

OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Events Occurring Throughout the State During the Past Week.

BIG COOS BAY LAND DEAL

3500 Acres, 1600 City Lots and Franchises Included.

Marshfield.—W. J. Wilsey has purchased the holdings of Major L. D. Kinney in North Bend. The deal involves over $1,000,000, and papers will be exchanged as soon as abstracts are prepared. Mr. Wilsey says he is operating for an English syndicate, and will invest other millions in property on the Pacific coast, this purchase being but a starter.

The transfer includes the franchises of the Belt Line Railway and the Rapid Transit company, 1300 acres of land on the peninsula adjoining Marshfield and North Bend, 1000 acres on the lower bay and over 16,000 lots, bestows railway rights, which consist of city franchises and war department permits, also included with the city limits are additional tracts of 640 acres in one piece and 600 acres in another. All of the land is platted, and some tracts are improved and streets being laid.

Nehalem Valley to Have Railway.

Verona.—Work on the Columbia & Nehalem Valley railroad, to be built by the Kerry Timber company of Portland, will commence at once. The builders expect to have the road in operation within 10 months.

The road will be built from Wood's Landing on the Astoria & Columbia River railroad, then down Fishhawk creek, striking Nehalem river at Fishhawk. From there it will keep up Deep creek for several miles, ending in Clatsop county.

Lumber Camps to be Busy.

Astoria.—Activity in the logging industry promises to be more pronounced in Clatsop county this year than ever before in the history of the county. Several new camps are to be opened and camps established, and it is estimated that within the coming few months not less than $3,000,000 will be expended in betterments, extensions and equipment.

SILETZ HOMESTEADERS WIN

Squatters Finally Beaten in Hearing Before Federal Officials.

Portland.—Final and absolute vindication for the struggling Siletz homesteaders, after 11 to 13 years of strife, hardship and anxiety, has been forwarded to the commissioner of the general land office. This vindication came as a result of a week's testimony in Portland, on charges preferred by Oliver L. Hull, and a number of other squatters.

It is assumed that this is the very last impediment that can be put in the way of the remaining Siletz homesteaders. They had filed their affidavits, complying with the Hawley law, Hull and some of the other squatters who are trying to take the land away from the original entrymen, and get it on their own locations, sent charges to the general land office, accusing the homesteaders with perjury. The homesteaders are vindicated of the perjury charge, and also their good faith in doing their very best to comply with the law is declared.

Relief in Sight for Sheepmen.

Enterprise.—Wallawa county sheepmen are beginning to breathe easy again after coming through one of the most severe winters known in years on the Snake and Innaha rivers. The snow, which fell to unusual depths and remained on the ground several weeks, has melted off the south hillsides, the ground is free of frost and there is an abundance of grazing.

Bend May Develop New Industry.

Bend.—The first pulp ever manufactured from central Oregon timber has reached Bend and the glowing reports of its excellence and the possibilities for manufacturing it opens up are greeted here with enthusiasm.

On January 6 two carloads of "lodge pole" pine, a small black pine that grows upon thousands of acres of land in the upper Deschutes valley, were sent to the pulp mill at Camas, Wash. The sample of pulp is accompanied by a letter which says that the pulp is of a promising quality and that thorough tests will be made immediately in manufacturing it into paper. It is intended to use the first paper made from Deschutes timber in a leaflet that will describe this territory.

Runaway Convict Captured at Gervais.

Salem.—Junior Thompson, one of the two men who sawed their way through the bars on a window at the Insane Asylum, where they were working, was captured at Gervais, by the city marshal, Jack Clark, the other man, is still at large.

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

Starting March 1, the curfew in Junction City will ring at 9 P. M. during the spring and summer.

Plans are being considered by the engineering staff of the O. W. R. & N. for the electrification of the line between Portland and Spokane.

In a communication from the offices of the state superintendent of schools, the information is given that the Portland Union Stockyards will give a Shetland pony to the boy or girl having the best exhibit of poultry or farm animals at the 1913 state fair.

James Huffman, who was working on the A. E. Tully ranch east of Walloa, was gored by a bull and injured so severely that he died. He had tied the animal into a stall. As he turned the bull made a lunge, one horn piercing Huffman's lungs and pinning him to the partition.

Captain Edward Anderson, formerly master of the steamer Sue H. Elmore, who was wanted at Astoria on a charge of forgery, was brought from Seattle by Sheriff Burns. Anderson is accused of forging the name of B. L. Miller, engineer on the steamer Elmore, to the latter's pay check and then getting it cashed.

Seaside has a new two-story building being equipped with up-to-date machinery for making cheese. Experienced workmen will have it in charge and the cheese manufactured here, as well as good milk, will be supplied to summer guests. Milk will be sold in bottles only and handled in the most sanitary way.

Lying half buried in the soft mud in the basin of Young's bay, the body of a logger, thought to be named Stone, a recent arrival from Portland, was found at low tide by Hans Larsen, keeper of the bridge, who waded in the mud up to his hips to the drowned man and secured the body to the bridge by passing a rope under the arms.

Relief for settlers in Wallawa county in the vicinity of Enterprise is promised in an action taken by the general land office, ordering an examination of the townships in that locality with a view to their restoration to entry because of alleged overlapping in survey lands which were withdrawn in 1906, and settlers since have been denied the right to make entry.

At a recent Commercial club meeting at West Stayton it was decided to go in for making that town a loganberry center. The plan is to sell the berries dried, as there is a rapidly growing demand for the same, and the states where this berry can be raised are very limited. With irrigation available in dry seasons the success of the loganberry business is assured.

The chief of engineers at Washington, D. C., has approved the report of Major McIndoe to the effect that the revention on the Willamette river near Independence has more than fulfilled expectations, but he holds that damage to the river banks farther down, where the river has cut into valuable hop lands, should be repaired by local interests and not by the government.
