Mothers' Meeting Pronounced Success

The mothers of the third grade pupils of the public school met Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the school and held a very successful Mothers' Meeting.

"Co-operation of Home and School" was the first question taken up. Mrs. R. E. Gray led the discussion with an excellent talk. Among other things she urged the parents to keep in touch with the teacher and to try to work with the instructor for the good of the child, always seeking for a clear understanding of conditions when any doubt or perplexity arises in the relations of home and school.

Mesdames Cooper, Shattuck and Calbreath followed in turn and showed considerable enthusiasm and much interest in the subject.

The next topic taken up was "Sex Hygiene," the discussion being led by Mrs. Belknap in a very able manner. The vital importance of this subject was shown and the mothers were urged to give their children early and carefully graded training in the hygiene of sex. A general discussion followed.

So well pleased were all with the success of the meeting that before adjournment steps were taken to effect a permanent organization of the parents and teachers of the entire school.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Belknap; vice-president, Mrs. Cooper; secretary, Mrs. Shattuck; treasurer, Mrs. Calbreath. A committee on By-Laws was appointed and instructed to report at the next meeting, which, it was agreed, would be held next September, the exact date to be announced by the president.

The Revival Meetings

Large audiences still continue to pack the Christian church and the interest is increasing. The song services, conducted by Miss Flook, are of a high order, and her solos still continue to please the large audiences. Don't fail to hear her sing. Evangelist Adams condemns sin in no uncertain terms whether in the church or out of the church. He speaks in such plain terms there is no doubt in the minds of his hearers as to his meaning. The meetings will continue every night this week and over Sunday until further notice. Everybody is cordially invited. You can't afford to miss them.

The "Story of the Cadillac," is one of that mechanical and commercial advancement which makes for permanency. The Cadillac Company has never yielded to clamor by producing that which catered merely to fancy, nor that which took advantage of the uninformed. On the contrary it has produced only that which it knew would give to the purchaser "value received" in abundant measure. The Cadillac Company has never been obliged to resort to exaggeration and over-drawn claims to dispose of all the cars that it could make—and more. Its policy has ever been to under-claim rather than over-claim. It is gratified that the public accepts its representations at their full worth; because the public has never been misled and because the public could always expect and has always received more than was offered.
