Charley Summers Submarine Man

Charley Summers will be home this month. He is now attached to the submarine division of Uncle Sam's Navy. He is a member of the crew U. S. S. No. 3, stationed at San Diego. He is in the electrical department. While at San Diego Charley visited the home of Richard Graham, an old Crook county family. The old gentleman wanted to send word to his friends here that he had not tasted whisky in 25 years. While here he could not taste anything without it.

Cut Into Honey Thought It was Pitch

Ed Joslin, who works for Mr. Putnam over on the McKay, was sent out the other day to cut juniper. Joslin, who has been in this country about a year, tackled a large juniper and began to saw it down. He was not at work very long before the saw became all "gummed up," as he put it, and went to the house for kerosene to remove the pitch. It didn't help matters very much for the more he sawed the faster the sticky stuff ran out of the tree. Mr. Putnam tasted it and found it to be honey. About fifty pounds were saved.

The market was a little overstocked at the time, but the buyer reports that there is "no good reason why prime cattle, such as come from the Prineville country, should not command steady prices."

Crook County High Defeats The Dalles

The basketball team made a trip to The Dalles last week where they met the fast team of the high school of that place in two games. Our team was composed of new men, with the exception of one player, yet under the efficient coaching of Sam Ellis has developed into a remarkably fast one. They succeeded in winning both games by the following scores 37-29, 22-19. Thus they have maintained the record of the school, since our basketball team has never been defeated. The line up: Vancey, center; Eates, O'Neil, forwards; McCallister, Weigand, guards. They all report a royal good time.
