by the heavy vote polled by Roosevelt and Wilson in other parts of the state.

Many surprises were shown in the returns. The New York state assembly seemed to be overwhelmingly Democratic. In Illinois, indications were that Judge Dunne, the Democratic candidate for governor, had won notwithstanding the heavy Roosevelt victory. Former Speaker Cannon seemed to have been defeated for reelection to congress in Illinois.

In addition to Roosevelt's apparently certain victory in Illinois, the confident claims of the Roosevelt managers that Iowa, Michigan and Kansas would fall into the Roosevelt column seemed verified by the partially complete returns. The returns from California, while meager, indicated a Wilson victory. The uncertainty regarding Vermont was settled by the announcement of the complete vote, which gave Taft a majority of 324 votes.

The Providence, R. I., Journal, conceded that state to Wilson, and with the vote close in New Hampshire, it seemed probable that New England's entire vote, with the exception of Vermont, had gone over to the Democratic column.

Democrats Control House and Senate.

President Wilson will be supported by a congress that will be Democratic in both branches, thus insuring the passage of a revision of the tariff under Democratic auspices without a possibility of the factional opposition which prevailed in the present congress.

The House will be overwhelmingly Democratic. The returns indicate that there will be a Democratic majority of 119 votes. This will insure the election of a speaker, control of committees, and dictation of legislation during the two years beginning March 4.

The Democrats according to the returns will have a majority of at least four in the senate with a prospect of several doubtful seats being filled by Democrats.

T. R. Has Lead in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan.—Returns indicate that the Progressive national ticket and the Republican state ticket had been victorious in Kansas. Progressive leaders claimed the state for Roosevelt by a plurality of from 10,000 to 15,000, but the Democrats maintained that the complete vote would place Wilson in the lead. W. R. Stubbs (Rep.) was leading William H. Thompson (Dem.) in the race for United States senator.

Michigan Conceded to Roosevelt.

Detroit.—Returns from 145 out of 2115 state precincts show Taft 12,347, Roosevelt 20,230, Wilson 16,066.

This does not include the incomplete count in many Detroit precincts. It is conceded that Roosevelt will carry the state.

Roosevelt Second in Maryland.

Baltimore.—Woodrow Wilson carried Maryland by from 20,000 to 25,000 plurality, estimated from figures received. Roosevelt ran second.

LEAD IN NEW YORK 200,000

Wilson Distances Taft and Roosevelt Is Third; Sulzer Is Elected.

New York.—Woodrow Wilson was the choice of the state of New York for president by a plurality estimated at about 200,000, from returns received from nearly every election district in the greater city of New York and from all except 500 of the 3093 districts outside of New York City.

President Taft led Colonel Roosevelt in the same districts by about 35,000 votes.

Representative William Sulzer was elected governor with a plurality estimated at about 175,000 over Job E. Hedges, the Republican nominee, who in turn led Oscar Straus, candidate of the Progressive party.

Taft Loses His Home State.

Cincinnati.—Returns from 100 precincts out of 5211 in Ohio gave Governor Wilson 74,146, Taft 50,575, Roosevelt 24,069, giving Wilson a plurality of 23,571.

Figuring the proportionate gain of Governor Wilson in each 100 precincts tabulated, it was estimated that the Democratic candidate would receive a plurality in the state of from 100,000 to 110,000 votes.

So It Might.

It was a Welsh minister who described the devil to a little congregation in a remote Welsh valley. Said the minister: "The devil is bound round the middle with chains and round the arms with chains and round the legs with chains. But John Jones," pointing to a man in the front row, "he can reach you, and you, David Evans," pointing to one in the middle row, "he can reach you," and pointing to one at the back, "John Williams, he can reach you."

And then a man in the gallery called out, "Why, the dang thing might as well be loose."
