Mr. Martin from Pringle Flat was a Hampton visitor last week.

Wm. Bennett is rejoiced to have with him for a lengthy visit his two daughters, one of whom is accompanied by her husband.

L. C. Peck and family recently moved into their new residence across from the store.

Alvin Hunting is in Bend on a business trip. Most of the settlers are kept busy at present providing wood and water. The hauling is mostly done on sleds.

The trucks and autos from Bend are held up all along the road on account of the snow.

Roberts Items.

James Taylor and wife are quite sick at time of writing.

Ed Gould made a trip to town last week. He is expected home any day now.

G. H. Nye gave a little informal dance at his home Tuesday evening.

Mike Mayfield spent Thursday night and Friday with Ed Parker at his ranch on Big Bear creek. As usual Mike was there with his funny stories.

Deputy Sheriff Kershner is feeding his stock at the home ranch. He says it keeps him pretty busy.

The snowfall still continues. Every night sees a little more added to what we already have. If we cannot have rain to help our crop we can have snow any way.

Everybody still feeding and some bringing in new stock from the range every day. The cattle that have been out during the past month show the bad effects of it very strongly. It is predicted that there will be quite a loss this winter in range cattle.

Columbus Johnson came out to his ranch Saturday for a few days.

There was an entertainment and dance at the Fischer ranch Saturday night. Every one reports having a good time.
