COLLINS W. ELKINS

Masquerade Party Pleasant Affair

Hearts were trumps at the home of Collins Elkins Friday night at a masquerade party given by Mrs. Elkins. The decorations were of hearts; there were hunts for hearts, the matching of hearts and a hearty good time was enjoyed by all.

The guests were to represent some book or character so they came dressed as fairies, Scotch lassies, Dutch maidens and mother goose characters. Booker T. Washington, Hiawatha and Madam Butterfly were present. Several books were represented, one of the cleverest being Bellamy's "Looking Backward." The modern Chanticleer and his realistic crew caused great fun.

Several lively contests were well planned and successfully carried out, appropriate prizes being awarded. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

The guests were the Misses Barnes, Cassidy, Gitchel, Hubbard, Jane Allen, Evans, Conway, James, Engdahl, Williams, Hermann, Ada Allen and Jacques, Messrs. Brown, Robinson, Peoples, Battles, Dudley, Belknap, Stevenson, Gove, Duffy, Bowman, Clayton and Wirtz.

Going to Have Flour- mill and Creamery

H. H. Davis and wife came down from Paulina Sunday. Mr. Davis says that the Paulina country is going right ahead. A creamery and gristmill will be put in operation this summer which will give an impetus to the development of the country. Hitherto wheat has not been raised on a scale commensurate with the advantages of soil and climate but with a flourmill to consume the grain and a creamery to care for the milk a new era will open up for that section.

Shumias Have Good Program

Mrs. Robert E. Gray entertained the Shumia Literary club at her home Saturday afternoon. The roll call was answered by quotations from Byron or Tennyson. Mrs. Mason Brink read a paper on Augustus St. Gaudens, after which Miss Catherine Conway gave a review with the songs of Tennyson's "Princess." The program was concluded with a paper, "Each Has Done What for Literature?" by Miss Louisa Hermann. Mrs. Ada B. Millican then gave a report of the twelfth meeting of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs.

Getting Ready for Cups and Ribbons

Tillman Reuter was over from Madras Tuesday. He says he is busy preparing to put out more fruit trees on his prize-winning ranch. Seeding and cultivating will occupy his attention a little later in the season. He is getting ready to lift cups and prizes this year again if conditions warrant it. The dry farming congress will be held in Oklahoma this fall. This will give the West a splendid chance to show the Doubting Thomas of the East what we can grow out here.

Getting Bad Ones for the Round-Up

Pendleton Round-up men were in Prineville the last of the week looking for "outlaw bronks" for the big show. The animals were tried-out at the fair grounds and the worst of the bunch were secured for the Round-up this fall.
